Latest Coolidge News.
Goodby to Tom Taggart.
Kindly Illusions.
Drugs and Leprosy.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LATEST information about Calvin Coolidge, now living in his half of a little two-family house in Northampton, Mass. He will NOT practice law. That's because he would not want to capitalize his influence before a jury or a Supreme Court judge. He does not say so, but everyone knows it.

That decision will cost Mr. Coolidge at least $250,000 a year.

MR. COOLIDGE has contracted to write a number of magazine articles for Cosmopolitan Magazine, but does not intend to become a regular magazine writer.

He thinks his talent lies in another direction.

He might interest fathers and mothers, and their wiser sons and daughters, by a series of magazine articles on the importance of thrift.

He could interest the whole country with articles on "how to run for office 19 or 20 times and be elected every time."

MR. COOLIDGE, who has never been to Europe, says there are many things in the United States that he must see, and Europe can wait.

This will strike Europe as very "provincial." It will strike the United States as common sense.

TOM TAGGART, of Indiana, is dead. He had an interesting life while it lasted, and it lasted 72 years. He was a political boss for a generation, controlling his state. He defeated Champ Clark and nominated Woodrow Wilson for the presidency.

NOW that he is in heaven, and presumably knows everything, Mr. Taggart knows just how useful he was when his influence gave Woodrow Wilson the presidency.

SIR OLIVER LODGE, an old man, heart-broken by the death of his wife, reports that she has sent messages since her death. "She met and was welcomed by her beloved son and daughter and was allowed to send us a characteristic and evidential message before being taken by them to rest and recuperation."

ANYTHING that comforts sorrow is welcome and good, the belief that friends can talk to us from the other side of the grave, the more widespread belief that all of the dead, except the bad, are waiting with wings, harps and happy songs to welcome us when we arrive.

THE one to be pitied is he who, like Herbert Spencer, is forced to say, "My intelligence forbids me to hope for anything but annihilation after this life."

Fortunately, HOPE itself is evidence of something better than annihilation. Why should useless cruelty condemn the human race to hope for that which cannot be?

HOLLYWOOD is horrified by revelations concerning drug addicts, and determined, as it should be, to wipe out the drug trade and punish doctors that prescribe drugs, with safety for themselves and destruction for their patients.

THE great danger in drug addiction is not the suffering of victims, but the fact that drug addicts often seek to inflict the drug curse on those free of the evil.

For that reason drug victims may properly be classed, for the general protection, with lepers, and confined on an island or in some other isolated place until thoroughly cured.

AS TO the dope peddlers and dope doctors, their crime is worse than murder, and their punishment should be imprisonment for life without hope of pardon.

THE pioneer's path is rough, on the frontier or in the field of new ideas.

David G. Buick died yesterday of cancer, 74 years old, A POOR MAN. HE was rich once. Twenty-eight years ago, convinced that the "horseless carriage" could be made a success, he sold his plumbing plant for $100,000. He put all of that money into a car, now one of the best and most popular in the world, and certain to perpetuate his name. But he was ruined.

W. C. DURANT bought the car from him and formed General Motors. He, in turn, lost his General Motors Company to the du Ponts and others. That company since then has made millionaires inside and outside the company by dozens. Such is the fate of the pioneer in ideas.

However, the world gets the benefit of their work, and whether they die rich or poor doesn't matter much, once they are dead.

NOT a happy day in Wall Street yesterday. Call money went to 12 per cent, the "big fellows" were afraid the Federal Reserve might apply more severe pressure and prices suffered.

ALL up and down the price list the minus signs were thickly scattered. The wise investor has nothing to fear.

MEXICO seems to be developing a real war. Revolutionists took Monterey, capital of Nuevo Leon, but government troops have retaken it, according to official messages.

THERE is sometimes good in things evil. Col. Lindbergh, in Mexico City, is having the first rest from reporters that he has had in many a day. Newspapermen have changed from Lindbergh to the new war.

Holds Job

MABEL WILLEBRANDT

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general of the United States in charge of prohibition affairs, will be continued in her position, it was announced today. Extension of her duties is foreseen out of anticipation of the transfer of the prohibition bureau from the Treasury to the Department of Justice.

BATTLES WAGED NEAR BORDER IN MEXICO

International News Service.

Several battles are reported in progress between Mexican federals and rebel troops. In the fighting so far government troops have been victors.

In a night attack federal troops captured Jalapa, capital of the state of Vera Cruz, from the rebels early today. Government troops now are in full control of the state of Vera Cruz.

Gen. Jesus Palomera Lopez, one of the greatest "killers" of all time, who was captured by federal troops in the state of Michiacan, will face a firing squad at sunset.

Gen. Lopez was accused of inciting rebellion. He is said to have killed more than 500 persons with his own hand.

RECRUITING IN U. S.

United States officials found a recruiting post at Ysleta, on United States soil, an El Paso dispatch said, where men were being enlisted by the revolutionary army. A number of arrests were made.

Two war planes from San Antonio arrived at Fort Bliss today. They were requested by Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, commandant. They will be used for observation purposes, it was stated. Gen. Mosely ordered two armored railway cars to be sent from El Paso to Fort Bliss, but denied that the Seventh Cavalry, stationed

Hoover May Honor Texas Democrat

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS.)—A report was current in congressional circles today that President Hoover will name Oscar Colquitt, a former governor of Texas, to the vacancy on the United States Board of Mediation. The appointment of Colquitt, it was said, would be a recognition of the Hoover Democrats who helped swing Texas into the Republican column last November for the first time in its history.

ORIE SENTENCED TO JAIL, GETS STAY BY APPEAL

MINISTER'S OUSTING FOUGHT

Dissension in the Bellevue Presbyterian Church over the proposed removal of the Rev. Dr. Isaac D. Boyce, venerable associate pastor, flared today when a circular letter was received by members asking them to protest the move attributed to the board of trustees.

Action of the trustees is termed "summary" and without just cause by the "Church Welfare Committee," over which signature the letter was sent. The identity of the committee is not disclosed.

TRUSTEES CRITICIZED

The text of the letter follows:

"The trustees of our church are contemplating the summary removal of Dr. Boyce, Friday, March 8, 1929. From the meager information available it is apparent that no just cause for this decision has been advanced.

"Dr. Boyce has been an earnest Christian worker throughout his long life and has spent several years of loyal and fruitful service in our church. We believe this action by the board is a matter of serious moment to the welfare of our congregation at large and should be given careful consideration by each member of the church if dissension is to be eliminated.

ACTION TOMORROW

"If you wish to protest the removal of Dr. Boyce and have a voice in the increase in congregational expenses due to the installation of a paid religious system in the Sabbath school, kindly sign your name to this letter and forward it to the board of trustees of the Bellevue Presbyterian Church on or before Friday, March

Vestris' Sister Ship Aground Off N. Y.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—The Lamport and Holt liner, Van Dyck, sister ship of the Vestris, went aground off Governors Island, in the upper bay, this morning as she battled a whole gale on her way to her pier from Buenos Aires. Wrecking tugs went immediately to the assistance of the 13,000-ton liner. She was in no danger as she stuck fast in the mud off the easterly side of the island. She had 275 passengers.

Slight Improvement Continued by Foch

PARIS, March 7.—(AP.)—The condition of Marshal Foch this morning showed slight but steady improvement. His temperature was 98.7 and his pulse 86. His appetite continued good.

HIGH GALE BATTERS CITY

Pittsburgh's share of the general weather disturbances today was a roaring, raging 52-mile gale that shattered more than a score of plate glass windows, tore down signs, telephone and light wires, blew over several lampposts, ripped trap doors and sections of roofs from buildings and left the streets cluttered with debris.

Slight damage was reported in the county districts.

KILLED BY TRAIN

One death was attributed to the blinding storm.

An unidentified man was struck and killed by a Baltimore and Ohio freight train near Allison Park. In his clothes was found a slip of paper bearing the name Sam Gvorpljar, of Emlenton, Pa. The man was about 50.

Police had no way of estimating the damage, since only a minor part of it was reported to them, but they were certain it would run well into the thousands.

RIVERS UP TWO FEET

The rivers rose two feet to 21.2 feet during the last 24 hours, but there was little, if any, danger of a flood stage, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman told hundreds of anxious inquirers today.

Brotzman expected the streams to reach 22 feet before nightfall, but he predicted an early recession.

Lita's Engagement To D'Arcy All Off

But today when the former Mrs Chaplin returned after illness forced her to abandon her tour at Dayton, O., it was all "off."

"It was and now it isn't—just like a lot of other Hollywood romances," she told interviewers. "I never had any intention of marrying Mr. D'Arcy."

GREENE SHERIFF SURRENDERS

Sheriff Arno S. McClellan, of Greene County, surrendered to prohibition agents in the office of the United States Commissioner today and posted $2,000 bail for his appearance on charges of conspiracy to violate the liquor laws.

Previously Edward Graves, alias Edward Gibson, one of the other 15 defendants in the alleged conspiracy which, according to Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington, was spread over several Western Pennsylvania counties, was released in bail of the same amount. Fourteen of the 16 named in the complaint are still at liberty.

McClellan, one time personal orderly to the late Woodrow Wilson on the presidential yacht Mayflower, charged that the conspiracy is a "frame-up" against him by those "whom he has prosecuted for violation of the prohibition laws."

One of the other defendants named in the complaint is Albert H. Scales, suspended prohibition agent.

Davison Retains War Department Airports

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP.)—The continuance of F. Trubee Davison, of New York, as assistant secretary of war in charge of aviation, a position which he has held since the creation of that office in 1926, was made known today by Secretary Good in his first announcement since becoming secretary of war.

Assistant Secretary Charles B. Robbins, in charge of industrial mobilization plans, has been asked by Mr. Good to remain in that position until he can determine with the President upon a successor.

RELEASED ON $5,000 BOND

John W. Orie, "Strip" politician and suspended police magistrate, convicted of failing to make income tax returns, was sentenced to serve six months in jail by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in Federal Court today.

With permission of the court, Orie was released in $5,000 bail pending filing of an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals on a writ of error.

In the assignment of errors it is averred the court erred in not directing a verdict of acquittal in Orie's behalf. Eight other reasons for an appeal are set forth.

JUDGE CRITICAL

A public official should be more careful of his obligations than the ordinary individual, said Judge Schoonmaker in imposing sentence.

Here we have a public official who knew he was being investigated as early as last September, but who made no attempt to meet his civil obligations.

"NOT BRIGHT"

Attorney A. M. Oliver, counsel for Orie, in pleading for leniency, described Orie as an "uneducated and not a smart or bright man" and called attention to the good reputation given him by character witnesses at his trial.

Assistant United States Attorney Joseph A. Richardson, who prosecuted the case, called attention of the court to evidence showing that Orie's income was derived largely from gambling.

EX-ROTHSTEIN GUARD SLAIN IN FLORIDA

CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 7.—(INS.)—Police this afternoon began investigating a theory that Tom Walsh, former associate of Arnold Rothstein, was killed by the slayer of the late New York gambler.

This lane of inquiry was started when Arthur L. Clark, wounded in the Walsh affray on the fourteenth floor of the Miami-Biltmore Hotel, identified Walsh as a Rothstein aide.

SPLIT WITH DIAMOND

Walsh at one time was the trusted lieutenant of "Big Jack" Diamond, but they split up over the division of their gambling spoils.

Diamond and some members of his "mob" are said to be in Miami now.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(INS.)—The "man who knew too much" about the Arnold Rothstein murder was silenced forever today.

Thomas (Fatty) Walsh boasted that he once was bodyguard for the gambling czar and now he's dead.

TALKED TOO MUCH

A bullet got him, just as it got Rothstein, during an argument over a gambling table in the fashionable Miami-Biltmore Hotel, at Coral Gables, Fla.

It was in New York where the probable motive for the slaying was revealed. The theory at police headquarters was that Walsh, never a subtle man, had "spilled the beans" about the Rothstein case.

Another sensational angle entered the case when it was learned here that Walsh was in Chicago at the time of the recent machine-gun massacre and that shortly after he hurried to Miami, there to meet "Scarface Al" Capone, Chicago gang leader.

STEWART'S REMOVAL BELIEVED CERTAIN

BULLETIN.

WHITING, Ind., March 7.—(INS.)—Col. Robert W. Stewart at the stockholders' meeting here this afternoon admitted that the "Rockefeller faction has more votes than we have," in a discussion of the vote before the balloting.

WHITING, Ind., March 7.—(AP.)—With all the solemnity of a church gathering, the annual meeting of stockholders of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was held in the community house here today in a session which was regarded as certain to result in the defeat of Col. Robert W. Stewart for re-election as chairman of the board of directors.

The board of election reported that a total of 8,446,120 votes had been cast, 817,410 being represented in person and 7,628,710 being proxies.

BUSINESS REPORT READ

After the report of the board had been approved, the minutes of the meeting were read by Felix T. Graham, secretary.

The election of the directors was deferred until after Mr. Stewart had read his annual business report.

Col. Stewart, beginning the last round of his fight to retain the chairmanship of the company, opened the meeting promptly at noon in the company's offices here and adjourned it two minutes later, to convene at the Community House within an hour.

STEWART GREETS FOES

According to law the meeting had to be called to order on the company's property.

Barely a dozen men followed the 6-foot, broad-shouldered Col. Stew-

Curtis Will Seek Rest Near Capital

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP.)—Vice President Curtis intends to seek a few days relaxation next week at an unannounced resting place. It will be the first time since the strenuous national campaign and the subsequent session of Congress that Mr. Curtis has left his duties. It is believed the vice president will remain near Washington in order to attend the cabinet meetings in which President Hoover has invited his participation.

CITIZENS MOURN AS TOWN TOPER, JAIL HABITUE, DIES

NEW CITY, N. Y., March 7.—(AP.)—Flags on public buildings here were at half staff today as residents mourned the passing of Michael Whalen, the town toper, who spent 27 of his 54 years in jail.

Whalen, at one time a prosperous contractor, was regarded with affection by the community despite a weakness for liquor which once a year, for 27 consecutive years, brought him a year jail sentence.

Taken ill several days ago while on a brief spell of freedom, he was sent to Good Samaritan Hospital. His only request was that he be allowed to die in the jail which he called "home." But in this he was disappointed, as he died yesterday at the hospital.

County officials immediately raised among themselves $1,000 for his funeral, and ordered that the courthouse be closed today while he is buried.

Each Christmas, for many years, Whalen was given a special Christmas party by the Rockland County officials, who regarded him as somewhat of a hero, since some years ago he saved the jail from destruction by discovering a fire in the building and arousing the keeper.

CLASS DOES CHARLESTON; TEACHER'S OUSTING ASKED

BELLAIRE, O., March 7.—Accused of teaching her pupils to dance the Charleston, and with "inefficiency and neglect of duty," Ruth Timmons, 19, teacher at the White Oak schoolhouse, near Lamira, was to face the Richland Township School Board late today.

Six residents, whose children attend the school, petitioned the school board to oust Miss Timmons. The board set today for the hearing.

Parents signing the petition set forth that, in their opinion, Miss Timmons has shown evidence of a lack of proper scholarship; that she has failed repeatedly to come to school on time; that she has neglected to keep proper oversight of pupils outside the schoolroom; that she has failed to carry out the work as outlined by the Belmont County school authorities and that she has taught the children to "do the Charleston."

Action of parents is being taken under Section 7701, general code of Ohio, which provides for expulsion of teachers on grounds of "inefficiency, neglect of duty and improper conduct."

PRINTERS JOIN FIGHT TO CUT TAX ON EARNED INCOMES

ROSENWALD ON DRY FACT BOARD

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS.)—President Hoover has about completed selection of the commission which he will appoint to investigate the law enforcement evils grown up in the prohibition situation, it was learned today.

Julius Rosenwald, millionaire mail order magnate and philanthropist, of Chicago, is to be a member of the commission, according to authoritative reports.

WILBUR CONSIDERED

Others said to be under consideration are Curtis D. Wilbur, secretary of the navy under Coolidge, and James R. Garfield, of Cleveland.

Originally it was intended that there would be a commission of nine, but difficulty in obtaining the right personnel may make it a commission of five.

By KENNETH CLARK.

(Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service.)

WASHINGTON, March 7.—An exhaustive survey of the narcotic menace in the United States will be conducted by President Hoover's National Commission on Law Enforcement, it has just been learned.

It is the purpose of the investigation to evolve recommendations to be submitted to Congress for remedial legislation to combat the unscrupulous illicit traffickers in liquor and drugs.

Fully cognizant of the perils of drug addiction and its consequent demoralizing and degrading influences, President Hoover, it was said, believes that no more valuable service can be performed for the nation than to smash the gigantic rings engaged in ruthless, unconscionable traffic in defiance of established law and order. He sees in this illicit trade an insidious influence which tends to undermine the economic and social fabric of America.

In his inaugural address, Mr. Hoover made it quite plain that the investigation would not be limited solely to prohibition, that he had in mind the drug peril and other evils. He said:

"I propose to appoint a national commission for a searching investigation of the whole structure of our federal system of jurisprudence, to include the method of enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the causes of abuse under it. Its purposes will be to make such recommendations for reorganization of the administration of Federal laws and court procedure as may be found desirable."

not enter into this case," replied Judge Schoonmaker.

NO ADJUSTMENT

The court inquired whether any adjustment had been made as to taxes which the government alleged Orie owed. Attorney Oliver said that nothing had been done.

Orie was found guilty by a jury in Federal Court February 25 of failing to fire returns in 1924 and 1925 to show income, the government contended, of aproximately $117,000, and of failing to pay $15,000 tax.

Orie was suspended by Mayor Charles H. Kline last Saturday after the Allegheny County Bar Association protested his retention on the police court bench. He had been permitted to serve following his conviction, until Saturday.

Mayor Charles H. Kline stated that Orie's status remains the same as it has for the last several days.

"He will not sit as a magistrate," the Mayor stated.

This decision was reached, he said, when Orie's attorney told the Mayor that he would ask for a stay of sentence.

P. R. R. Fireman Dies In Freight Wreck

Carrie Chapman Catt Ill From Inaugural

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 7.—(INS.)—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, noted suffragist, was confined to her home here today by illness resulting from the exertion of her trip to Washington for the inauguration of President Hoover.

CHILDS BATTLES TO HOLD CONTROL OF RESTAURANTS

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—In a building on Madison square, which until recent years rang with the cheers of fight fans in the old Garden, two white-haired gladiators in the realm of high finance clash today in a battle for control of the Childs restaurants.

One of the principals in the contest is William Childs, fighting to retain active management of the company he founded with his brother 40 years ago. The other is William A. Barber, former attorney general of South Carolina and a figure long high in the councils of the restaurant company, who wants to oust Childs and all his family from the business bearing their name.

Barber, or more technically the group of large stockholders he heads, charges Childs with wasteful management and with a vegetarian obsession which he blames for the company's earnings falling off in 1928 from more than $2,000,000 to less than $1,000,000.

Childs denies he completely removed meat and water from the menus, but acknowledges that he took every means to "educate" his patrons to the health values of fresh vegetables and a balanced ration. He attributes declining profits to "natural causes."

Childs professes optimism about the outcome, but he will have against him a stock pool syndicate to which he sold his holdings only last November.

TROUBLE IN JUAREZ

Gen. Matias Ramos, former assistant secretary of war in President Portes Gil's cabinet at Mexico City, arrived at El Paso by airplane today.

After conferring with Mexican Consul General Enrique Liekens, he crossed to Juarez. Martial law was declared in Juarez.

Mayor Augustin Gallo, Tax Collector Jorge Cardenas, Chief of Police Edmundo Herrera and other officials in Juarez, suspected of sympathy for the rebels, were jailed.

The battle for the possession of Cuidad Juarez, most important city on Culdad, Juarez, most important city on the Mexican-American border, was reported under way today 25 miles south of the border.

The fighting is reported to have broken out between the small Juarez federal garrison, commanded by Gen. Manuel Limon, and the rebels, commanded by Gen. Caraveo, near the town of Samalayuca. Limon commanded a force estimated not to exceed 600 men, while the strength of the insurgents was unknown, but was variously estimated at 2,000 to 3,000.

American cavalry and artillery units at Fort Bliss were known to be under orders for immediate movement if necessary to the Rio Grande, should fighting occur in Cuidad Juarez.

Associated Press.

AGUIRRE FLEES

Gen. Jesus Aguirre, commander of the rebel forces in Vera Cruz, was believed to have taken flight by sea after severe fighting yesterday, which ended when the consular corps secured an armistice to avoid further bloodshed.

The important strategic railway center of Monterey also was lost to the rebels, Gen. Escobar evacuating the city after a severe defeat by 10,000 federal troops.

Escobar later was driven out of Saltillo and was retreating to Torreon along the western border of Coahuila.

Measures to confiscate the property of five of the leading revolutionaries were taken by the government, these including Generals Aguirre, Manzo, Topete, Escobar and Cruz.

The first train north out of Mexico City since the outbreak of the revolution left for Laredo last night.

Communication between Mexico City and the outside world was hampered by the cutting of the Western Union land wires between Mexico City and Vera Cruz.

FEDERALS GAINING

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS.)—Official dispatches reaching here from several cities in Mexico today confirmed Washington's belief that the Mexican government is steadily regaining control of the revolutionary situation.

The first direct dispatch from Monterey was received this morning. It said that Gen. Escobar, the rebel commander who captured the city, seized all the available funds at the Bank of Mexico and abandoned Monterey on the evening of March 5, taking his troops to Saltillo and burning bridges behind him.

STEWART FATE RESTS ON PROXY BATTLE

art into a small room to open the annual session. He greeted Winthrop W. Aldrich, brother-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who has led the fight to oust him, and also shook hands with others of the Rockefeller group.

Stepping to the head of a long golden oak table, the chairman of the board of directors said:

"It is my understanding that we will move from these quarters to the Community House for the remainder of this meeting.

"If there are no objections I will therefore adjourn. Is that satisfactory, Mr. Aldrich?"

STATEMENTS TO COME

It was announced that after the directors' meeting, two statements would be issued, one containing the names of the new directors and the other a statement by the chief executive. A statement also is to be issued by Col. Stewart as soon as the balloting on him is completed.

As the meeting came to order in the Community House, the audience began cheering and wistling, Col. Stewart's appearance on the stage being the signal for the demonstration.

The auditorium was filled as the colonel and members of the board of directors filed onto the stage.

In a few minutes Secretary Graham appeared and read the call for the meeting.

DIRECTORS INTRODUCED

Routine motions were quickly dispensed with and Colonel Stewart told the meeting to rest at ease until the inspectors of election were prepared to make their report on the balloting for directors.

To fill the intervening time, Colonel Stewart introduced the directors sitting beside him at the long table. They rose and bowed as he named them: R. H. McElroy, vice president and traffic manager; E. J. Bullock, vice president and director of purchases; Amos Ball, general manager in charge of sales; Dr. R. E. Humphreys, assistant general manager in charge of manufacturing; C. J. Bardull, treasurer; Allan Jackson, vice president; L. C. Stephens, general counsel, and E. G. Seubert, president.

GLOWING REPORT HEARD

Col. Stewart's business report followed the reading of the minutes and was a glowing account of the company's activities in 1928. Col. Stewart reported net earnings for 1928, before taxes, of $83,437,166, as compared with $33,197,456 in 1927, an increase of $50,239,710.

He proceeded with a long list of figures with no show of exultation.

The chairman, who in a few minutes was expected to receive the bad news that his services no longer were wanted by holders of the majority of stock, said that after reserve of $6,100,000 for taxes, the net earnings for 1928 were $77,337,166, as compared with $30,132,456 in 1927, an increase of $47,204,710.

Net earnings of the company for 1928 included an extra cash dividend from the Midwest Refining Company f $21,821,870.

STORM OF APPLAUSE

When Col. Stewart finished reading his report, the entire audience rose with a storm of applause.

There were shouts of "Hail, hail!" The colonel flushed and smiled.

He waited for the demonstration to subside and then took up the matter of the third stock purchasing plan for employes. Allan Jackson, vice president, made a motion that the plan be adopted by acclamation effective April 1, 1929.

Winthrop Aldrich seconded the motion. The vote was unanimous.

ROCKEFELLER CANDIDATES

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, William A. Burton, former president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and Gentry Cash, manager of the Whiting Refinery, were placed in nomination to fill the vacancies on the board of directors. The selections were read from the floor by Mr. Aldrich.

Mr. Burton was named to succeed Colonel Stewart as chairman and Mr. Traylor to succeed L. L. Stephens, general counsel. Mr. Cash was named to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Beaumont Parks, vice president.

STEWART NOMINEES

The slate of officers for the Stewart group was placed in nomination by A. S. Hopkins, of Chicago, and in addition to the renomination of all present directors, asked for the nomination of Dr. Gentry Cash, superintendent of Whiting Refinery, and Thomas F. Cook. At this point, J. P. Hays, a stockholder from Chicago, moved to name two shareholders at large be nominated as directors, one to represent shareholders with more than 500 shares, and the other shareholders with less than 500 shares.

Mr. Aldrich protested the motion of Mr. Hays on the grounds that it was out of order. Mr. Stewart said that in his opinion the motion was in order. Mr. Aldrich requested the motion be stated again. Mr. Hays restated his motion, whereupon a woman, who gave her name as Mrs. Price, of Chicago, asked for the floor and said she also thought the motion was out of order.

"I am a church worker," Mrs. Price said, "and president of a missionary society and I want justice to prevail here. I don't think this small body of stockholders should speak for the entire group. Mr. Hays, in making his motion, said he raised the question on a moral issue."

Mr. Aldrich argued the by-laws does not provide for such a procedure and said the certificate of incorporation also failed to make provision for such action.

"With no desire to appear dicatorial," Colonel Stewart said, "I am unable to see that the motion is out of order. The mere fact that the by-laws do not provide for a motion is no reason why the motion cannot be made."

COLONEL WOOD DENIES SALUS' ACCUSATIONS

Col. Eric Fisher Wood, architect and politician, denied today that he used the chairmanship of the Republican state executive committee to add to personal fortunes.

To Senator Samuel W. Salus, of Philadelphia, who before the Senate yesterday bitterly questioned Col. Wood's connections with the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company at a $10,000 yearly salary, Col. Wood replied:

"As an architect I performed professional services of importance for the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company. These services had no relation to my position with the Republican state commitee. Politics was never discussed."

"CONTRACT ENDED"—WOOD

Salus charged that Wood was dropped from the transit company's payroll as soon as he resigned the chairmanship.

Wood answered that his one-year contract had expired.

SALUS SHOWS LETTERS

Salus produced what he said were copies of letters that passed between Wood and the company. One reminded Wood the bill he had submitted for services in June, 1928, must have been an error, as his contract expired in May.

Another, represented as being from Wood to Greenfield, said this:

In accordance with your suggestion I billed the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company. I am forwarding herewith their answer for your information.

Salus' attack was made during debate on the Woodward bill, which would permit the city of Philadelphia to buy "piecemeal" the underlying companies of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit. The bill passed the Senate, 37 to 1.

VALLEYS HARD HIT BY GALE

CHARLEROI, Pa., March 7.—Whipped by a 60-mile gale, a blinding snowstorm swept the upper Monongahela Valley district today, leaving some towns without communication, ripping down barns in the open country and entangling traffic. Two barns were blown down in Fallowfield Township, and a home unroofed. California, Fayette City and Vellevernon reported telephone and power lines down.

Peter Page and his family, of Fallowfield Township, were forced to leave their home in night clothing when the wind tore off the roof and lathing.

WAREHOUSE WRECKED

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., March 7.—Sweeping out of the west with a 52-mile an hour velocity, a violent gale whipped the Allegheny and Kiski valleys early today, shattered windows, crumbled a warehouse and left in its wake more than $2,500 damage.

High wind ripped the roof and east side of the W. J. Donoughe Lumber Company warehouse, situated between Allegheny River and Front street, carrying it 150 feet over flat cars on 10 tracks of railroad siding. It crashed into and demolished a loaded box car and damaged the freight station.

CRANE FALLS, ONE KILLED

COATESVILLE, Pa., March 7.—(AP.)—One man was killed and another was injured seriously here this morning when a high velocity wind caused a traveling crane to break loose on the ore bridge at the blast furnace of the Bethlehem Steel Company plant.

John E. Hammond, 34, Negro, of Stottsville, was instantly killed, being caught in the wreckage of the crane, which fell 75 feet. Robert Ringling, 45, of Westwood, operator of the crane, was in the cabin at the time of the crash and was badly injured.

FIGHT OUSTING OF MINISTER

8, 1929, and arrange to be present at the congregational meeting, April 3, 1929, to present your views."

Dr. Boyce, who is associate to the Rev. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, has informed friends, they say, that he had received notice that his services would no longer be required after an early date.

SALARY TO BE DROPPED

Indication that the board of trustees intended dropping Dr. Boyce, it is said, was contained in the budget estimates for the year, which made no provision for the salary of an assistant pastor. Instead, the salary of $2,500 was set up for a director of religious education.

The trouble, according to some of the members, grew out out of the recent resignation of Mrs. A. L. Chubb as director of religious education.

It is said to be the intention of the trustees to combine the duties of assistant pastor with those of religious education director.

CLERIC EX-MISSIONARY

Dr. Boyce was formerly a missionary in Mexico in the interests of the Presbyterian church.

Under Presbyterian church rules it is customary for the board of trustees to administer the secular affairs of the congregation, while the session, composed of the pastor and elders, deals with spiritual matters. Ordinarily, Presbyterians say, the congregation would have a voice in the question of whether an assistant pastor were to be engaged, retained or dismissed.

RAIDED 'LAWYER' FORFEITS BOND

H. J. Blick, who described himself as an attorney, failed to appear in Morals Court today to answer a disorderly conduct charge after he and a woman whom he was alleged to be representing in a divorce suit were arrested last night in a North Side hotel.

The woman, Mrs. Louise Snyder, of Ellzey street, mother of two children, had been held in $500 bail.

Blick had been released on $30 bond. His absence cost him the $30.

The pair were arrested on complaint of the husband, Harry Snyder, of 236 Sterling street, who suggested to police that they go to the Stag Hotel, Federal street.

Mrs. Snyder was fined $25 by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg. The hotel "proprietor," Peter Nordas, was held for investigation when he asserted that he wasn't the actual owner.

Fall Fatal to Puritan Man

52-MILE GALE BATTERS CITY

snow that made driving hazardous and hindered motorists and street car operators.

Bigelow boulevard, from the Bloomfield Bridge to downtown, was closed for 30 minutes at the peak of the morning rush when the large Liberty Milk sign, loosed by the gale, leaned perilously over the one-story building which supports it. Motorists were forced to detour into town through Lawrenceville, and scores reported late for work before repairs were made.

52-MILE WIND

Shortly after midnight the wind reached a velocity of 52 miles an hour. This morning it had abated to 30 miles. Forecaster Brotzman's reports showed Cleveland gripped in a 64-mile gale, while Buffalo's storm velocity was 12 miles an hour greater.

The thermometer had dropped to 20 degrees at 9 o'clock, and the weatherman predicted a further slump of 10 points within 10 hours. Tomorrow, Brotzman said, promised a clear, warmer day.

MANY WIRES DOWN

Officials of the Duquesne Light Company reported that their wires had been blown down in many places. Arc lights suffered heavy damage, many of them being snapped from their poles by the gale.

A private detective alarm agency reported that it had received 25 calls in three hours during the night to replace trap doors and pent house doors that had been ripped off downtown buildings.

It was the downtown section that appeared to have suffered most. Glass-strewn sidewalks and wind-tossed boxes, bales and paper cluttered the streets.

PEDESTRIAN TOPPLED

A pedestrian in Liberty avenue was knocked down when a barrel, rolled along by the wind, struck him. Police did not learn his name.

Windows were blown out in the stores of the Kohler Plumbing Company, 401 Penn avenue; C. D. Goorin Company, 903 Fifth avenue; Ochiltree Electric Company, 505 Liberty avenue; Allegheny Candy Company, 307 Wood street, Lubow's Clothing Company, 134 Sixth street; Miller Florist Shop, 2828 Chartiers avenue and many others whose proprietors did not report to police.

In Natchez street, Mt. Washington, a tree was torn out by its roots and fell across the street, blocking traffic.

MANY WIRES DOWN

Wires of the Bell Telephone Company were blown down at Liberty avenue and the Boulevard of the Allies. Wires of the Duquesne Light company were torn from the poles in Bigelow boulevard.

A light post in Oliver avenue, near Liberty avenue, was broken off its pedestal.

Signs at 303 Grant street, 3561 Bigelow boulevard, and 2120 Penn avenue were blown down and wrecked.

The roof of an unused factory building of the White Metal company at 3116 Mulberry way was ripped off and hurled into the street.

TRAVELING MEN AID DRIVE

Printing employers and employes in the Pittsburgh district have taken up the movement to appeal to Congress for a downward revision of the tax on earned incomes. Both the Printers' Council of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, representing the master printers, and Typographical Union No. 7, representing the union workers, will act on the matter at their next scheduled meetings.

Another organization indorsing the movement is the United Commercial Travelers, Pittsburgh branch, composed of the leading traveling salesmen in Pittsburgh and affiliated with other branches throughout the country having a total membership of 150,000. On Saturday it will take up a resolution calling for an earned income tax slash.

HUNDREDS SIGN PETITION

While these organizations took cognizance of the movement for lifting the tax burden from the shoulders of professional men and women and wage earners, hundreds were filling out the forms of the petition to Congress which appear daily in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. For those who have no business or professional bodies to speak for them, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on Earned Incomes will present a great volume of petitions to Congress.

One petition signer for the league wrote that his income was from a pension which he received from an industrial concern following his retirement on account of long service and ill health.

In spite of his situation, he writes, he is obliged to pay income tax on his pension.

Petitions sent from employes of a downtown office building had a wide representation of occupations, including salesmen, machinists, managers, engineers, accountants, clerks, draftsmen and elevator operators.

WOMAN LAWYER HELPS

Miss Esther I. Katten, attorney, with offices in the Union Trust Building, who signed a petition yesterday, is the first Pittsburgh lawyer to begin active work in the movement following the action of the Allegheny County Bar Association at its meeting last week. The bar association adopted a resolution to refer the question to a committee for study and report.

"The trend of the times is for the removal of taxes on earned incomes," declared Miss Katten. "Taxing the wage earner, no matter what his vocation is, puts a penalty on industry and ambition. Opposition to the scaling down of these taxes on the people would be foolish and Congress will get some idea of public sentiment on the subject when these petitions pour into Washington next month."

At its monthly meeting in the Fort Pitt Hotel tonight the Professional Women's Club of Pittsburgh, composed of women well known in all the leading professions and in business life, will act on a resolution indorsing the movement.

FRAYNE LEAVES DISTRICT

Joseph A. Frayne, special prohibition investigator here, has left Pittsburgh.

Without announcing his transfer, Frayne, with his family, has moved to some point in New York, it was learned.

At the United States attorney's office it was stated that Frayne, for the time being at least, was not on duty here, but that he would return to aid in the prosecution of pending liquor conspiracy cases.

It was explained that while Frayne had been assigned to special duty at the United States attorney's office here, his commission was such that he might be assigned without the formality of transfer to any district.

THREATS FOLLOWED LOVE MISSIVES, WIFE CHARGES

Tender missives, then threats of violence made up the married life of Mrs. Agnes Colbert, 1106 Fifth avenue, she testified yesterday in her suit for divorce before Judge James H. Gray.

After she had left her husband, James Colbert, 328 Penney street, McKeesport, he wrote her this note, she testified:

"Honey, will you please come back soon? I am a different man since you left. I love you, Aggie, more each day. If you don't come back, there isn't any use for me to go on."

A few days later, the wife says, Colbert forced his way into her apartment and tried to persuade her to carry out a suicide pact. Mrs. Colbert accused her husband of jealousy and of having oiled up his revolver and threatened to shoot her on an average of once a week during the last six years.

BELLEVUE GIRL SCOUTS TAKING UP STUDY OF ASTRONOMY

HELEN BAKER TEACHING GIRL SCOUTS ASTRONOMY

Miss Baker, their scoutmaster, teaching members of Troop 42, Bellevue, Girl Scouts of America, about what Shakespeare called "this brave o'erhanging firmament, fretted with golden fire." They find their astronomy interesting, though not as advanced as that of Dr. Lampland, Lowell Observatory, whose specialty of measuring the heat of distant stars Arthur Brisbane in his column, "Today," discussed lately in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Here they study a constellation.

Immigrant Gets Addition to His Savings

Miss Marie Andriano, of 1605 Westmont street, Carrick, knows the peace of mind that comes from thrift.

Miss Andriano is one of the scores of savings bank depositors to whose credit the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is making deposits in the campaign to promote thrift.

MISS MARIE ANDRIANO

Her bank book, No. 7,601, in the Monongahela Bank, is among those to the credit of which $10 deposits have been made.

Acknowledging the gift, Miss Andriano remarked that she had had a savings account for a long time, and made it an inflexible rule to deposit at least a dollar or two every week.

Reward comes, she said, in freedom from financial worry. An illness compelled her to spend a month in the hospital some time ago. It was a consolation to her during her sojourn there to know that, thanks to her bank account, she would be able to pay the bills promptly.

Another recipient of a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph thrift gift is Hans Fabricius, of 4116 Grizella street, North Side. He is a German immigrant, who arrived here last October. Mr. Fabricius made up his mind within a few days after his arrival in the United States that he would accumulate a competency, and as the first step in that direction, opened a savings bank account in the Perry State Bank. He is $10 the richer in consequence, for his bank book, No. 1,792, was one of those chosen by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph for a $10 deposit.

A third deposit of $10 has gone to Dr. Harry H. Lytle, holder of passbook No. 225, of the Bank of Aspinwall, and a fourth to Mrs. J. W. Geis, of 1334 Juniata street, North Side, holder of passbook No. 11,086, of the Manchester Savings Bank.

Foma Lobanow, of Frum, W. Va., holder of passbook No. 55,139, of the First National Bank of Pittsburgh, has received a $5 deposit.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph has announced more than 80 gifts ranging from $25 to $5 to savings bank depositors as rewards for thrift. Many holders of the bank books to whose credit these gifts are being deposited have not claimed them yet.

NEW METER PARCELS OUT X-RAYS IN SMALL DOSES

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—The newest thing in X-rays, a box meter whereby they can be measured in small doses for medical use, was demonstrated at a meeting of the New York Electrical Society last night.

This advance puts the powerful rays in the class of the more ordinary remedies, which can be parceled out in amounts and potencies of known curative values. It was demonstrated by Dr. F. K. Richtmyer, professor of physics at Cornell University.

REDUCES RISKS

He placed a pair of metal plates a short distance apart, with a strong electrical charge in one plate. Then he projected a beam of X-rays between the plates and demonstrated that this invisible beam carried electric current from one plate to the other, as readily as if it were solid wise.

This principle makes the new X-ray meter, an instrument named an ionization box. Its value is not only in reducing risk of applying too much X-rays, but also in opening a field for applying small quantities to delicate cases.

MOVIES OF DIGESTION

Actual motion pictures of the behavior of a human stomach digesting a meal was another of Prof. Richtmyer's demonstrations. This was accomplished with a combination of X-ray and motion picture apparatus.

The story that the X-ray tells the physicist about precious stones was explained. This is in the arrangement of atoms in the gems. Though the atoms are invisible, their patterns are detected by studying the light of X-ray passing through them or reflected from their surfaces and these patterns give physicists and geologists interesting information as to how nature made the gem and possibly as to its value.

TRAIN BANDITS HUNTED

CHICAGO, March 7.—(INS.)—Four machine gun bandits were sought today after they had held up a Rock Island passenger train on the outskirts of the city and escaped with a small amount of loot and a satchel containing canceled checks and non-negotiable papers.

The train was bound for Minneapolis via Joliet. Among the passengers robbed were Sherman Scheidt, vice president of the First National Bank of Joliet, and Joseph Carloss, the bank's messenger.

It is believed the bandits were aware that Carloss frequently makes the trip with considerable money on his person. On this occasion, his black bag contained only canceled checks and papers.

Two of the bandits produced Thompson sub-machine guns from violin cases and their two confederates drew revolvers. They ordered the switchman to stop the train and then went through the coaches robbing the passengers.

They fled from the scene in an automobile.

Man Found in Store Held for Robbery

James Clark, 23, Negro, of Macon, Ga., was held for court today by Magistrate E. M. Hough in Allegheny Police Court, charged with robbery of an Atlantic and Pacific tea store at 50 Federal street, North Side. G. F. Evans, manager of the store, in passing it late Wednesday night saw the shadow of the Negro and called police. When arrested the Negro had a razor and a sandbag blackjack in his pockets.

Breaks Into House, Goes to Sleep, Held

At 1:30 a. m. today Robert E. Couch, 30, of 5154 Penn avenue, smashed a window in L. A. Weisberg's home at 119 Belle Isle avenue, Beechview, climbed through the opening and went to sleep on a couch, Mrs. Weisberg testified in Morals Court today.

Police said they found him asleep. Couch was held for court, charged with breaking and entering a building.

Sadie McCrory, of 211 South Millvale avenue, was arrested on a reckless driving charge last night after an automobile police said was driven by her struck Bernard Furer, 24, of Lapple lane, in Chestnut street, North Side. Furer suffered cuts and bruises.

GIRLS STUDYING STARS

Allegheny County Girl Scouts are becoming embryo astronomers.

Although they will not delve into the science of astronomy as deeply as Dr. Lampland, of the Lowell Observatory, whose specialty is measuring the heat of distant stars and whom Arthur Brisbane recently discussed, they are able to pick out almost any of the major stars in the constellation.

The champion star-gazers of the Girl Scouts belong to Troop 422 of the Bellevue Presbyterian Church. They meet every Tuesday evening at the church, under the leadership of Scout Capt. Helen Baker.

Outdoors, the girls use telescopes to find the major stars on the constellation. Then, indoors, Capt. Baker makes up constellation charts by placing black stars on white cardboard. The girls study the charts for a few moments, endeavoring to impress the positions of the stars on their minds. This done, they are required to reproduce the same constellation upon cardboard. In this way they gradually become familiar with the various constellations.

A starfinder's badge is their reward after two years' work. Stargazizng and finding is a favorite Girl Scout activity and is being encouraged in all Girl Scout nature study courses.

Award of Rope Order By County Protested

A protest on a bid award made by the county commissioners for the purchase of wire rope was received yesterday from the Williamsport Wire Rope Company. The letter said that although the Williamsport Company had made a bid of $39.90 per thousand feet, the order was given to the American Steel and Wire Company, whose bid was $40 per thousand feet.

Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong explained that the bid had been given to the American Steel and Wire Company because it was a local company.

PRESBYTERIANS PROPOSE EQUAL RIGHTS FOR WOMEN

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—(AP.)—Complete elimination of discrimination against women in the membership and government of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, it was announced yesterday, is proposed in an overture adopted by the Presbyterian General Council in session here. The council is the national executive body of the denomination.

Under Presbyterian law the overture must be presented to the general assembly at St. Paul, Minn., May 23, and if adopted it must then go down to the 294 presbyteries on referendum. Approval by a majority of the presbyteries would make the overture effective.

The proposed change would enable women to sit with full equality with all men in all the courts, executive and administrative bodies of the church, including local church sessions, presbyteries, synods and the general assembly, and would entitle women to serve as elders, evangelists and ministers.

The action of the general council, it was announced, is the result of an investigation into the entire status of women in the churches, made by a special committee headed by Dr. Robert E. Speer, of New York, after conference with representative women and men from all parts of the country.

The committee also recommended that a special national conference of 100 representative women be called to consider the subject of woman's place in church work and organization, the conference to be held at St. Paul immediately preceding the general assembly. This recommendation also was adopted by the council.

BLAST SET OFF IN W. VA. MINE

LOGAN, W. Va., March 7.—(AP.)—An unsuccessful attempt was made last night to blow up the Rossmore mine of the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company on Island Creek, allegedly by miners discharged late yesterday. Dampness inside the mine prevented the explosion, officials of the mine stated.

Four men, who, State Mine Inspector J. F. White said, were responsible for the placing of powder and fuses, are being held in the county jail.

According to White the men were discharged on concluding their work, and returned to the mine with large drums of blasting powder and long lines of fuse. The powder was placed far in the mine, the fuse laid to the mouth and ignited. The powder exploded, but the mine so damp, White said, that coal dust was not ignited. A night crew was in the mine at the time of the explosion, officials said, but was not affected.

Fake Franco-Belgian Pact Forger Freed

BRUSSELS, March 7.—(AP.)—Albert Frank, sometimes known as Albert Frank Heine, who a few days ago confessed forging the purported Franco-Belgian military agreement published in a Dutch newspaper, was freed yesterday, the magistrate ruling that the forgery was not prejudicial and, under the Belgian law, did not constitute ground for detaining Frank in prison. Publication of the hoax stirred Dutch and German governmental circles as the alleged treaty provided plans for joint military action by France and Belgium in case they deemed Germany was about to attack either.

Dissension on Team, W.-J. Drops Debates

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 7.—Internal dissension came near wrecking Washington and Jefferson's debating team and has resulted in the cancellation of debates with Westminster College and Capital University, of Columbus, O. Unwillingness to discuss the situation was shown by those concerned, but it was learned that the entire schedule was called off for a time. Later it was announced that the debate with Rutgers University, scheduled here March 15, would be held.

Transfer of County Funds Held Illegal

The practice of transferring funds from one county fund to another was branded as illegal by County Commissioner C. C. McGovern at a meeting of the commissioners' board yesterday. Gilbert C. Cloonan, county statistician, had requested a temporary loan of $600,000 to the board interest account, to be paid back after certain taxes had been collected. He requested that $300,000 come from the Road Tax accounty and a like sum from the Commissioners' Bond Account. McGovern said that such loans should come out of the general fund.

Sign This Petition and Help to Cut Taxes

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

To the Congress of the United States:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge that the Congress of the United States give immediate consideration to the proposition that there be a downward revision of all income taxes on all earned incomes, such as salaries or fees, or commissions for personal services. We urge this because of the many instances where wage or fee or commission earners sometimes have just a few years of good incomes and prior to and after that period have substantially less incomes. Their period of better earnings which might give the average wage earner a chance to accumulate some capital is heavily taxed and they seldom have a new opportunity for the accumulation of savings which might tend to make more useful citizens of them.

Labor in general, lawyers, doctors, architects, clerical workers, salesmen, dentists, engineers, journalists, accountants, actors, motion picture actors, singers, musicians, and all the other professional people are in the same plight in the matter of earned income, as distinguished from earnings on capital, and, since they represent a great percentage of the citizenry of the country, we beg the gravest consideration of this proposition. Each signer below hereby enrolls as a member of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on earned incomes and will work with that newspaper toward the end stated.

Permission is hereby granted the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to list the signer in the proper Labor, Clerical or Professional Division of the said League for presentation of our signatures to the United States Congress for the stated purpose.

The signer is not obliged to make any kind of contribution or to do anything except to give his moral support to this movement.

Goldenson to Give Talk on Liberalism

Father Arrested for Kidnaping Own Child

Accused of having taken a two-year-old child away from his wife, from whom he is separated, by threatening her with a pistol, Harry Riley, 27, of 1043 Brushton avenue, was arrested today by Frankstown avenue police.

Riley's father-in-law, David Holmes, of 67 Fountain street, alleged Riley came to the Fountain street address yesterday, waved a pistol and demanded his daughter, Roberta. Holmes and Mrs. Riley let him take the child, then called police. Riley was carrying an automatic pistol when arrested, police asserted.

6 Brushings Whiten TEETH!

Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique Whitens Teeth 3 Shades in 3 Days!

Half the charm of any pretty face is radiant white teeth. And white teeth are as easy to have as yellow. It's simply a matter of dealing with the yellow plaque that forms on teeth and makes them look dingy and uncared for.

Just try the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique for 3 days and see the difference in your teeth.

A half-inch of Kolynos on a dry tooth brush fills the mouth with a tingling foam that is antiseptic, germicidal and plaque-disintegrating. The use of a dry brush means that you use Kolynos full strength, also that the brush bristles retain enough of their stiffness to properly scrub the teeth and penetrate the crevices between.

This "live" and active foam "works on" the yellow mucin or plaque that discolors teeth. It "works on" this plaque like millions of tiny fingers, breaks it up and washes it away. Teeth are cleaned down to the naked enamel. They gleam clean and WHITE.

The foam pushes its way into all the crevices between the teeth. It cleans out and disinfects all those places where food particles lodge and decay. It combats tartar, destroys germs, bacteria, mouth acids and makes the whole mouth sweet and clean.

CONGRESSMAN HOLDS DRY ACT DOOMED

John J. Gorman, representative in Congress from Illinois and formerly in the postoffice service, declared at Chicago yesterday in commenting to the Hearst newspapers on the $25,000 temperance prize contest:

"I am glad to repeat what I said on the floor of Congress. There can be no doubt about it that prohibition is the present-day curse of the United States. It is slowly but surely destroying the moral and physical fibre of the future fathers and mothers of America.

"It is breaking down respect for all law by open and notorious violation of this one law. It is making police courts out of the court rooms, where once dignity, decorum and a high standard of ethics prevailed, the Federal courts of the United States.

"As a social experiment, prohibition is a failure. It was foredoomed to failure because the law did not grow out of the customs of the people. A people cannot be legislated 'good.' They must be taught goodness in the impressionistic years of early childhood; at the mother's knee, and then, through the various stages of life, as they progress.

"No one will deny that temperance is a virtue. No one will deny that temperance is for the well-being of the human race. It is temperance we should aim for, and in the interests of real temperance and to protect the health and morals of our children the Volstead act must be changed. In its place a law should be enacted which will encourage temperance.

"Such a law as will permit the manufacture and sale, under well regulated conditions, of 2.75 beer, would be the best contribution the United States could make to the cause of real temperance. This is the scientific standard adopted by Denmark and approved by its various temperance societies. It is the standard of beer consumed by the people of Denmark with no drunkenness, and it has decreased the appetite for strong liquors.

"It was the standard adopted by the United States during the World War for the purpose of preserving foodstuffs. It was accepted by the people, and it did not result in increased consumption of hard liquor.

"It is within the power of the Congress to define 2.75 beer as a scientific standard and within the confines of temperance.

"Let us all face the facts and pull together. Let us put aside personal prejudices. Let the dry extremists and the wet extremists meet on this common ground. Legislation is ever the result of compromise and adjustment. Let both sides compromise a little and adjust the standard of prohibition so that the people of the United States who desire it may have 2.75 beer in the place of the poison they are now consuming."

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

COUNTY RUSHES AIRPORT PLAN

Anxious to have work started as soon as possible on the new county airport, Mifflin Township, County Commissioners have authorized the immediate sale of $1,000,000 bonds to provide funds for the work. Half the amount will be used in obtaining property for the field, and the remainder for grading and other physical work.

A report on progress of the project was made by Director Norman F. Brown, of the county department of public works, who, with the aid of a large map, pointed out the features of the field. As plans now stand, negotiations are under way for 356 acres, but county officials are desirous of obtaining more property for future expansion. Altogether there are 1,100 acres that might be purchased for the airport and sites for aviation activities about the field.

Without additional property there will be a large landing circle, 2,650 feet in diameter, and crossing it will be two runways, each a mile long.

Washington Grange Opposes New Judge

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 7.—Grangers of Washington County attending their regular meeting here went on record as opposed to an additional judge for this judicial district, and as being in favor of the plan to collect the gasoline tax at the source rather than from the retailers.

Relative to a proposed increase tax on gasoline, they decided to stand by whatever action the state Legislature takes. Governors of the Washington County Motor Club, with a membership of 2,000, are opposed to a raise.

Foster Memorial Workers to Meet

The second joint meeting of the advanced gift group and executive committee of the Stephen C. Foster memorial building fund will be held tomorrow at 12:15 P. M. in the William Penn hotel. More than 2[illegible] persons are expected to attend this meeting, which will be in the form of a sport luncheon. This group comprises leaders in the movement to erect a memorial building in honor of Foster on the Cathedral of Learning quadrangle. E. T. Whiter, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is chairman of the executive committee.

TEN INDICTED IN 'RACKETS'

The grand jury yesterday returned true bills against 10 alleged racketeers. The charges are: Ray James and Nick Panos, keeping a gambling house; Lester H. Jones, W. W. Jones, Joe Penta, Edward Scarzo, John Beal, Charles Gawinski, David Peters and Arthur Williams, operating lotteries.

Leo Rathke, indicted in the grand jury graft investigation in November, pleaded guilty to maintaining gambling devices and was paroled for one year and fined $100 in Criminal Court yesterday.

Today you can serve real Cook-Book Cake without baking it

Cherry Square Cake

We say it's "Cook-Book" because this cake is actually made from a Cook-Book Recipe such as you would use yourself

NOW, at your grocer's, there's a cake with a real "home-made" taste. For it is made just as though our bakers had come into your kitchen, followed the directions of your cook-book and used your ingredients. We invite you to prove this at our risk.

Luscious CHERRY SQUARE is a new 2-layer white cake. Rich with milk and whites of eggs. Iced with red, ripe cherries in thick butter-cream icing. Delicious—as only rich icing and plenty of cherries can make it.

This Cook-Book Recipe comes with each cake

To give this cake its "cook-book" taste we make it as you would. From a tested Cook-Book Recipe—followed to the letter. (Inside each wrapper you will find the exact recipe we use. All ingredients and measurements.)

Make a CHERRY SQUARE CAKE yourself from this recipe, if you care to, and compare it with ours. You will then see that this is a real Cook-Book Cake—that it must be baked with purest milk, freshest eggs and butter, and the best grade of sugar, pastry flour and flavoring extract to taste so good.

A guaranteed Cake

Your grocer now has CHERRY SQUARE CAKE. Try one. If you don't agree that it is perfectly delicious—and that it has a real "home-made" taste—return the unused portion and get your money back. We want you to do this. We will repay your grocer.

"TYPICAL AMERICAN GIRL" MAY LIVE IN PITTSBURGH

The quest for the Typical American Girl, sponsored by the Sun-Telegraph and 17 other Hearst newspapers and Smart Set magazine, continues.

The telephone on the Quest Editor's desk rings merrily as one person after another calls for more information on how to enter a Typical American Girl in the contest, and every morning's mail brings the pictures and necessary information on new contestants.

The Sun-Telegraph is out to find the Typical American Girl in Metropolitan Pittsburgh. Perhaps here in our own city, around the corner from our home, is the girl we are seeking, the girl who will receive the high honor of typifying America's wonderful girlhood and who will receive the $5,000 cash award and free trip to New York City offered the winner.

Who the Typical American Girl is no one really knows. "Of course we have a vague idea of who she ought to be," Beatrice A. Smith, of St. Louis, Mo., who won first prize in the Smart Set magazine's recent essay contest on the "Typical American Girl," says.

Help the Sun-Telegraph find the Typical American Girl in Pittsbrugh. Read the rules published on this page and nominate the girl who in your opinion is the one who should be selected.

Rules of the Quest

1. This is a selective search, not a motion picture, popularity or beauty contest. It is an honest and sincere effort to find the girl who best represents the Typical American Girl. As used herein, the term, "Typical American Girl," means one who is representative of young American womanhood in character, intellect, appearance, etc. The quest will commence March 1 and end at midnight, March 31.

2. A National committee of judges appointed by Smart Set, will make the final decision and award the $5,000 prize in New York, at a date set by the publisher of Smart Set Magazine. This committee is composed of Rosamond Pinchot Gaston, Vina Delmar, Jesse L. Lasky, John Golden, Guy Hoff and Margaret Sangster, editor of Smart Set and a representative of the Hearst newspapers.

3. A local committee of judges appointed by each co-operating newspaper will select each newspaper's regional winner.

4. A candidate cannot propose herself. She must be proposed by some individual or some club or organization. This proposal must be sent to the Quest Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

5. Each candidate's proposal must be accompanied by her photograph, biographical sketch, listing age, weight, height, coloring, education and her social, business and athletic activities. Her qualifications will be considered by the Quest Editor who will notify her if she has been selected.

6. The girl chosen as the regional winner, will be sent under proper chaperonage, to New York, at Smart Set's call.

7. The minimum age is 17.

8. In the event that the decision of the National committee of judges results in a tie vote, the full award of $5,000 will be given to each tying candidate.

9. The decision of the judges will be final. No relative or member of the household or anyone connected with this publication, or with participaating newspapers, can enter the quest.

10. The Quest Editor of each co-operating newspaper will organize a process for eliminating candidates whereby each week his local committee will investigate the most likely candidates. At the end of the quest, the local committee will make a final choice by ballot.

CHARLEROI, Pa., March 7.—H. J. Johnson, Ellsworth merchant, en route to Charleroi, was injured when his car skidded off the road and was wrecked yesterday. He walked back to the road and signaled an approaching car to get aid. The driver lost control and a fender struck Johnson, knocked him down and broke two ribs.

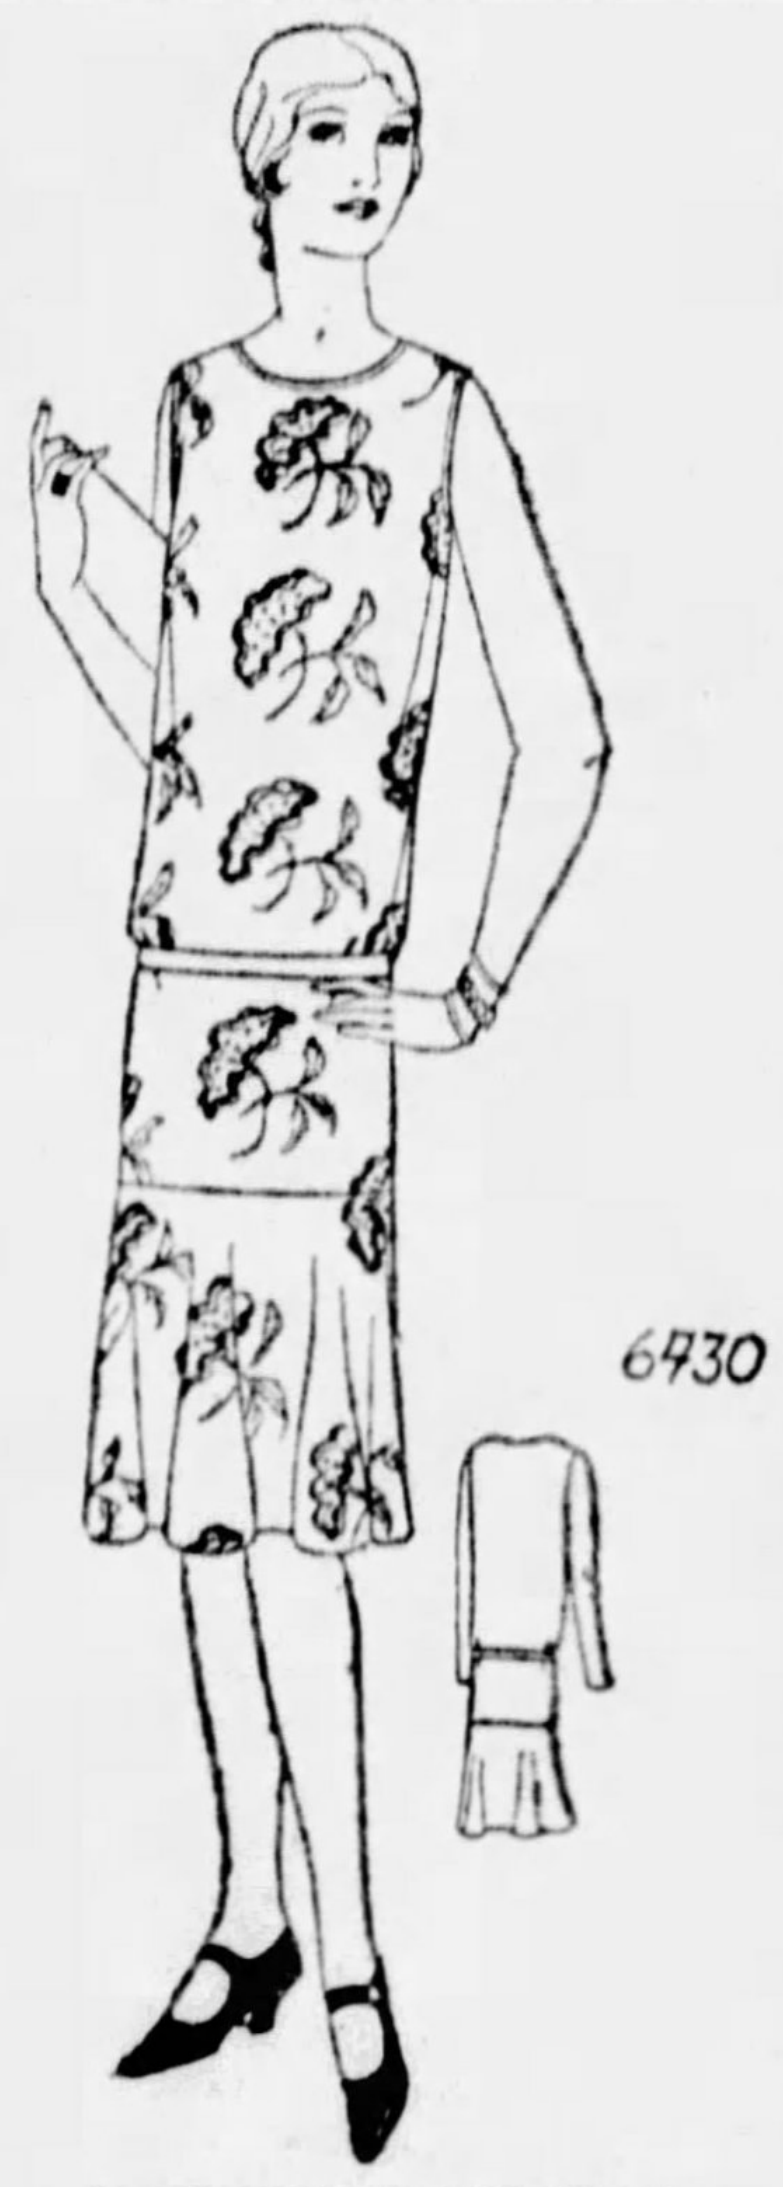
Coolidge Oversees Floor Support Installation

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., March 7.—(AP.)—One of Calvin Coolidge's first acts on returning home from Washington was to supervise the installation of strengthening supports under the floor of his living room.

He had been in the house only a short time when he noticed that the floor sagged. He spent nearly an hour in the cellar of the house telling two workmen what he wanted and how it was to be done.

After the job was completed, he gave each workman a cigar.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A CHARMING FROCK.

Printed silk or pique is excellent for this style. It is also good for crepe, voile or cotton prints. The dress is lengthened by a circular flounce. The wrist length sleeves may be omitted as pictured in the large view. A belt which may be replaced by a sash or girdle, holds the dress to effect slight blousing at the waistline.

The pattern for this style is cut in seven sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. To make a 38-inch size as pictured in the large view, will require 2¾ yards of 40-inch material. If made with sleeves 3⅛ yards will be required. The width of the flounce at the lower edge with fulness extended is 3 yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"Stomach troubles come when acid sourness comes—"

The new discovery, ACIDINE, banishes swiftly, surely and safely poisonous acids in the stomach, and their results—indigestion, gas, sour stomach, colds and acid rheumatism. Our great laboratories worked for years on this problem before we found the formula which was sure to bring absolute success in the treatment of these troubles.

ACIDINE....
1. Eliminates acid stomach and its results—indigestion, colds, rheumatism and sick headache.
2. Digests starchy foods which many people are unable to do.
3. Softens tough foods, putting them in such condition so as to digest easily.
4. Absorbes and eliminates gas. 5. Makes stomach and breath sweet and clean.

If there's a better way you want to try it. ACIDINE is offered to you by your druggist on a money back basis. If, after a trial you are not convinced of its superiority and effectiveness, just tell him and the trial will not cost you one penny, or write Health Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa.

County Relief Maps To Show Air Strides

A relief map of Allegheny county, showing the airports and the strides the county has taken to further aviation, will be on display at the Aircraft show to be held the week of March 9 in Motor Square Garden, $1,500 having been appropriated for this by the county commissioners yesterday. In addition there will be a model airport on display in the two booths the county has authorized. Director Norman F. Brown of the County Department of Public Works requested the money after being told a week ago to include an exhibit of the county in the show.

"By Joe! it's good to smoke Luckies."

Felix Count Luckner

"Lucky Strikes? By Joe, yes. Let me tell you. I was cruising in my raider in the South Pacific. It had been damp, rainy weather and every bit of tobacco we had on the ship was mouldy and could not be smoked. We began to be desperate. The men were—what you call—grouchy. Along came an American ship. We captured her and after taking the captain, officers and crew aboard my raider and finding comfortable places for them to stay, I and my officers went over to the captured ship to see if there was anything aboard her that we wanted. We searched her. And what do you think? Under the cushions of a seat in the captain's cabin we found 500 packages of Lucky Strikes! I tore off the end of one and lit it and filled my lungs with it, and By Joe, I was a man again. We had enough for all the crew and we were all cheered up and we all became friends once more. By Joe, I was sorry to sink that American ship that had brought us those smokes. Lucky Strikes, they are wonderful, and my Countess, of course, wishes a fashionable, slender figure. She smokes Lucky Strikes when she is offered fattening sweets. And my life has always been an active one and I must be trim and fit. I love to feel what you Americans call 'peppy.' So no sweets for me. Give me a Lucky Strike instead. By Joe, it's good for us to smoke Luckies."

COUNT FELIX VON LUCKNER

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This confirms in no uncertain terms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strikes.

Firm, Tender, Juicy Meat perfect for Salads and Desserts

SCIENCE has not only proved by analysis that California Sunkist Oranges are richer in fruit sugars and healthful fruit-acids (alkaline in reaction) and thus richer in flavor and in health-qualities—BUT—you can prove for yourself almost instantly that they are far superior for salads and desserts as well as for juice purposes. Order Sunkist Oranges today and make these simple tests:

First, California Sunkist Oranges are easiest to peel—the skin comes off cleanly. Second—see how firm the juice-filled segments are. Now, thin-slice a whole, peeled Sunkist Orange! The tender, juicy, delicious meat holds together—perfectly! No loss of juice, no mussiness.

Make a Sunkist fruit dessert or salad. Break-up the skinned segments. The meat remains solid and sparkling until served! And, add to this what your taste has always told you (and now proved by Science): the extra-rich flavor of these wonderful California Sunkist Oranges makes the most delicious fruit salad or dessert you ever tasted!

And, such Orange Juice for breakfast and for drinking through the day to correct or prevent Acidosis! Full-bodied, deep in color! Compare its extra-high flavor and richness with paler kinds grown under less favorable conditions! That's why four out of five public dispensers of fresh Orange Juice use Sunkist Oranges exclusively. Such preference must be deserved.

Let the name "Sunkist" be your guide. Know the kind of Oranges your money buys. Look for "Sunkist" on the skin and on the tissue wrapper. It not only assures uniform quality, but the pick of the California crop!

"Don't COUGH Your Energy Away"

Exhausted ....
Because of a Cough

A STUBBORN cough can wrack your whole body—sap vitality. Each spasm not only irritates the delicate membranes of your throat but puts a severe strain upon your chest, stomach and other vital organs.

Your health demands that coughs be checked. They feed upon your strength—lower your resistance—expose you to more serious infections.

At the first sign of a cough or throat irritation, take PERTUSSIN. It helps Nature free the air passages of germ laden mucus, soothes the irritation and quiets the cough. PERTUSSIN has been prescribed more often for coughs than any other advertised remedy.

PERTUSSIN is safe even for small children and convalescents—a good remedy for "coughs that hang on". It is free from dope—does not upset the stomach and can be taken as often as necessary:

The return of the Prague Teachers' Chorus was another artistic event for Pittsburgh. Carnegie Hall resounded last night with patriotic applause from the descendants of Bohemians and our own music lovers as well.

Ignorance of the Slovak tongue and confusion in the order of the program made it almost impossible to study the various composers as their music was sung. One could retain scarcely any impression of them as individuals, but as a school of music their works abound in strangely discordant effects, in an almost barbaric vigor, and intricate counterpart. In this respect the choruses of Smetana, Novak, Janacek, or Foerster remain identical. The Slovak folk music, on the contrary, carries a happy-go-lucky optimistic spirt that is most infectious.

The chorus itself is a human symphony orchestra. In no male chorus heretofore have we heard such endless variety in tone. Metod Dolezil, the conductor, is an organizer and musician of great skill, whose vigorous beat evokes an incomparable spirit from his singers. There were several encores, including our own "Dixie."

Wins Praise

The quality of her acting as the Private Secretary in "The News Parade" is winning the praise of movie fans everywhere for this lovely newcomer to the screen. At home in New York City, hundreds admire her charming personality and she has fairly "set the style" on Broadway by the way she dresses her hair.

"The simple method I use in caring for my hair," says Miss Shea, "has been of great help to me in my motion picture work, where one's hair must always look its best. It's just the thing for busy girls, too, because it is so easy. Most of the girls I know in stage and picture work are taking it up as soon as they hear about it. All you do is put a little Danderine on your brush every time you use it. It makes your hair so easy to dress and holds it in place wonderfully. It's ideal for girls who are letting their hair grow. It keeps my hair and scalp so clean and comfortable. I don't shampoo hair so often, now. It gives my hair such a silky, soft, lustrous appearance that all my friends comment on it."

Danderine removes the oily film from each strand of hair, restores its natural color, gives it more lustre than brilliantine. It cleanses and invigorates the scalp; helps overcome dandruff. It is delightfully fragranced; isn't sticky or oily; doesn't show. Waves, "set" with it, last longer. All drug stores have it, in generous 35c bottles.

Splendid Recipe To Stop A Cough That "Hangs On"

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be made at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this home-made remedy loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which usually follow the "flu", are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that was centered over Lake Superior yesterday morning, moved very rapidly eastward. It is centered over New England this morning, lowest barometer, 28.82 inches at Boston. The disturbance produced only light rain and snow, but due to the unusually low pressure and the rapid change in temperature unusually high wind velocities occurred along its path. At Pittsburgh the highest velocity was 52 miles, at Cleveland 64 and at Buffalo 76.

High pressure covers the Plains states attended by clear skies and cold weather. The freezing line extends as far south as Southern Kansas and Missouri and zero weather in North Dakota and Minnesota.

River Conditions.

The Allegheny River is falling slowly. The Monongahela rose further due to melting snow. It is now about stationary at the headwaters, but the lower Monongahela and the Ohio are still rising slowly. Stage at Pittsburgh is 21.2 feet; Dam No. 2, 14.7; Dam No. 6, 22.4; Damh No. 9, 21.8, and Dam No. 12, 20.9. The Ohio will continue to rise slowly. About 22.0 or 22.5 foot stage is expected at Pittsburgh by 8 p. m. and about 25.0 feet at Wheeling by Friday morning.

"I was all run-down and out of spirits before my third baby was born so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me with all my troubles and gave me an appetite where before I didn't eat at all. I did all of my housework up to the day my baby came, as I am a farmer's wife and could not afford help. I feel just dandy now and I will answer any letters and I will tell every one how good this medicine is."—Mrs. Ira Arnold.

"I read an ad. in the newspaper and I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I will recommend this medicine to any woman who is in bad shape like I was. I used to get so tired after a few hours' work that I was even afraid in my own house in the daytime. I didn't care if I lived or died. I have given birth to eight boys and I always feel strong right after, since I have taken the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Maud Meyers.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

MACBETH DOES FOUL MURDER AS ROMEO MAKES LOVE ON THE SAME DAY

By GEORGE SEIBEL

WHETHER such a youth as Romeo and such a maiden as Juliet ever lived is much in doubt, and in our realistic age it takes all the magic of imagination to bring them back to life. Fritz Leiber tried to do it at the Nixon Theater yesterday, when Shakespeare's tragedy of star-crossed love was presented at the matinee. But the world has grown much older—like Juliet herself. Shakespeare made her not quite fourteen, but Leiber, out of deference to propriety, has added four years to her age. And the Nurse revises all her dates, putting Lammastide and the earthquake back as easily as you set the hands of a clock. Well, we live in an older world, where propriety rules and flappers laugh at love's young dream, and the moonlight passion of a vanished spring is only calcium light and Schubert's Serenade obligato.

"Romeo and Juliet" proved the least inspired of the Shakespearean plays Leiber has presented so far. To play this tragedy and make the world believe it, in a land where there are bootleggers but no nightingales, is a task almost impossible. Leiber looks Romeo and makes love with warm ardor. Harriet Russell looks Juliet and is languishing as well as beautiful. But, as Matthew Arnold would say, "the world is too much with us." Love has become a comic passion, even to the schoolgirls in the balcony, who giggle at every kiss. Tears will not flow for sorrows that are lost in the shadows of time and drowned in the clatter of machinery.

Using a simile that should be permissible when Shakespeare is being put into modern dress, Queen Mab has been run over by a Ford.

MACBETH IS POPULAR

By evening Fritz Leiber had traversed the distance from Verona to Scotland, and arrayed himself for battle and murder. "Macbeth" has become the most popular of Shakespeare's tragedies in our day, and the week's largest audience was assembled to greet the Witches and see Duncan lured to his death.

There is good reason for this new popularity of "Macbeth," for the tragedy has some of the most tremendous scenes in the whole range of Shakespeare. And terror is easier to rouse than the elusive wraith of romance. Leiber is a Macbeth of imposing presence, but more the victim of conscience than the butcher and bully often portrayed by average actors. His infirmity of purpose, his secret dread of a secret Nemesis, is apparent from the first, and colors the whole interpretation. Haunting remorse comes into the tones of his voice, which he tries in vain to drive out with heroic accents.

As the drama progressed this decay of despair grew until the closing scene showed merely the wreck of ambition, blasted by supernatural fears. Leiber's Macbeth is one of his strongest and most impressive roles.

NO GHOST IS SEEN

One of the striking departures from the usual production was in the banquet scene, when the Ghost of Banquo does not become visible. A greenish phosphorescent light plays upon Macbeth's face while he sees the vision, which no one else sees. The effect was much better than the usual rather clumsy operation of the phantom, which steps from the wings and sits down on an empty chair, when it should occupy the very seat of Macbeth himself.

Virginia Bronson's sleep-walking scene also was played with dramatic power that held the audience in silent awe. Finally praise must be accorded to John Burke as Macduff, Jack Forrest as Ross, and Robert Allen as Malcolm, for the affecting way they presented the meeting in England. Hart Jenks as Banquo and Robert Strauss as the Porter also did good work.

Twentieth century science has not swept away Shakespeare's Witches, though twentieth century business has diluted his romance. We believe in Macbeth's fate though we smile at Romeo's. Or was it the flappers in the audience who created the atmosphere of incredulity?

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Roughage an Essential to Good Health

DR. COPELAND

CONSTIPATION is found in every part of the world where civilization has reached. It is certainly one of the most common of human symptoms.

I speak of it as a "symptom." It is not a disease. It is merely an evidence of wrong habits. While constipation lays the foundation for various uncomfortable and distressing sensations, it may exist for a long time without serious effect upon the general health.

But there are sure to be, sooner or later, disturbances which are more or less serious. On this account, early attention to constipation is a duty which should not be disregarded.

Too much of the food we take is over-refined. The rough and fibrous elements are removed before it reaches our tables. We must have roughage; the coarse and perhaps indigestible portions of food are needed to give substance to the intestinal mass.

The walls of the intestinal canal are largely muscular. A liquid content would be unaffected by the contractions of these muscles. Likewise, the absence of mass would leave these parts without something to stimulate muscular action.

In contrast to the liquid material, there might be a hard, dry, concentrated mass in the intestines. Then, certainly, there would not be gentle stimulation, but, on the contrary, this solid mass would prove irritating and harmful to the bowel.

To avoid constipation thoughtful consideration must be given the choice of foods. Things must be found that will supply the rough substances required for normal action.

Primitive man took his fruit with seeds, core and peeling. The husk and hull, all the coverings of the grain, were included with the kernels. Even the bark of tender shoots was eaten.

We speak of these parts of plants as "cellulose." Without cellulose and plenty of it, the bowel will not cleanse itself.

All the vegetables, particularly the green vegetables, are capable of supplying quantities of cellulose. Fruits are rich in this substance. Let us see if we can select some of particular value.

I saw a table the other day. This gave the percentage of roughage to be found in each of the several varieties of fruits and vegetables. Grapes, peaches, blackberries and apples, among the fruits, and spinach, lima beans, sweet potatoes, cabbage, carrots, potatoes and lettuce, among the vegetables, lead in cellulose content.

Bran is another intestinal canal stimulant. Added to a cereal or used as a cereal, it is a useful food.

There is much left to be said about the proper diet to use for the relief of constipation. I have said enough, however, to turn your thoughts to the importance of roughage.

The farmer does not neglect to feed hay and corn stalks to his cattle. I would not have you eat hay and corn stalks, but you must take their human equivalents, if I may put it that way.

This is the first step in overcoming constipation. Pretty soon I shall tell you more about the dietary control of his ailment.

That is why Squibb's Dental Cream, made with 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, was developed. It neutralizes acids, particularly at The Danger Line.

Thus Squibb's Dental Cream protects against decay in two ways. It cleans your teeth beautifully, and where it cannot clean it sends tiny particles of Milk of Magnesia to neutralize the harmful acids. Begin its use today. Harmless if swallowed. At drug stores. 40 cents a tube.

HAPPY DREAMS! -:- -:-

WHAT a wonderful place is the Land of Dreams! There all our wishes and hopes and dearest dreams come true! There we can be what we will and every wish is fulfilled! Too bad that we have to awaken to the reality of everyday life, isn't it? Especially when one wanders through the happy mazes of the days gone by and lives again each happy moment of the dearest times of one's life.

Here in the cold Winter she dreams of the happy days she has spent 'neath the warming glow of the Southern sun, with the blue waters rippling and dancing a happy accompaniment to her joyousness. Wondrous nights when a tropic moon looks as though one could reach up and pat it and each star gleams like a jewel ready to be picked from the velvet sky. And the palm fronds sway and clatter in the gentle trade winds that caressingly blow over the magic land.

Oh, dear! If only she could have stayed there forever and ever. For it's truly a Land of Romance! Where Love seems closer and dearer than ever before! And now, back in the cold blasts of early Spring, she dreams over each dear day and waits and longs for the time when she can return to the land where she found her greatest happiness. Where Dan Cupid brought Love to her—in that dear land that seems made especially for love and lovers.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge's Investigation Fails to Produce Any Evidence.

KATIE'S face was a stpdy when she finally appeared in the kitchen and found me there. She was plainly perturbed, and yet her delay in reaching the kitchen was no reason for her confusion. I never have questioned the time which she takes for her work. But she had said so plainly that she meant to hurry to the kitchen to start the "pink pudding" that she evidently felt it was up to her to explain.

"My shoe she twist by me," she said, her eyes roving around the room. "I almost fall down stairs, So I go in my room and rub eet."

"Oh! I'm so sorry, Katie," I said, biting back a smile. "Are you sure it's all right now. Never mind the pink pudding if you don't feel well."

"Eet all right now," she said. Then as her eyes fell on the clock, she gave a little cry of joy.

"Sooch a foolishness as I am," she said. "Me, I got plenty time for pink pudding. I go oop stairs feenish Mary's room, in two tree shakes leetle sheep's tail, den I coom down make pudding. You vant sometings down here? Can I get vunce?"

"No, I just thought I would press out one of Mary's gowns," I said, seizing the first excuse, even as Katie had offered her twisted shoe, I told myself grimly. "I can't tell what it needs now, it's so crumpled."

Katie looked around, evidently in search of the gown I was to press, but I offered no explanation of the fact that it was back in my room, and with an exaggerated limp which I knew she would forget in another five minutes, she went out of the kitchen.

I meticulously attached my iron and arranged the board, went to my room for the dress, brought it down and pressed it, all with an absent mindedness which would have been disastrous to the gown if Katherine had not come into the kitchen and startled me into a realization that my iron needed turning off. Fortunately the cloth covering the dress was the only thing which showed any trace of the overheated iron, but I was shocked at my own detachment nevertheless.

"Lillian's awake," Katherine said, 'Her headache is gone, but she's still shaky. I'm going to make her the tea now which so nearly caused disaster this morning. How did you make out with your different diplomatic missions? I saw Marion go off smiling, so I guessed you had succeeded in that direction. Lillian was pitifully pleased when I told her that Mary and Marion had departed in high spirits. I purposely exaggerated their apparent happiness a bit, for she needs all the encouragement along that line she can get."

"I think things are going to be all right," I said. "Harry is going to make the excuse of business to go into the city and stay there nearly all the rest of Marion's vacation."

Katherine set her tiny kettle on the gas stove, lit the flame beneath then turned and swept me a low bow.

"For getting results, pipe our Madgie," she said, and laughed gleefully as I reddened.

"Really, old dear, you don't know how glad I am," she went on soberly. "It will give Lillian just the respite from petty worry that she needs. If only she—"

"If ondy she what?" I queried curiously as she stopped.

"Didn't you ever speak out of turn?" she parried. "It was only a passing thought, one which really isn't of enough importance to repeat. Come on, you're through with that dress. Rustle me out some marmalade—Lil's favorite, while I make the toast."

I put the dress away and prepared a dainty tray while Katherine watched the toast. Just before it was finished I ran out to the rose garden and brought back an exquisite half-opened crimson bud, remembering Lillian's love for roses. I could almost see the red roses in the wonderful white and crimson drawing room of the apartment in which I first had seen her. How much water had run under the bridge since then! I had not dreamed in those days when I so foolishly feared her friendship with my husband that I would now be attempting to bridge the gap between her and the young daughter who in that old time had been lost to her.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

The Bridesmaids' Attire

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
Who should choose the gowns that are to be worn by the bridesmaids? PUZZLED.

THE bride. The bride chooses every detail of the costumes of her attendants, and it is the duty of each attendant to see that every detail is carried out as the bride has planned it.

The Morning Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
What is the proper attire for the groom, best man and ushers at a morning wedding?

IF it is a formal wedding—that is, if the bride is wearing the conventional white bridal dress and wedding veil—the gentlemen of the party wear formal clothes, too, cutaway coats and dark striped trousers.

Invite Him

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
You have been such a wonderful source of help to others, I wonder if I could turn the source in my direction for just a moment?

My difficulty is this: Mother and Dad and I know a nice boy, highly reputable for all things. My parents have spoken several times with him on the street (not yet in the home) and I once, only a few words. Now my class is giving a graduation dance and I have no escort. I thought of him but was not sure if it would be proper for me to invite him. Will it be proper for me to do so?
M. P.

YES, I think it would be. He certainly is highly recommended, and I am sure that he would love to go. Write the invitation—don't give a verbal invitation for this kind of occasion, for the young man should have an easy chance to "regret" the invitation if he wishes to.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, March 8

THE sidereal operations for this day are rather neutral in force, betokening a day of routine performance, exception in the matter of correspondence, writings and literary avocations generally. But these may have more of the personal or cultural tone. There may be small anxieties, some irritability and a decided tendency to speculation, extravagance and self-indulgence. Moneys should not be thus jeopardized.

Those whose birthday it is may have a rather routine year, with affairs largely carried on through correspondence or writings. Small anxieties and delays are shown, and there will be leaning toward impetuosity, ill-temper, extravagance and rash use of money.

A child born on this day may be talented, with a flair for literary pursuits, but may be inclined to self-indulgence and extravagance. It may have fair success in employment.

Experience is the successive disenchantment of the things of life.

Thrift is Certain to Pay Rich Dividends
by
Frank J. Chesterman

TO the individual, thrift means insurance against the financial difficulties of the future, a commendable self respect born of a sense of security, and, growing out of that self respect, a keener interest in the welfare and progress of his neighborhood and his community.

Thrift, then, can be said to produce economic safety for the individual and a stimulation of his interest in the material, artistic, educational, religious and cultural advancement of the city or town in which he lives.

And by thrift I do not mean penuriousness, which starves the soul of a man and impedes the proper economic welfare of all with whom he comes in contact. Thrift, on the other hand, is both an admirable virtue and a common sense habit which sooner or later is certain to pay rich dividends.

Mr. Frank J. Chesterman was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1905 with the degree of Electrical Engineer and a conviction that the telephone business offered a real opportunity for individual effort. In July of the same year he entered the employ of the A. T. & T. Co. in Boston.

After a succession of advancements which included service with the Engineering Department of the New York Telephone Co., Division Plant Superintendent of the Central Division, and Chief Engineer of the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, Mr. Chesterman was made vice-president of the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania with headquarters in Pittsburgh, which position he now holds.

"I'LL SAY THAT KONJOLA IS THE MASTER MEDICINE"

Super-Remedy Came to the Rescue When Hope Had Been Abandoned; Stomach Trouble Quickly Ended.

If you have suffered for years; if a complication of diseases make life miserable, do not lose hope, for Konjola, the new and totally different medicine, is at hand with a remarkable record of successes over the most obstinate and chronic cases.

MR. J. P. DAVIDSON

Konjola bases its astounding success not on promises nor claims, but on a bed-rock foundation of accomplishments and results—and it is results that every sufferer wants. The Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, is pointing out facts that are more vital to all who suffer than any number of promises that could be made. This master compound of 32 ingredients—22 of them the juices from roots and herbs of known medicinal value—is winning new friends and fame daily simply for what it does; not what it promises to do. Medicines, like men, are known for their deeds. After all, results are what count, and this amazing Konjola can be counted on for results. Let us take, for instance, the case of Mr. J. P. Davidson, 421 Arch street, North Side, Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"I'll say that Konjola is the master medicine, because it benefited me after I tried everything and failed to gain the slightest relief. For five years before I started on this medicine I suffered intensely from stomach trouble. In fact, it was so disordered that I feared to eat a meal. I knew that the food would not digest, but formed a heavy mass in my stomach—torturing me beyond imagination. No matter how tempting the meals were, the nauseating sensation was ever present. Sluggishness of my liver added greatly to my suffering. I felt completely tired and worn-out, having no ambition or energy.

"One day I read of Konjola's remarkable victories in cases stubborn as mine. I decided to take one last chance for betterment. From the very first dose I knew that at last I had found the conqueror of my ailments. I responded immediately to the treatment. My system was cleansed and strengthened; my organs were regulated and invigorated. Slowly but surely my appetite was restored and the indigestion banished. I seemed to be hungry all the time and even the heaviest foods digested perfectly. I gained in weight and strength—greater energy and ambition is mine. My liver is functioning perfectly and I owe all my new health to Konjola—it is indeed the master medicine. Does anyone wonder why I publicly praise it?"

The files of this medicine are brimming over with the glad, happy endorsements like that of Mr. Davidson. Daily this medicine is adding to its fame and friends. Konjola presents an opportunity to regain your lost health—avail yourself, for Konjola knows not the word defeat.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn avenue and Sixth street, this city, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

Penn. Mother Proves Claim

Children don't ordinarily take to medicines but here's one that all of them love. Perhaps it shouldn't be called a medicine at all. It's more like a rich, concentrated food. It's pure, wholesome, sweet to the taste and sweet in your child's little stomach. It builds up and strengthens weak, puny, underweight children, makes them eat heartily, brings the roses back to their cheeks, makes them playful, energetic, full of life. And no bilious, headachy, constipated, feverish, fretful baby or child ever failed to respond to the gentle influence of California Fig Syrup on their little bowels. It starts lazy bowels quick, cleans them out thoroughly, tones and strengthens them so they continue to act normally of their own accord.

Millions of mothers know about California Fig Syrup from experience. A Pennsylvania mother, Mrs. Mary Nye, 231 South Ithan St., Philadelphia, says: "California Fig Syrup is certainly all that's claimed for it. I have proved that with my little Doris. She was a bottle baby and very delicate. Her bowels were weak. I started her on Fig Syrup when she was a few months old and it regulated her quick. I have used it with her ever since for colds and every little set-back and her wonderful condition tells better than words how it helps."

Don't be imposed on. See that the Fig Syrup you buy bears the name "California" so you'll get the genuine, famous for 50 years.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

BURIED AT NIGHT

By EMMA GARY WALLACE

IT was good to be at the edge of the forest alone, even though night was approaching. The sharper sounds of the day had softened, and many of them were hushed.

Birds' songs now became but occasional and plaintive, sleepy little calls. The droning of insects had given place to the gentle fluttering swish of moths and fireflies out for a busy evening. The humming of the mosquitoes was not so pleasant, but they were there and their presence must be endured.

In the distance a dog barked and somewhere a rooster crowed. It was probably old Topknot who was fond of perching in the apple tree outside of our living room window. When the light from the evening lamp penetrated the foliage of Topknot's perch, he always seemed to think that it was the coming of dawn, and promptly sent out a bugle-lie greeting to what he must have thought in his rooster mind, was the approach of another day.

There was little popping sounds in the trees—perhaps of bursting buds and growing leaves. A light breeze sprang up making a branch creak here and there, and causing the pine trees to whisper to each other.

All at once a pistol shot rang out. There was a sharp cry as of pain—an exclamation of horror, the confused murmur of voices, and the sound of a woman sobbing.

It was quite dark now and instinctively I started to run from the place, but on second thought, I turned and plunged into the wood. Someone must be in trouble and I could not leave like a craven.

As I approached the direction from which the sound came, I heard a low, deep, gruff voice admonishing someone:

"Don't weaken now! Don't weaken now! We'll soon cover our tracks and be away from here! Hand me a shovel, Jim, and we'll dig a trench in this soft soil."

"Here it is, boss," returned a guardedly high-pitched, thin, whining voice, "and I reckon we better hurry."

The moaning ceased save for an occasional gasp, but I could still hear the low cry of the woman.

What chance would I stand with armed desperadoes who would not hesitate to protect themselves by bloodshed if need be!

Rather than betray my presence, I sank lightly to a mossy bank, scarcely daring to breathe. An impulse to sneeze seized me. That probably would be fatal, and firmly pressing a finger beneath my nostrils, I prevented it but a desire to cough took its place. I strangled the cough, my knees cramped, and when I straightened out, a couple of stones rolled and a dry branch broke.

"What's that?" demanded the gruff voice sharply.

I wondered if that group just beyond could not hear my heart beating. I tried not to breathe—audibly at least.

In a minute the creatures of the darkness went on with their work, and the "thud, thud" of falling earth, the clink of the metal shovel, the crackle of twigs, and a new sound of tools against metal told me of the presence of several people near, and especially of a fourth party at work on something. A buzz and the grating of gears explained the presence of some sort of a car—doubtless the one in which the gangsters had arrived.

"Make the grave wide and deep," instructed the deep, hoarse, leader-voice, "and when we cover it up, no one will ever look here for Nancy—and a few rains will cover all traces."

"There," remarked the thin, high-pitched voice at last, "that's done—and a good night's work it is. Now old Col. Jones will come arcoss with his cash or do wuss! He'll never lay eyes on Nance again!"

"But it hardly seems fair to poor Nancy," burst out the woman quavering, querulous tones. "She has been so good and faithful and kind and I'll always feel that I betrayed her to her death—sort o' like Judas Iscariot!" the woman sobbed anew.

"That's all right," chirruped someone who hadn't spoken before. It must have been the "someone" at work on the car, for the clink of the tools stopped at this moment. "But you know as well as I do," went on this speaker, "that the old colonel is so stingy he would never buy an automobile for the family if we didn't make way with this old hoss! She hasn't any teeth any way, and she has the heaves, and her time has come!"

"And I never would have taken part in it or had anything to do with it," wailed the woman's voice, "if Mrs. Jones hadn't said to me:

"Now, Susie, you lead old Nance out just at dusk from the pasture. Take her down the lane into the wood road and into the woods. My nephew, Dan Ross, will come up on the other side near the sugar shanty. He's to bring your own brother Jake and Mose Ames along with him in his car, and old Nancy will be shot and buried and no thanks to anybody. Then with no way to get back and forth to town, the Colonel will just have to loosen up his purse strings and buy an automobile."

"That's what Mrs. Jones said to me, but I feel it a terrible thing to have killed Nancy."

I grinned in the soft, fragrant darkness and breathed easy again. Everybody knew the old Colonel for a regular tightwad, and I didn't blame that young and pretty second missis of his for using her head a little.

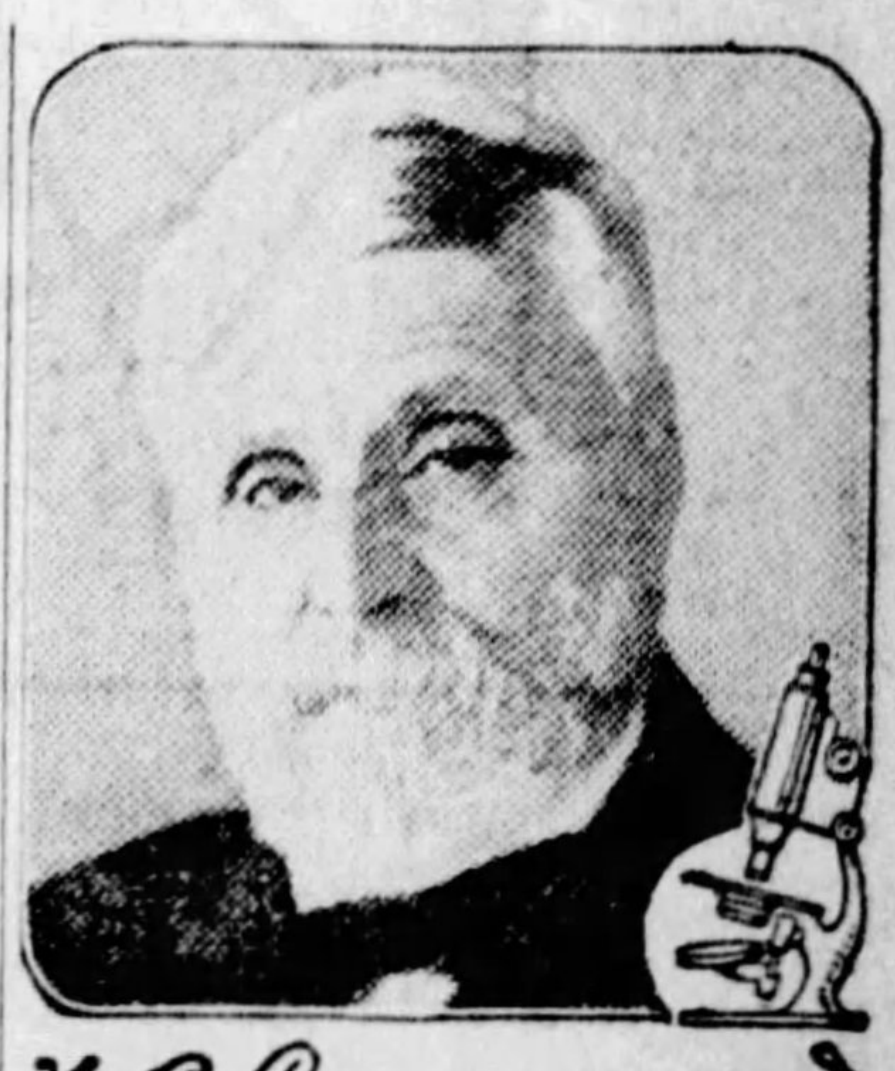
Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right



W. B. Caldwell MD
AT AGE 83

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Do give it a trial, to prove how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours.

Put a tablespoonful of this Hamburg Tea into a strainer, pour a cup of boiling water over it, and drink it at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and relieve grippe, as it heats the body and opens the bowels. This breaks up congestion and frees the body of poisons. Hamburg Breast Tea is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

SIDEWALKS is asked by a motorist to call attention to a defect in the otherwise splendid Liberty Tubes which cut through Mt. Washington to furnish quick passage to Beechview, Dormont, Mt. Lebanon and other important centers in the South Hills.

Generally agreed that this is one of the finest improvements made, the motorist in question suggests that but one thing remains to make the improvement entirely ideal and that is to furnish better lighting in the tubes. He points out that the shorter Armstrong Tubes, running from the South Tenth Street Bridge to Forbes street, is well-lighted, but that the long stretch through the hill that makes Mt. Washington, has a plentiful lack of electric lights.

The fact that motorists turn on their lights does not solve this problem as the myriad lights coming in the rush hour confuses rather than solves the problem. It is my friend's contention that there should be enough lights in the tubes to do away with vehicular lamps.

An added danger is that wagons, unequipped in the daytime with lanterns, sometimes are drawn through the tubes and in the shadows they are hard to distinguish. Another objection is that motorists suddenly leave daylight to be plunged into the darkness of the tubes and the contrast is a strain on all but marvelous eyes.

BETTER LIGHTS FOR LIBERTY TUBES
AH !

If you've never dashed through the Liberty Tubes during either the morning or the evening rush hours you're in for a new adventure. Motorists who must get home in the shortest possible time go through the tubes in a veritable frenzy, blowing raucous horns, jamming on squeaking brakes—sounds which are accentuated within the tubes.

City Council and the county authorities would make a considerable hit with the automobile public of the South Hills if more lights were installed in the tubes.

"Better Lighting for the Liberty Tubes," is one of the planks in Sidewalks' platform.

IN THE course of a day the police department of any large city is called upon to perform many tasks that are not strictly within the code. There may be a cat suspended on a telephone wire. A dog, struck by an automobile, needs service. Mrs. Jones wants to know if something can't be done about the ice on Mrs. Smith's pavements, next door. Why is Mrs. Brown allowed to live with no house number on her door?

There came a letter the other day from J. K. Murphy, 429 Arch street, Cincinnati, who had a reasonable complaint, and in reproducing the letter I am hopeful that no agent of the local Tongs gets hold of it. The letter, in brief, states that Mr. Murphy recently left some collars and shirts to be tidied up in an East End laundry operated by a follower of Confucius. Mr. Murphy called for his laundry, but the laundryman was out. Mr. Murphy could not wait as he must make a train to Cincinnati. Once in Cincinnati Mr. Murphy wrote in vain to the laundryman. Would the police make a call on John Chinaman and suggest that a man with a checkee deserves his laundry?

The railways company has gone in for bigger signs to teach etiquette and the law to passengers. On what we billposters refer to as a card the size of a one-sheet, passengers are loudly requested not to expectorate in the cars. Long has the company made this request. It is in the main a useless effort. People who violate that code certainly will not be moved by a mere sign; people who do not violate the code find the warning almost as objectionable as the practice.

One conductor of long standing solved the problem for himself by carrying a cuspidor to his fare box, but there was some objection and now he must bother himself to open the doors.

In applying the paddle to the trousers of the railways company I want the company to know it hurts me as much as it doeos them—if at all.

BOAT BATTLER CONVICTED

Louis Springer, who barricaded himself in his houseboat near Sewickley last November 21, was convicted of felonious assault and battery by a jury in Criminal Court today.

As the jury retired to deliberate, Visiting Judge Watson R. Davison directed them to acquit his wife, Margaret, in compliance with a motion by the prosecution counsel.

In the battle which followed Springer's defiance of constables who came to arrest him, he was seriously wounded by the score of constables and police who surrounded the houseboat. Two constables were wounded.

Man Selling Jobs In Oil Firm Fined

Jack Moore, 26, who, so sleuths charged, represented himself as a brother of Harry Sinclair, the oil magnate, and sold jobs in Sinclair's companies for $24, was fined $25 on a suspicious person charge for operating in the Fort Pitt Hotel, by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Morals Court today.

Moore told applicants that the oil salesmen must all be bonded; he then proceeded to sell fake personal bonds for $24, detectives charged.

Bandits in Millvale Hold Up Chain Store

LIBERTY AVE. PARKING BAN HELD UP AFTER HEARING

After hearing sponsors and opponents of a regulation prohibiting automobile parking on both sides of Liberty avenue, between Barker way and Seventh avenue from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m., Council yesterday delayed action on the ordinance.

Opponents declared that the elimination of parking caused a considerable loss in business by driving prospective customers to other sections of the city. Attorney M. B Lesher appeared for the objectors.

Sponsors of the no-parking law said that street cars, which brought to the shopping district many more customers than automobiles, would be taken off Liberty avenue if automobiles were allowed to park.

Spokesmen for the no-parking ordinance were A. H. Burchfield, F. W. McCullough, Frank L. Duggan, of the Better Traffic Committee, and Ben R. Marshall, inspector of traffic, Bureau of Police.

AIRPLANES WILL BE BUILT HERE

Pittsburgh will have an airplane factory immediately.

The Thaden, all-metal, four-passenger plane, powered with a 150-horsepower motor, will be manufactured here as soon as a temporary factory building can be found.

This announcement was made today by Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, which has acquired control of the planes and designs of H. V. Thaden Corporation, of San Francisco.

The present model of the Thaden plane wil be on display next week at the aircraft show, which opens Saturday in Motor Square Garden.

While costs and production cannot yet be estimated, officials of Pittsburgh Aviation Industries expect to bring hundreds of men here to work in the Thaden plant.

While officials of the Pittsburgh concern would make no statement, they indicated that the plane will sell for less than $8,000, which is several thousand dollars under the cost of planes of this type now on

Officers of the manufacturing company, now in process of organization, will include H. V. Thaden, designer, and several of his engineers. Mr. Thaden, a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, formerly was associated with the airplane division of the Ford Motor Company.

MISSING MAN FOUND IN JAIL

Hunted by his family for three weeks, Leo A. Darr, of Vista street, Etna, was found today—a prisoner in the county jail. He is under arrest on charges of forgery and false pretense.

Four children and an anxious mother in dire need had conducted a vain search for Darr since he vanished from his home three weeks ago. Unable to pay their rent they had been forced to give up their home and go and live with a brother of Mrs. Darr. But it seems that detectives had been looking for Darr, too, on several complaints that he had forged checks and yesterday one saw him and nabbed him in an East Liberty street.

22-Passenger Plane Due at Bettis Field

A monoplane with a wingspread of 90 feet and capacity for 22 passengers, built by Vincent Buranelli, airplane designer, was expected to arrive at Bettis Field today. It will be flown on sightseeing trips. Lieut. Leigh Wade, round-the-world flier, will pilot it.

Stops Breathing Three Times Still Lives

Condition of an unidentified man, about 35, believed to be suffering from alcoholism and who three times stopped breathing last night while medical aid was being administered in the Allegheny General Hospital, was reported as serious today.

Each time breathing ceased, Dr. L. C. Madison restored respiration by pumping oxygen into the man's lungs. The man was found lying at Anderson and North Canal streets by Frank Miller, of 1705 East street, who, with aid of pedestrians, removed him to the hospital.

FATHER DOYLE OBSERVES 50TH YEAR IN PRIESTHOOD

The Rev. James Francis Doyle, pastor of St. Kieran's Church, Carnegie avenue, Lawrenceville, was the guest of honor today at a banquet, when 150 priests of the Pittsburgh diocese joined him in celebrating his fiftieth anniversary in the priesthood. The Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of the diocese, spoke.

Preceding the banquet, solemn high mass was sung in St. Kieran's, and a cablegram conferring the blessing of Pope Pius XI upon Father Doyle and his parish was read.

On the eve of the anniversary, 1,000 friends and parishioners of Father Doyle last night attended a public reception in his honor. Parishioners presented their pastor with a purse today.

Father Doyle was born in County Wexford, Ireland, and was educated in Irish public schools, at St. Michael's Seminary, Glenwood, and at St. Vincent's Seminary, Latrobe. He was ordained March 7, 1879, in St. Paul's Cathedral here by Bishop John Tuigg, and was appointed pastor of St. Kieran's in 1898.

PURSE STEALER FINED $25

Gus Whitman, 24, taxicab driver, of 216 Beech avenue, North Side, was fined $25 in Frankstown Avenue Police Station by Magistrate William J. Soost today for stealing a pocketbook from an automobile parked at Alder street and South Highland avenue.

The purse belonged to Miss Betty Robertson, 19, of Carnegie, a student at the Pennsylvania College for Women. With her brother, William, 16, she parked her car to enter a restaurant. She called to her brother to bring the purse with him. He did not hear her, but Whitman, standing nearby, did, he told police. After his arrest in an East End taxicab garage, Whitman returned $7 and told police where he tossed the empty purse.

Warrants Issued For Youthful Newlyweds

Warrants were issued today by Magistrate A. D. Brandon, of Morals Court, for Earl Shumack, 21, of South Eighteenth street, and his bride, who was Mable Petrini, 15, of 5202 Second avenue, rear, newlyweds, who married Tuesday after the girl ran away from home.

Mrs. Mary Garlack, the girl's mother, charges her with incorrigibility, and Shumack with enticing a minor. Missing Persons Bureau operatives told Brandon they learned the couple had procured a marriage license Tuesday and that they were married a short time later by Alderman George Anderson.

WIDOW AID BILL MEETS DELAY

While 1,900 widowed mothers and their 6,000 children, all in destitute circumstances, are held on the waiting lists of mothers' assistance fund trustees of various Pennsylvania counties, a bill for their relief was sidetracked before it reached the Legislature at Harrisburg yesterday.

The bill, framed at the instance of the Mothers' Pension League of Allegheny County, was in the hands of the State Department of Welfare and was scheduled to be presented by Senator Frank J. Harris. At the last minute, opponents of an increase in mothers' assistance in Philadelphia County raised a question as to the constitutionality of the bill, and their delay in communicating their contention to the attorney general's department is declared to have been the cause of preventing it from reaching Senator Harris.

According to word from Harrisburg today, the action of the Philadelphia opponents was a mere subterfuge to hold up the bill.

After the Senate had adjourned yesterday, the missing bill turned up and it was declared by the welfare department and at the office of the attorney general that it violated no clauses of the constitution.

FISHER'S POLICE PLAN OPPOSED

The Pittsburgh branch of the American Civil Liberties Union, opposing the coal and iron police bill which Gov. John S. Fisher is prepared to offer to the Legislature within a few days, last night sent Gov. Fisher this message:

"Press reports indicate that your bill would limit coal police jurisdiction to company property and to a reasonable distance therefrom. We call your attention to the Borkoski outrage, which occurred on company property, and would not have been affected by the limitations of jurisdiction you are reported to have suggested. Western Pennsylvania will not be satisfied unless jurisdiction is limited to 500 feet from mine tipple or pit mouth, and, moreover, it is imperative that officers furnish bond in large amount to secure the people against unlawful conduct."

Frederick E. Woltman, secretary of the branch, announced that branches here, in Erie, Philadelphia, Altoona and Johnstown would meet tonight to whip up support for the bill of Representative A. M. Musmanno, which would limit jurisdiction to within 500 feet of the mine tipple.

"Little Party" Host Fined, Guests Freed

"It was just a private little party," H. H. Phillips, whose house at 236 Semple street, Oakland, was raided early today, explained in Morals Court. Ten men and six women were arrested and police reported finding beer, whisky, gin, punchboards and beer labels.

Phillips, charged with keeping a disorderly house, was fined $50. The four men and one woman who appeared for hearing were discharged. The forfeits of the others were taken by the city.

Robbers Steal Copper

The loot of the robbers who broke into H. A. Link's tin shop at 1055 Evergreen avenue, Millvale, last night was copper nails and sheets valued at $200.

Missing Girl, 17, Stage Struck, Arrested

Anna Colaizzi, 17, who disappeared from her home at 7229 Lemington avenue, East Liberty, with stage ambitions and $75, was in the hands of the law today, having been arrested last night in a downtown hotel.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Mary Colaizzi, testified that before Anna ran away she had borrowed $75 from two neighbors, using her mother's name.

Anna said she wanted to star on the stage and that, during her absence, she had met a theater magnate who was interested in putting her name in Broadway's electric lights.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, March 7.

Coolidge served his state, town, country and nation 25 years. And returned home to a rented house. Not even a car. What would have happened if he had come from a western state and returned to his home? His state Legislature would have bought him a home. His townspeople would have got him a series of cars.

Why, in Oklahoma, even when a governor can return from the state capital without being impeached, we present him with at least a county.

But up in Northampton, he got nothing but wet. Suppose Wall Street paid him what they owed him?

Yours, WILL.

Well, that's what he gets for returning to a Democratic stronghold.

Felicia Goes on Gay Party With Peg Hodge and Her College Chums

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Dick Stuyvesant and Felicia Brett, both in Reno for divorce, meet and fall in love with each other. With Dick at the hotel is a bachelor friend, John Berkeley, usually called J. B. Felicia, with her 6-year-old son, is visiting the Hodges, old friends from the East, now permanent residents of Reno. Her husband, Alexander Brett, comes to Reno and on her refusal to return to him, threatens to take little Alex away from her. He hires detectives to watch Felicia and has two gunmen kidnap the boy. The boy is rescued by an odd character known as the Desert Rat and restored to Dick and J. B., who are out looking for him with a member of the state police. From the report of his private detective, Brett learns that the Rat was once a prosperous broker, Stephen Pierce. Brett recognizes the name and laughs exultantly. With the failure of the kidnaping attempt and no more visits from Brett, Felicia believes that her husband has abandoned his opposition. Dick notices a change in her, an interest in Reno festivities, that makes him anxious. He has to go away on a business trip, but wishes that he did not have to leave her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVI.

DICK was going deep into the mountains to inspect a semi-precious stone claim in which Sam Lanier had interested him. If the claim lived up to the boasts Sam made about it, Dick proposed to finance its purchase and development. Sam and Dick were to drive as far toward the claim as they could, then hike the rest of the way through the high passes across the backbone of the range.

They stopped in front of the Hodges for a last goodby to Felicia. She and Dick shook hands gravely. Wise applicants for divorce do not kiss publicly in Reno.

"Oh, Dick—" Her eyes dwelt on his face.

"Be good, Felicia."

"Darling!" she whispered—and he was gone.

Only three days, he promised—four at the most—yet at the moment it seemed unendurable. Ann was out, and Felicia went upstairs in search of her son. But he, too, was off somewhere, playing exciting games or listening eagerly to the thrilling tales of the Desert Rat.

As she sat, disinterestedly turning the pages of a magazine in the living room, the thought of the hundreds of other women who came to this city in search of divorce Women, unlike herself, who were without friends, without protection. Small wonder that they acted as they did, she thought. She recalled a sound she had heard that afternoon, through some open window of apartment or hotel—the dry sobbing of a woman. . . .

The solitude was getting on her nerves; she rose irritably, seized her hat and got out her car—the car she had used so little, since Dick had his. Out the Mount Rose road, winding through the flat desert, where sagebrush, pungent to her nostrils, seemed to move in the breeze like lazy sheep, abruptly she came upon a flock of real sheep, great thousands of them, and for more than an hour she drove through the miles of bleating herds before she turned back.

A quiet evening at home—Peg was out with friends from the university, Ann yawned; then Dr. Tom.

"Please don't sit up with me," Felicia begged them. "I think I'll read for a while . . ."

She must have fallen asleep over her book; she awakened with a start and looked up to see Peg peering at her from the threshold, a self-conscious little grin on her brown young face.

"Hello!" Felicia greeted her, and glanced across the room at the clock.

Half past three! She had slept. . .

"Howz a girl?" Peg inquired.

Felicia stared at her. "Peg Hodge, you've been drinking!" she accused.

Peg giggled. "What if I have?"

"Oh, Peggy!" Felicia looked at her, helplessly. "What would your mother say?"

"Probably plenty." The alliteration amused her. "P-probably p-plenty!" she repeated. Then her smile faded. "I don't see where you get off, though, criticizin' me!"

"What do you mean, Peg?"

Peg shrugged, yanked the scarlet tam from her bobbed head and tossed it across the room. "Well—you're about to become a divorcee, aren't you?"

Felicia drew herself up, trying to take advantage of her seven years seniority. "Really, Peg, you're rather silly, don't you think?"

"You're silly!" Peg retorted. "Course, I've got to hand it to you that you picked off the handsomest man in Reno and wrote your initials on him—but then why pull this morality stuff? It doesn't smoke and it doesn't drink and it doesn't go to those naughty road houses!" She made a face at the older girl. "Don't expect me to believe that yellow roadster hasn't seen some pretty hot pettin', Felicia!"

Peg yawned. "And how!" she murmured, unperturbed. "Only trouble with you, F'licia, is you're an old-fashioned hypocrite."

Felicia was furious. Old-fashioned! Hypocrite! The words she had flung at Brett!

Curiosity vanquished her anger. Did Peg look on her as an old woman? Well . . as a middle-aged one? She thought of Dick, of the flame of his kisses . . .

"You and your little college boys!" she said, contemptuously.

"Yeah?" Peg continued to smile. "Don't kid yourself, Felicia. They're not so damp!"

"You'd have to prove that!" They were quarreling, like two girls."

Pegg nodded her head. "I can prove it! Fact, Billy Blair—the sheik we had lunch with the day after you got here—is just pining to prove it! C'mon and step out with us tomorrow afternoon." Her eyes danced. "'Gosh, they talk about the speed of the colony. They're slow freight compared to the university gang!"

They climbed the stairs together, shoes in hand, so that they might not rouse the elder Hodges. Felicia felt like a youngster again. Not again! She had never been a youngster, really, never done any of these wild, crazy things that 19-year-old Peg took so calmly for granted.

She leaned over and kissed little Alex as he slept, but her thoughts were not of him. As she flung open her window, the distant mountain rose, starkly silhouetted against the night sky. Dick Stuyvesant was beyond those mountains—but at that moment Felicia was not even thinking of Dick.

She looked out at the stars and laughed softly to herself. She had never had youth, never had gaiety. From a serious childhood she had stepped into the even more serious role of being Mrs. Alexander Brett! But this was Reno, this town over which the stars hung so low and so bright! Reno, and she was here for her freedom! She might "step out" just a little. She would with Peg.

She was ready, exquisitely dressed in a yellow linen frock that looked like nothing at all at first glance, but had an air that only Paris can give, when Peg came home from the university the next day. Drawn up to the curb, where Dick's roadster had so often parked, was a red roadster, a boy at the wheel and a boy in the rumble seat.

"We're on our way!" Peg announced gaily. "Thought we'd go out to Galena Creek and see if it's still there!"

Felicia was pulling a little violet hat down over her fair hair; its deep color made her blue eyes shaded, mysterious.

"Is that hat a wow? Baby?" Billy Blair, in the rumble seat, eyed Felicia admiringly. "Gonna sit back here with an old man?"

Felicia smiled at him. "I'll risk it," she said.

They sped through the town, out over the highway.

Billy Blair was not one to waste time. He put a firm arm about Felicia and drew her closer to him.

"How 'bout the least little touch of liquid refreshment?" he suggested.

Felicia, not knowing exactly what else to do, smiled again, and Billy pulled from his pocket a shiny flask, which he offered to her with a mock-gallant gesture.

She took it in her hand and looked at it thoughtfully for a moment. "What is it?" she asked.

"Rye."

Rye? That was whisky, Felicia knew. But what it tasted like! . . . She hesitated . . . This was wrong, wicked . . . oh, well . . . She raised the flask. . . .

Polly Gripped With Fear When She Sees Keith's Wife Act Suspicious

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Polly Carter graduates from college with what she believes to be a world of worldliness. She is tired of shocking older people and looks forward to a dull visit with her old-fashioned parents. Startled to find her mother appearing younger and more beautiful, Polly investigates. She discovers her mother in the arms of her father's law partner. Although shocked beyond measure, Polly hesitates to inform her father of this clandestine affair as he is devoting his entire time to business and civic committees. Polly's mother becoming aware of her daughter's knowledge decides to have a show-down.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IV.

THE sight of Polly sprawled prone across the bed frightened her guilty mother as much as the knowledge of her presence frightened Polly.

Old instinct drove her across the room with a cry of fear:

"My darling, are you sick? Oh, my poor baby, why didn't you tell me you were home?"

Polly whirled round on one hip and one elbow and stared up through bleared eyes into her mother's hovering tenderness. Instantly all her rancor vanished and with it all her noble resolution. Instinct and habit overwhelmed meditation as usual.

Polly began to cry. Her mother gathered her into her arms and was gathered into Polly's arms. This reassured Mrs. Carter enough for her to falter:

"Didn't you know I was home?"

And Polly shook her head. It was a lie, but she was incapable of the cup of bitterness it would have been to admit what she knew.

"Why did you leave the theater, honey? You didn't quarrel with Bob, did you?"

Anything to postpone the ordeal was welcome and Polly had made such a convenience of Bob that she found him handy once more. She nodded her head violently.

"What did he do? He didn't insult you, did he?"

"He didn't try to—to kiss you, did he?"

Kissing is always so terrible when somebody else does it that Mrs. Carter could hardly utter the evil word. Polly felt that her mother was a bit inconsistent, but she was too tired to fight tonight so she nodded again. It is always hard for people to say what they really think and feel. There is something indecent about it like stripping a soul to public nakedness.

Mrs. Carter was so glad to have someone else to berate beside herself that she spoke with all sharpness:

"I'll have your father speak to that young man——"

This was getting into such deep water that Polly pleaded:

"No, no, we mustn't drag poor papa into this—or you either—Bob just made me mad, that's all, and I taught him a lesson. He'll behave after this. Please let me manage him."

Her mother reluctantly consented to this, but insisted on helping her poor stricken dove to bed. Before she could be stopped she was taking off Polly's slippers and getting her nightgown out, turning down the covers, patting the pillows and being generally so angelic that Polly began to wonder if her eyes had not deceived her about that scene on the porch.

Then the sound of a key was heard in the front door and her mother gasped:

"Oh, dear, your poor father's home and I haven't laid out his slippers or anything. I must go warm some milk for him. It helps his sleep. He's so worried lately that he's been very restless. I've begged him to take a vacation, but he thinks he can't afford it. He can, of course, but those awful committees just wear him out. He's the only man in town that will do the stupid work and they put it on him till he's about ready to break. I'm awfully worried. You must try to cheer him up while you're here—if you can ever get to see him a minute. I never do."

Then she was gone, and Polly's heart went with her. Unconsciously her mother had made the ideal speech in her own defense. She had not bewailed her own sufferings; she had talked of her husband's. And while speaking of his labors, she had painted a picture of his neglect of her.

Polly was so exhausted that she could feel little more than how good it was to be stretched out in her own old bed with her father and mother puttering about on their way to theirs. And so she fell asleep, and slept late.

She woke in the morning and filled the bathroom with steam and song. After a long steeping of her very soul in hot water, she splashed cold water all over her strong lithe body and, it seemed, over her strong lithe soul, too.

For as she dressed, she found herself saying to herself:

"This can't go on. I can't live in a home where my mother betrays my father in the arms of his partner."

She felt herself superior to mere morals, but this was against all the laws of honest sport. It was what they called "making cheatie" and it had to be stopped. But how? But how? But how?

Like most daughters, Polly usually sided with her father in any disputes between him and her mother. She was all for her father now, and she went downstairs to give her mother a good before-breakfast lecture such as she had received from her mother in her earlier youth. But she simply could not get the first sentence spoken. She resolved to have her coffee first. She had her coffee and had to chase her mother out of her room where the poor soul was starting to do Polly's own police work.

Before that was finished her father telephoned that he could not come in for luncheon, and reminded his wife that there was to be a stag dinner of his political party that night and he could not get home even to dress—he had to arrange the table-cards and collect for the tickets.

This took away most of Polly's enthusiasm for fighting her father's battles. She had an inkling of the amount of neglect he was inflicting on her mother, not to speak of his daughter. She did not feel like picking on mamma today, but tried to entertain her through a slow afternoon and an evening that seemed an eternity.

The next day her father came home for luncheon and could talk of nothing but the Community Chest problems that were to be threshed out at a meeting that night.

Bob was still angry and nobody else called for Polly. The evening was ghastly.

On Sunday they all went to church, where papa made up some lost sleep to mamma's and Polly's immense humiliation and the keen amusement of various neighbors who thought he was drunk.

In the afternoon he played 18 holes of golf at the doctor's orders for his dear liver's sake, so he fell asleep at the dinner table. Mamma had to take off his shoes and steer him upstairs. Though he was teetotaller he was always having to be cared for as if he were the veriest sot.

Monday night he could not get home and Polly was so indignant that she could not think of him without anger. She had grown so close to her mother that she thought of her as a martyr. She was just about ready to advise her to get a divorce, but she knew that her mother considered almost any evil less than that—evidently she did or she would have sought one instead of trying to keep both a husband and a lover.

Yet one thing was certain, she no longer blamed her mother for looking elsewhere. For all papa amounted to, mamma might as well be on a desert island. She would be perfectly justified in running off and leaving papa. But she never would.

Well, then, if she was willing to stay home and take care of Papa and Papa wouldn't stay home and take care of her, she was justified in permitting any other likeable gentleman to entertain her while she waited.

Polly had gone pretty far by now from her emotions of the other night, that unlucky first night when the world shook under her feet at the discovery of her mother's interest in Walter Keith. Familiarity was breeding its usual contempt and Polly was growing hard and practical, almost as cynical and "modern" as she had thought she was. She was the newest of new women now, not only demanding for her sex all the rights to all the virtues and vices of the other sex, but revenge for their long denial.

Her only trouble was with Walter Keith. She did not trust him. He was not worthy of the priceless honor of her mother's dishonorable love. Something told her that he was a confirmed flirt and had a dozen others on his list. If her mother had to break the conventional rules, she must be saved from wasting herself on any dubious lover. Furthermore Keith had a white elephant of a wife already on his hands, and his own business interests made him neglect her mother almost as much as her father did. These men! These men! They were all a hopeless mess!

Finally, it was just a little too frightful that Mamma's best friend should be Papa's best friend, too, and his partner. That—well, really—that was—you know now—honestly—that wasn't—it was actually quite ghastly.

So after long and fretful cogitation, Polly decided to play at being a deity and rearrange the world to suit her a little better.

She simply must cleanse the house of Walter Keith's polluting presence. It would hurt her mother probably, but she would get over it. Other people can always get over things easily. When the wounds had healed Polly would help Mamma in her quest for somebody worth going to perdition for, if she simply had too go to perdition.

Polly had not failed, of course, to consider the matter of converting her father to his senses. She had seen how sweet it would be to reopen his eyes to Mamma's real charms and persuade him to love her and woo her once more as he used to. Then home would be again an honest, beautiful place—a Paradise regained.

But every time Papa came home and gave her one of those curry-comb kisses of his and began to put her to sleep with his talk of municipal problems and club politics, she realized that as a lover and a suitor Papa had evidently gone completely out of business. She tried her best to imagine him playing the cave man with Mamma or working up clinches in the moonlight, and disrespectful and dismal as it was, she had to laugh it off as impossible.

Even in fiction the slushiest novelists had been compelled to abandon such happy endings. They had gone out with hoopskirts and bustles and false hair and other big bluffs that concealed the plain truth. She didn't think so much of Walter Keith, either, as a lover. He was unworthy of her unworthy mother. But getting him out of the way was not going to be so easy, without either her mother's or her father's knowing that she had been the one to accomplish it.

She had grown too maternally fond of her mother, too eager for her happiness to crush her with the scheme of discovering what her daughter had discovered.

Polly foresaw that she had a dangerous man to deal with in Walter Keith.

What her mother really needed and deserved was some handsome, wealthy and brilliant millionaire who would take her out of this stodgy town to far places where she could have the love and luxury that her poor soul had never known. Where to find such a man was so far beyond even her young fancy that she postponed that phase of her task.

When Tuesday night came round again, the Keiths came round again. Polly sat in a corner of the room reading and slyly studying Walter Keith. Suddenly Polly had an unaccountable feeling that Mrs. Keith was watching her husband, too, and also Polly's mother.

There was something in the old woman's heavy sleepy eyes that was not quite sincere and a little ominous. But Polly dismissed the notion as silly and found it so tiresome to sit and watch the four solemn gamesters and listen to their rare and dull remarks that she finally made an excuse of weariness and went up to her room.

She left her door open in the fear—or perhaps the hope—that something might happen. The people downstairs had always been The People Upstairs to her young mind, the good people, the wise elders. Then she had come to think of them as very old but not very wise, prudes and bigots who had forgotten their own youths and knew nothing of love or flirtation—they were not wicked because they had lost the power to be. Now she had broken through the barrier and had found that old people were just as immoral and deceitful as young people, and just as much in need of help and guidance. Here she was sitting up and worrying over her mother as her mother had sat up worrying over her. Her reverie was broken by the voice of Walter Keith:

"I'm hungry. How about one of those famous tomato sandwiches of yours, Mary?"

"All right, I'll make some," her mother said, and her father spoke up:

"And I'll have a little nap here in my chair," said Mrs. Keith. "Walter, you go help Mary."

Polly heard nothing more and the silence irked her. She supposed that her mother and Walter Keith were making love in the pantry. Her horror had lost its edge. She smiled at it tolerantly as at an old story.

Her father, her poor blind bat of a father, was writing envelopes for his club while his household went to pieces. And Mrs. Keith slept fatly on.

You could hardly blame Walter Keith for turning away from her. Polly felt a need for looking on the old woman again—perhaps as a justification for her own astounding indifference.

Her soft mules made no sound as she went to the head of the stairs and peeked into the living room.

There sat Mrs. Keith, a mattress in more or less human form. Her serial chins were collapsed upon the captive balloons of her bosom and her eyelids were glued together.

As Polly stared at her with all the derision of the slim and young for the ancient adipose, she thought she saw one fat eye open. It closed.

Then both eyes opened, looked about with the hard malice of a parrot's eyes. Parrot-wise she craned what neck she had and peered every which way. She set her hands on the arms of her chair as if she would rise.

Polly watched her with clammy fear. Suddenly she got to her feet with difficulty. She started to move around the table with a burly stealth.

In her eyes there was a look of such vindicitive ferocity that her heavy features could neither express it nor conceal it.

KEEP STOMACH YOUNG!

Eat What You Want

When the food you eat goes into your acid-soaked stomach, it sours and can't digest, makes foul gas and sour bile. The blood takes these poisonous acids and carries them through the body. Naturally it makes you miserable and despondent, because your system is not nourished—you lose weight.

Pape's Diapepsin dissolves the acids and sweetens the stomach. It digests the food; no more sour bile is taken up by the blood. Your appetite is like a youngster's again, and gradually you get back your health, flesh and energy.

Chew a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin after meals. It tastes good, and relieves the misery of indigestion in five minutes. It will keep your stomach young and vigorous so you can eat anything you want without being afraid of the consequences.

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Craigie McKay Marries Noted Polo Player in Gotham Hotel

WEDDINGS of interest to Pittsburghers but taking place in other cities hold our attention today. Of foremost importance, of course, is Craigie McKay's marriage to A. Charles Schwartz, set for 4 o'clock this afternoon in the rose ballroom of the Hotel Plaza, New York, where Mr. Schwartz's mother, Mrs. Moses Schwartz, and his sisters live. The officiating clergyman, I understand, is the Rev. R. H. Brooks, of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, Fifth avenue.

Smilax, cibotium ferns and Easter lilies, combine to form an effective background for the ceremony, and against this a small altar has been placed. Craigie's wedding gown is of white satin trimmed with old lace, and she is wearing a long lace veil. Her flowers, I believe, are white orchids. As I told you before, there are no bridal attendants, and because the McKay family has been in mourning, the wedding is very quiet. A small reception for the two families will be held after the service.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert McKay, of "Oakhill," Amberson avenue, Craigie's parents, and her brother and his wife, the James McKays, of Kinsman road, were the only local folks who went on for the wedding, while her sister, Mrs. Benjamin B. McAlpin, Jr., of Greenwich, Conn., the former Alberta McKay, and her husband, also were there. Mrs. McAlpin, by the way, wore a simple afternoon frock of blue.

Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz are going to sail tomorrow on the Berengaria for Liverpool, getting there in time to attend the Grand National in England, in which Mr. Schwartz, I believe, has several horses entered.

There is no need in my telling you anything more about the attractive Craigie. She is a member of the Junior League here, and ever since her debut she has been one of the most popular members of our younger group. Mr. Schwartz's people came originally from Louisville, Ky., moving to New York when Mr. Schwartz was just a boy. He is, you know, a noted polo player, and is well known on the turf as the owner of the jumper Jack Horner, which won the Grand National in 1926.

GOTHAM will also be the scene of a wedding a little later in the spring which is interesting to Pittsburghers largely because a local girl will be in the bridal party. This is the wedding of Elizabeth Marye Winchester, daughter of the Eugene Winchesters, of Park avenue, New York, and Randolph Brandt, Jr., of Buffalo, N. Y., which is set for Saturday afternoon, April 20, at 4 o'clock in St. Bartholomew's Chapel. The Rev. Dr. Clifton Macon, assistant rector, will perform the ceremony, which will be followed by a reception at Sherry's.

Elizabeth Boyd, of Pittsburgh, will be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding, and the others will be Ruth Rickaby, Lebourdais Scully, Mrs. Otto B. Reimer and Mrs. Charles K. Clisby, of New York. Matilda P. Fowler, of Elizabeth, N. J., is to be maid of honor, and the flower girls will be two young nieces of the bridegroom, Bettie Louise Rankin, daughter of Commander and Mrs. John Rankin, of Newport, R. I., and Barbara Brandt, daughter of Commander and Mrs. E. S. R. Brandt, of Newport.

Commander Brandt, United States Navy, is going to be his brother's best man and the ushers will include William H. Culbertson, D. Douglas Hopkins, A. Leslie Smith, Jr., all of Buffalo; Nelson Bowman, and Stuart Phillips and W. Alu mStopford, Jr., of Montclair.

After a trip, Mr. and Mrs. Brandt will make their home in Buffalo.

SEVERAL members of the Pittsburgh colony down in Florida will be present on Saturday at the wedding of Helen Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Potter, whose winter home is at Sea Breeze, Fla., and William A. DeLaney, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. DeLaney, of Lexington, Ky. Among these guests will be the William G. Costins, who have been members of the Sea Breeze winter colony for many years; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. J. Merrill Wright.

Mr. Potter built the Clarendon Hotel at Sea Breeze. He sold it later, but the Potters have been spending their winters there ever since.

SPEAKING of Florida, did you know that the Henry Holdship Robinsons, of Sewickley Heights, are down in Palm Beach now? They are visiting the Benjamin R. B. Townsends, who are occupying a house in Seaspray avenue for the season. And returning this week from the South are the Walter C. Millers, of Esperanza Farm, Coraopolis Heights. They are getting back in time to entertain their niece, Carmen Miller, who is a member of the "Coquette" cast, to be here next week. Carmen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, of New York, formerly of Sewickley.

THE marriage of Miss Virginia Bleakley Murdoch, daughter of James B. Murdoch, of Canonsburg, and Charles W. Simon, Jr., of Pittsburgh and Wheeling, W. Va., was solemnized yesterday at 5:30 o'clock in the Murdoch home by the Rev. Dr. G. G. Kerr, of the First Presbyterian Church, Canonsburg. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a Chanel gown of white satin with a tulle veil secured with a bandeau of pearls, and she carried Calla lilies. Her sister, Miss Ruth Sneathen Murdoch, as maid of honor, appeared in sun-beige chiffon and lace with a hat of Neapolitan straw to match, and her flowers were Kordes roses. John MacCormack Titzel, of St. James terrace, was best man. A reception and dinner for the relatives and a few friends followed the ceremony and later Mr. and Mrs. Simon left for New York. They will sail on the Laurentic for a Mediterranean cruise and a trip through western Europe, and late in the spring will be at home in Canonsburg. The bride is a granddaughter of the late Mrs. Margaret Murdoch, of Murdoch Farms.

SOMETHING new in the way of programs is in prospect for the Edgewood Woman's Club next season. Instead of choosing a general topic for study, the club yesterday decided that each woman appointed on the program should write on the subject which interests her most. Mrs. R. W. ANOTHER touch of originality was brought to the Woman's Fortnightly Review of Mt. Lebanon yesterday when a portrayal of Serbian peasant life was given for the entertainment and edification of the members. Mrs. H. B. McBeth, of Pinehurst avenue, was hostess, and the program, consisting of four short papers descriptive of the topic for the day, was presented in costume by Mrs. R. L. Kelley, Miss Nancy McCormick, Mrs. J. W. Howell and Mrs. C. S. Burlingham. The Serbian national air was sung by Mrs. Lucille Miller Werner.

Extra mellow richness BLENDED

IT is the flavor of Maxwell House Coffee that makes it the general favorite.

That flavor has a depth of mellowness that no single coffee grown can approach. For Maxwell House is blended from many choice coffees—selected and combined after long and patient experimenting by an expert who grew to manhood in the Old South, where living well was an art.

As time went on, travelers from all over the country were drawn to the old Maxwell House in Nashville by the fame of Maxwell House Coffee. Then they wanted to taste its delicious flavor in their own homes.

Now, wherever you live, you can enjoy at your own table this celebrated coffee which is pleasing more people than any other coffee ever offered for sale. Your grocer has Maxwell House Coffee, sealed in tin to protect its superb fragrance and flavor.

"DON'TS" TO REMEMBER: Don't lose any of the fine fragrance and flavor of Maxwell House Coffee by percolating too rapidly or too long. Seven to ten minutes over a gentle heat is about right. Don't fail to have the pot very clean—it should be thoroughly scrubbed and rinsed after each using.

Instant Skin Beauty

Sallow, Dingy Skin made Lovely —Coarse Pores become Fine— It corrects oily skin, heals eruptions and dissolves blackheads

Creamed Magnesia clears the skin in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach

The newest discovery in beauty culture is that creamed magnesia is much better for the complexion than any soap or cleansing cream. It beautifies the skin instantly, in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach. This is because skin impurities are acid. Doctors treat acid inside the body with milk of magnesia. And now, dermatologists are getting amazing results in banishing complexion faults with creamed magnesia. All you do is anoint your skin with it, massage and rinse with water. It's as simple as washing your face.

It reduces enlarged pores to the finest, smoothest texture almost as if by magic. Being astringent, it drives away the tell-tale signs of age. You will marvel at the effect of your first five-minute facial massage. It rejuvenates the skin so quickly that any woman can look lovely tonight, years younger. It's marvelous how magnesia dissolves blackheads, clears eruptions and corrects oily skin.

And because it is so mild, mothers use it instead of soap to bathe infants. It certainly is a blessing as a face wash for fine, sensitive skins that soap so easily irritates and coarsens. Being greaseless, it cannot fatten the face or grow hair. It removes make-up and extracts impurities deep-set in the pores better than soap or cold cream. It changes dull, sallow skin to radiant clearness and fades out freckles better than a bushel of lemons. Test it on those clogged nose pores that stand out so boldly. Let it whiten your neck. It will also keep your hands soft and white. Until recently, creamed magnesia was used only by New York doctors' wives, and nurses. But now the large druggists everywhere find it hard to keep enough on hand to supply the demand. To get genuine creamed magnesia, ask for Denton's Facial Magnesia. Remember, five minutes works wonders. So, get your magnesia today and look lovely tonight. It costs almost nothing to try. It's Guaranteed!

No More Ugly Nose Pores

DENTON'S
Facial Magnesia

Makes poor skin lovely—keeps fine skin fine

NOTE: Do not hesitate to try this marvelous skin treatment at once. Thousands of delighted women have written they could not believe anything so simple could be so wonderful. But they were convinced when they saw so many friends suddenly get lovely complexions.

After all, most husbands are like children

MANY a man owes his daily fitness, his success, to the wife who sees that "he takes good care of himself." She watches that he gets enough sleep. She makes up for those easy-to-grab lunches he trusts his health to at noon. She acts as family physician with every meal she serves. And often as not, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is her trusted ally.

For this healthful cereal has been adopted by countless women as the surest, easiest way to insure plenty of daily roughage, lacking in so many foods. And in safeguarding their families from constipation, they are responsible for their own happier homes.

Constipation is the bane of thousands. It attacks health. Ruins youth. Saps energy. Too often it brings serious disease. And yet it is easy to prevent. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed.

Why ALL-BRAN is so effective

Bulk or roughage relieves constipation naturally. ALL-BRAN furnishes bulk in generous quantity because it is 100% bran. This bulk absorbs moisture and distributes it through the digestive system. Gently distending the intestines — exercising them — sweeping out wastes and poisons. In a part-bran product the amount of bulk is seldom sufficient to completely perform this work. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. Because they know that it is 100% bran and 100% effective.

Different from unnatural pills

ALL-BRAN works as nature works. How much better than habit-forming drugs whose dose must be constantly increased — and which sometimes injure the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is an inviting cereal to eat with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Sprinkle it into soups too.

Use it in cooking—recipes on package. Mix it with other cereals. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily — chronic cases, with every meal. If you will serve it in some form regularly, you will surely protect your family from dread constipation.

For health's sake, be sure you get genuine Kellogg's — the original ALL-BRAN. Don't risk part-bran substitutes. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, cafeterias. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Guaranteed!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

SPORT COMMENT

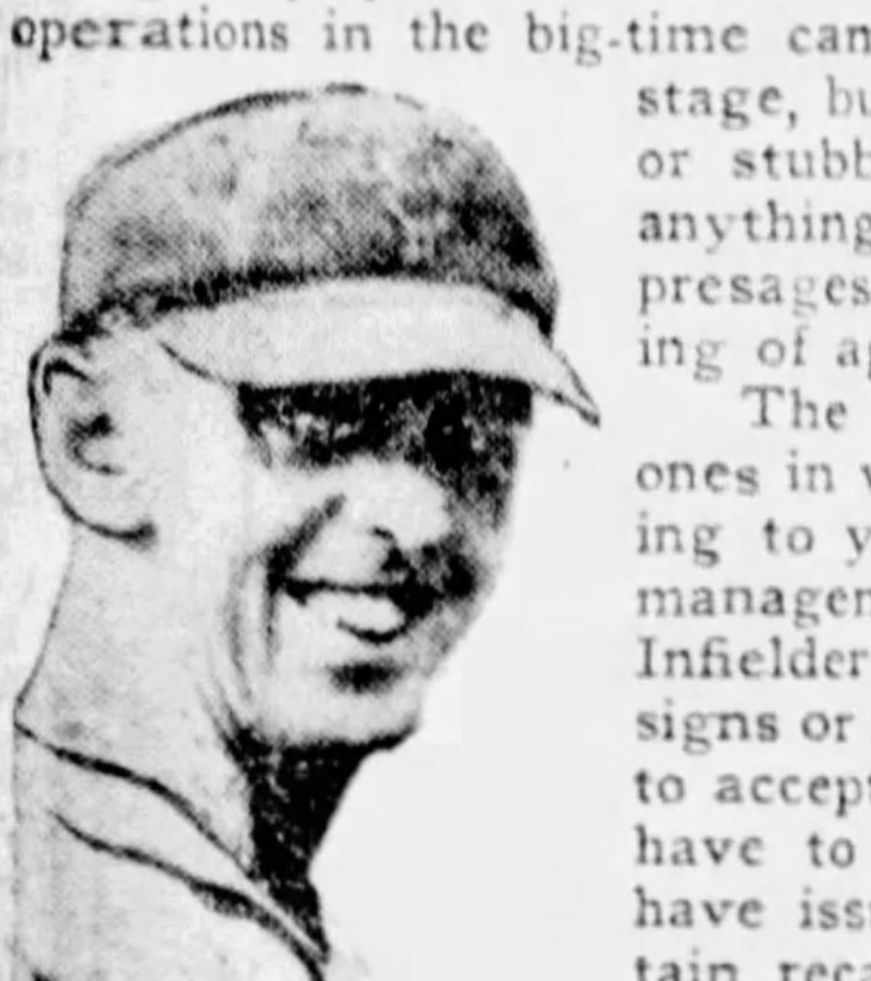
BASEBALL DEADLOCK MAY CONTINUE

FROM all indications, some of the holdouts in the major baseball leagues are going to be carried to unusual lengths this spring. As a general rule, practically all of the cases of unsigned players are settled and closed by the time training operations in the big-time camps have reached their present stage, but this year uncommon firmness or stubbornness on both sides against anything in the nature of a compromise presages an indefinite delay in the reaching of agreements.



Douglas McWeeny.

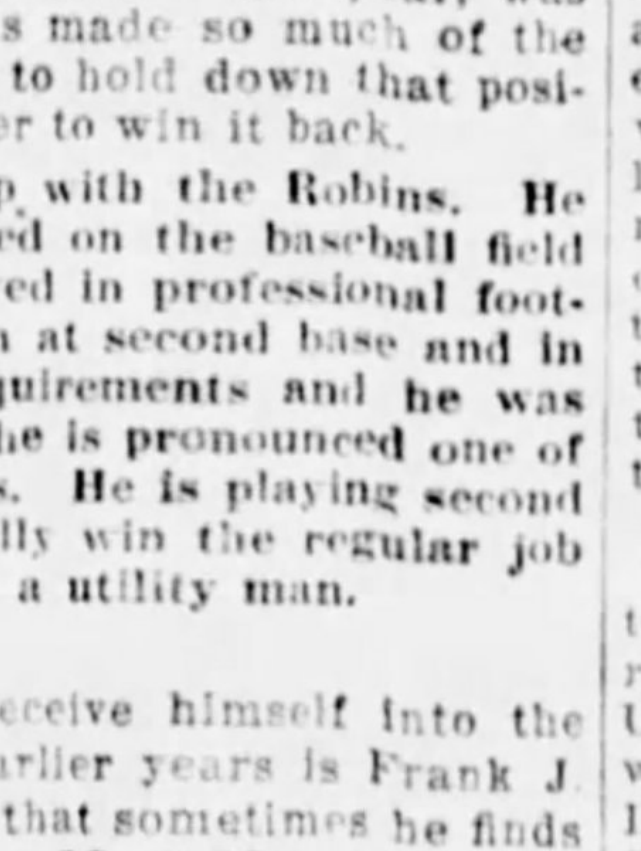
The Waner cases are not the only ones in which neither side appears willing to yield an inch. The White Sox management says it is entirely up to Infielder Bill Hunnefield whether he signs or not, and that if he doesn't want to accept what has been offered he will have to stay out. Other club bosses have issued similar ultimatums to certain recalcitrants, and now the Brooklyn club says it has gone as far as it intends to go in its dealings with Pitcher Douglas McWeeny. The Robin bosses are still negotiating with Pitcher Dazzy Vance, whose demand, it has finally been disclosed is for a salary of $22,500, but they have come to a deadlock with McWeeny and announce that they made their final concession.

McWEENY has seen fit to make public that he received $8,000 for his services last year and wants $15,000 for 1929. The club has offered $12,000 and says it will go no higher. "They'll have to come across," says the pitcher. "I'm getting white streaks in my hair, I notice. That means I'm not so young any more. It also means that I'm wise to get mine while the getting is good. I'll hold out to the limit for fifteen grand. I've still got my arm, and if the club wants it, let the club pay."

"What a crust," was Manager Robinson's comment. "McWeeny was a fifty-fifty pitcher last season (the hurler won 14 games and lost the same number) and all he wants is a $7,000 increase, or almost twice as much money. I'm not paying the salaries on this ball club, but if McWeeny holds out until he is offered $15,000 he won't pitch again until his hair is as white as that of Judge Landis."

WOMEN swimmers have been increasingly active at the business of record-smashing with each succeeding season since Gertrude Ederle swam the English channel in 1926, to be followed within two years by three others, in Mrs. Clemington Carson and the Misses Hawke and Hilda Sharp.

Judging from what has already been accomplished, outstanding natatory feats by the fair sex are likely to be more numerous than ever during 1929. Miss Martha Norelius cracked the 400-yard free-style record in Pittsburgh last month, and since that time she and some others of her sex have contributed several additional lowered marks to the books.



Jane Fauntz.

NOW comes a new naiad to bid for a place among the established stars. She is Miss Jane Fauntz, an 18-year-old Chicago high school girl. She has just captured the women's 100-yard breaststroke and low diving championships, displaying in her first season of front-rank competition ability that prompts Western critics to predict she will develop into one of the greatest girl swimmers of all time. And she is only one of a number of new natators who will be heard from this year in the women's competitive aquatic game. In no sport in the world has there been such progress or advancement in recent years as in women's swimming.

AN ATTACK of ptomaine poisoning that prevented D'Arcy Flowers from reporting at the Brooklyn baseball club's training camp on time may cost him his job. Billy Rhiel, a Youngstown (O.) boy, who played for Atlanta in the Southern Association last year, was put in Flowers' place at second base and has made so much of the opportunity that the man who was scheduled to hold down that position regularly is likely to find it no easy matter to win it back.

This is Rhiel's third spring training trip with the Robins. He always could hit, and he has always displayed on the baseball field the same fine competitive spirit that he showed in professional football and boxing. But in previous trials, both at second base and in the outfield, his fielding was not up to requirements and he was shipped back to the minors. Now, however, he is pronounced one of the most improved players in the Robin ranks. He is playing second base like a veteran and if he does not actually win the regular job there he is practically certain of retention as a utility man.

ONE baseball man who does not try to deceive himself into the belief that the game is as good as in earlier years is Frank J. Navin, owner of the Detroit club. He admits that sometimes he finds the diamond sport is not as interesting as it was 15 or 20 seasons ago.

Navin says there certainly was more to baseball then. He points out, for instance, that a team tried a great many more things to win games in those days, and that the sacrifice and the squeeze play are not so important now, while base-stealing is becoming a lost art.

Frank J. Navin.

"DURING the last few seasons I have seen certain pitchers and catchers who couldn't have stayed in the big leagues in the old days," Navin is quoted. "The baserunners would have stolen them blind. The catchers of today do not throw as accurately as the old-timers. They don't get the practice as a base hit is so much more valuable nowadays that runners seldom try to steal. They are not playing for one run. The pitchers, of course, are handicapped by the number of new baseballs used in a game. The stands are concrete, and any ball that is roughened by striking the stands is thrown out. In the old days they would use a ball until it became too badly discolored or ripped. The pitchers could grip it better and the batters couldn't see it as well. The game may have speeded up, but to me it hasn't. I like to see smart baseball better than I do a slugging match."

DANNY TAYLOR, of Lash, Pa., once a prominent figure in the independent baseball ranks of this district, and who failed to stick in previous major league tryouts, one of them with the Pirates, is likely to come through this time, according to reports from the camp of the Cubs on Catalina Island.

Of course, there is little chance for Taylor to break into the Bruin outfield as a regular. However he has shown up so well, not only in the gardens but at third base, that Manager Joe McCarthy intimates he is going to keep him for utility purposes as well as for pinch-hitting roles.

TAYLOR'S hitting ability never has been in dispute, and he went better than ever last year, when he clouted .374 for Memphis. The Southern Association uses a ball of extra liveliness, but Danny

SECOND ROUND SCHEDULE.
Tonight—Georges vs. Uniontown.
Tomorrow—Ford City vs. Homestead.
Saturday—Fifth Avenue vs. Freeport.

By JESS CARVER.

Beginning this afternoon at two bells, Duquesne University will keep open house for those folks who like basketball tournaments. A three-game matinee program and a two contest evening schedule will pry off the lid of the first annual state Catholic High School tourney, under the auspices of the Bluff institution.

Gary Zacovic.

Tonight, while the Catholic teams are battling it out in the first round on the Bluff, the teams of Uniontown and George Township will clash in a second round W. P. I. A. L. tournament contest in the Stadium Pavilion, affording local fans another opportunity to see Gary Zacovic, Uniontown's stellar forward, in action.

FIVE GAMES TODAY

This Catholic tourney, which looks like it was going to go over with plenty of boom, will have for its opening contest the meeting between Sacred Heart High, of Pittsburgh, and St. Stanislaus, of Erie. In the second game, Cathedral Prep, also of Erie, will oppose Altoona Catholic High. A third afternoon game brings together St. Francis Prep, of Loretto, and Catholic High of Bethlehem.

In the evening, St. Gabriel, of Hazelton, will receive its baptism of fire opposed to St. Titus, of Titusville, and the Duquesne University Preps will battle it out with St. Michael's, of Greenville.

Uniontown, one of the W. P. I. A. L. contestants of the day, won its way into the second round of the competition by defeating New Brighton in the pavilion Saturday evening, 30 to 20. George Township drew a bye in the opening round.

ALIQUIPPA ELIMINATED

Larry Danver's crack Bellevue High team put a stop to the running of special trains from Aliquippa to Pittsburgh to these W. P. I. A. L. games in the Pavilion by eliminating Harding High last night, 20 to 13, rushing Nate Lippe's charges off their respective feet with fine second half attack.

The defeat, if nothing else, will teach Nate Lippe a coaching lesson he is not likely to forget. Nate has a swell passing team, but when the boys are rushed, they apparently do not know what to do. They couldn't stop Bellevue's attack in the last two quarters, and they failed to check up closely enough on Ken Updegraff, Bellevue's star guard, who banged in four fine field goals, two in each of the closing periods. He shot two of 'em from out in front, and two

Paul Asks $18,000, Lloyd $12,000 Of Pirates

Paul Waner for the first time has divulged the figures he is anxious to see on Pirate contracts for Lloyd and himself, and the total amounts to approximately the same as the "best guessers" have surmised in the last few weeks—$30,000.

When questioned in Oklahoma City by telephone last night, Paul was reported to have said that he was holding out for $18,000 on his own account and $12,000 for his younger brother, which totals exactly $30,000. Furthermore, if Mr. Dreyfuss and Company will not reconsider the matter, and Paul would welcome a conference, he insisted that both players would quit the game if forced to before signing for a cent less.

Paul refused to state the amounts the Pirate club had offered the Waner Act, saying that such information must come from Dreyfuss himself.

TITANS HAVE TITLE CHANCE

Westminster's Titan basketball team will go into its final contest of the season against Thiel College tonight certain of second place in the district standing; possible second position in the Conference and above all, a fighting chance to win the tri-state championship should Penn State defeat Pitt Saturday.

Last night's college results, in which Pitt took Wash-Jeff for another ride and Davis-Elkins further lowered the colors of West Virginia made the situation much to the liking of the United Presbyterians. If they down Thiel tonight, which they are almost certain to do, they'll wind up their season with a record of 14 games won and 2 lost, for an average of .875. The best West Virginia can hope for is a 12 and 3 standing, and that provided they take Wash-Jeff Saturday.

Should Penn State defeat the Panthers in the closing contest on the Pitt schedule Saturday night, the Panthers would be relegated to third place, with both Westminster and Bethany out in front and the Mountaineers back in fourth place, tied with State.

So you can see that the situation is pregnant with possibilities. Here is how the leaders stand at present.

	W	L	Pct.
Pitt	9	1	.900
Westminster	13	2	.867
Bethany	11	2	.846
West Virginia	11	2	.786

PRICES TO BE CUT

The word, by the way, is out that the price of admission to Pitt's games in the Pavilion next year is to be lowered half a buck. Instead of having to lay $1.50 on the line for genera admission ducats next winter, you'll only have to make it one smacker.

Some reserved seats down in front will be blocked off, however, and these will go for the usual $1.50. And the schedule that Pitt will play, especially at home, will be well worth your money. Wait until it is published, its a wow.

F. & M. ON TOP

LANCASTER, Pa., March 7.—(AP.)—Franklin and Marshall College closed its basketball season last night with a 36-30 victory over Lebanon Valley.

EMILE PLADNER, LA BARBA IN LIMELIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Two notable carryings-on in the fistic realm recently have been more or less submerged by the Sharkey-Stribling match and its aftermath. I refer to the string of conquests whereby Emile (Spider) Pladner, the French lad, has fought his way to a position in the flyweight class where he should be generally recognized as the world champion, and to the campaigning of Fidel La Barba, resigned ruler of the class, in Australia.

LaBarba resigned the flyweight title ostensibly to enter college and obtain an education, but, after a short time, he changed his mind and married and sped off to Australia for a honeymoon and a comeback campaign in the fistic ranks. He has had three bouts over there as a bantamweight and featherweight and never again will see the day when he will be swapping punches as a flyweight. So he is out. He has won all of his bouts, the most recent one, last Saturday, against Billy Grime, who at one time claimed three Anzac ring titles, but was a complete flop on a tour of the United States.

All Pladner has done has been to defeat Ernie Jarvis and Johnny Hill, past and present English champions, and Izzy Schwartz and Frankie Genaro, rival American claimants of the world championship. Genaro was the acknowledged champion following the death of Pancho Villa, and when La Barba stepped down he again claimed the laurels and was recognized as the champion by the National Boxing Association, while Schwartz was recognized by the New York Athletic Commission.

After Pladner had handed Schwartz a walloping in Paris, Genaro went over to take the measure of the Frenchman and he now is a sadder and wiser Frankie, for the Spider knocked him kicking in 47 seconds and two punches last Saturday night. If Pladner, by virtue of accomplishment, isn't entitled to the championship, then no one is. He appears to have made a perfect one-man job of clearing up the muddled situation in the division.

The triumphs of Pladner bring home the fact that American supremacy in boxing these days is not exactly what it formerly was. Going through the various classes, we find the flyweight championship vested in Pladner, a Frenchman; the bantamweight throne vacant; the featherweight title belonging to Andre Routis, another Frenchman; the lightweight laurels resting on the brow of Sammy Mandell, an American; the welterweight title remaining with Joe Dundee, an American; Mickey Walker, an American, the middleweight king, with Rene DeVos, the Belgian, a leading contender; Tommy Loughran, an American, the light-heavyweight ruler, and the heavyweight championship in dispute, with Max Schmeling, the German, on the inside track in the race of the contenders.

JOHNNY DUNN WINS

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 7.—Two New Kensington, (Pa.) boxers scored victories in bouts here last night. Johnny Dunn, classy featherweight, knocked out Seal Jackson in the fifth round and Frankie Salvatore won over Joe Myers in six rounds. Joe Trabon, of Kansas City, knocked out Nick Zinnia in three rounds.

Waners Almost A Ball Club, McGraw Says

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—The Pittsburgh outfield, as listed for the opening training fray, looks somewhat pale and strange without the names of the Waners. The situation will be even more serious if the famous brothers do not adjust their salary differences in time to take part in the season's getaway, April 16.

When the Waners first were revealed as holdouts, rumors had the Giants as bidders for them. Manager McGraw laughed when asked about it but paid them this tribute:

"Those two boys are almost a ball club in themselves."

PENN-PITT TILT KNOCKED OUT

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—Penn will play no post-season basketball games. That is the ultimatum issued by the powers that be at the University of Pennsylvania in answer to numerous requests for games after the collegiate schedule is completed.

There was only one team Penn wanted to play this year. That team was the Wisconsin Wolverines, up in the race for the Big Ten Conference court title at the time plans were being made for a game. Last Saturday, Michigan trounced Wisconsin and dimmed the latter's titular hopes. That practically put an end to that game.

Two weeks ago, Coach Carlson of the famed University of Pittsburgh court team, sent a missive to Lon Jourdet, advisory coach to Eddie McNichol and his proteges, asking for a Penn-Pitt game at the Palestra. Penn sidestepped that offer, saying that it couldn't think of such a thing at the time, as the game with Wisconsin was in mind.

By playing Pitt, Penn has nothing to gain, it is now pointed out.

For weeks the fans and alumni of Temple have been uselessly angling for a game with Penn.

Beyond letting it be known that Penn does not look with favor on any post-season games, officials of the Red and Blue institution are reticent. Even the prospect of the enormous gate which a Penn-Pitt or a Penn-Temple game would attract failed to lure the basketball committee into lifting the ban on post-season frays.

Wagner Baseball Meeting Tonight

The meeting of the Honus Wagner baseball leagues for this week will be held this evening at the headquarters, 211 Wood street. This meeting will be for the juveniles of the North Side and South Side.

Tomorrow night, a big meeting will be held at the store to form a league from the East Liberty and Homewood districts.

Both meetings will be under the personal supervision of Honus Wagner, himself and managers should make it a point to attend the sessions. For information call Court 3556.

PIGNETTI IS ELECTED

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 7.—William Pignetti, forward on the 1928-29 Greensburg High School quintet, has been elected captain of next year's basketball team following a meeting of the lettermen. Pignetti, who is a junior, was a member of the football squad in 1928.

PANTHERS TOP PRESIDENTS, 38 TO 28

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 7.—Chipper Charley Hyatt, who, previous to last night, needed only 18 points to better his record of 292 for the 1928 season, scored 17 of them at the expense of Washington and Jefferson College as Pitt chalked up a 38-to-28 victory.

It was the concluding game of the year here, and the public was admitted to a floor game in Washington for the first time this year.

Last night's struggle was hard fought, the first half ending with the Panthers leading, 18 to 17. In the second half the Pitt players gradually eased ahead of the Presidents to finish with a comfortable margin.

Long shots by Robinson, who shared field goal honors with Hyatt, with seven, kept the Presidents in the running for a time. The lineup:

W. & J.—28.		Pitt—38.
Robinson	F	Zehfuss
Gilchrist	F	Hyatt
Sanders	C	L. Cohen
McMunn	G	Montgomery
McKissock	G	Baker

Substitutions—W. & J., Hoskins for McMunn, McMunn for McKissock; Pitt, Cohen for Zehfuss, Arture for Hyatt, Wunderlich for L. Cohen, Ferraro for Baker, Anderson for Wunderlich. Field goals—Robinson 5, Gilchrist, Sanders 3, McMunn 3, McKissock, Zehfuss, Hyatt 6, Wunderlich 2, Montgomery 3, Baker 3. Foul goals—Robinson 2 out of 4, Zehfuss 1 out of 1, Hyatt 5 out of 7, Montgomery 2 out of 4. Referee—Snyder. Umpire—Boister.

Dempsey Announcer At Charity Show

BOSTON, March 7.—(INS.)—Jack Dempsey today had received the sanction of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission to appear in the role of announcer and master of ceremonies at the charity boxing show at the Boston Garden tomorrow night, featuring Joe Dundee, world welterweight champion, and Al Mello, New England champion, in a 10-round bout.

Former President Calvin Coolidge received an invitation to attend the show with Mrs. Coolidge. Estelle Taylor, wife of Dempsey, accepted an invitation to attend, it was stated.

Naming of Rickard's Successor Deferred

NEW YORK, March 7.—(INS.)—No immediate action in the matter of electing a successor to the late Tex Rickard as president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation is contemplated by the directors. The executive committee of five directors met yesterday, but the election was postponed. William F. Carey, vice president, said that Jack Dempsey's name was not discussed as a possible successor to Rickard.

The directors approved Carey's plan to stage a boxing bout at Miami Beach in February of each year for five years.

FRENCH, STEVE SWETONIC TO TAKE MOUND

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 7.—A spunky and formidable candidate for third base bobbed up in the Pirate camp today in the person of Dick Bartell, native son, who last season did some fine work for the Pirate cause.

When the Regulars and Yanigans square off this afternoon in the first camp battle, Daredevil Dick will be at the hot corner in the Yans' line-up, yet there is a deep significance in the move. It is only a short step from one squad to the other and this may be encompassed by Richard Long before the championship season begins.

The rather surprising decision regarding Bartell was not made in a jiffy by Manager Bush. Donie admittedly likes the style of the Californian, so he sent him to third to see how he would perform around the bag. The result was the same as when Dick cavorts at short and second—he is the same sure fielder.

DICK GAINS IN WEIGHT

Bartell last year batted a bit better than .300 for the Buccos, but his hitting left something to be desired. It was pointed out that his drives did not have the zip that is generally required in a major leaguer. Something has happened since then. Bartell reported with extra poundage this spring and his added strength seems to be reflected each day in the smashing drives that flash off his bat.

Dick is smearing the ball like a good fellow. It cannot be said that the stock of Harry Riconda and Jim Stroner has dropped. On the contrary, the two strong fellows still are in the fight, but the latest development has turned the affair into a three-cornered quarrel. Riconda is scheduled to go to third for the Regulars when the fun begins this afternoon, with a chance that Stroner will get a little action late in the game.

Cap. Traynor has been handicapped by a recurrence of the hip trouble sustained by Pie in a game in Philadelphia last fall. Pie expects to start today, but he may be rested in the latter end of the contest.

FRENCH-SWETONIC TO TOSS

To get back to Bartell, it is noticeable that Dick is fighting harder than ever for recognition, and the youngster has ever been noted for his aggressiveness.

Bartell stands out as one of the defense players in the squad, and the fact that he plays short and second so cleverly indicates that he would have little trouble at third. He has a dandy arm and he makes bad-hopping balls behave.

Larry French and Steve Swetonic are due to grace the slab this afternoon. These two are considered the most promising of the new pitchers and it is likely that they also will be seen in action Sunday when the Pirates take on the San Francisco Seals at the local ball orchard.

Pilot Donie yesterday curtailed the practice to one long workout. Owing to the appearance of cloudy weather the athletes did not go to the ball park until 11 o'clock. They worked hard for more than two hours and were allowed to have much time to themselves during the afternoon.

A morning drill is on the card for today as a prelude to the first game.

Chillysauce

Chic Fraser, exasperating fungo hitter, delights in getting a green rookie to chase the expansive field in quest of drives of all kinds. The more enterprising of the youngsters will keep going up to a point of collapse.

It's a rare treat to watch Fraser chase Remy Kremer. Chic has the uncanny faculty of placing the lofts in a spot where one can just about reach them after a desperate run. All the while the foxy hitter encourages the runner and offers sympathy when he fails to hold the ball.

"Get out of Frenchy's way, you fellows," Fraser will yell, as Kremer ambles toward the ball, and all the while there won't be anybody within 50 feet of French. Chic claims it is great stuff for a pitcher's legs, and the fact that every hurler in the squad is in rare shape is a good argument for the exacting stunt.

Manager Bush intends to make his pitchers step lively in some future sessions. Donie has a bunt practice on his calendar that should be beneficial to the smoothness of the club's team play. Batters will be ordered to bunt balls toward the first baseman, who will charge the hills while the pitcher hot-foots to the bag. This particular play has been stressed so much in the past few years that some teams have it down almost to perfection. Good fielding pitchers who can get a quick jump on the way to first are an important factor in the maneuver.

Bush also expects soon to begin work on the tricky intercepted throw from the outfield. Many a team has suffered through the poor manipulation of the deceptive cut-off throw, that was brought up to such a high state of perfection by the Giants of seven or eight years ago, with Young, Frisch, Bancroft and Groh executing the ruse to the despair of other teams.

The outfielder first of all must have a strong arm and the judgment to get the ball in a spot where it can hop to a certain base or be nabbed in the air by a tricky infielder for the purpose of cutting off the man who happens to be the victim. The idea is to appear to throw to one base to inveigle the batter or some other runner to attempt to advance a base. The latter often will be trapped if the ball is handled properly.

George Grantham seems to be the best all-around athlete in the big squad. The graceful Arizonian hits hard, runs swiftly, slides beautifully, throws remarkably good; in fact, there is nothing he cannot do well on the ball lot, and on the golf links he makes a pro hustle. George was the runner-up at the Phoenix Invitation tournament just before he came to camp.

ELKINS, W. Va., March 7.—Davis and Elkins College defeated West Virginia University here last night, 49-43, in the final home game for the Scarlet Hurricane. It was the eighteenth victory of the season for the Henderson-coached team. The score at half time was 21-17.

A PIGEON which wore a band bearing the inscription "AJ26SH93" was killed by a larger bird, apparently a hawk, according to H. The band may be claimed at this office.

CUDDY D'MARCO, BRIGNOLIA AWAIT BELL

Cuddy DeMarco, of McKeesport, and Larry Brignolia, of Boston and Erie, wage their "rubber" fight tonight in the Palisades arena, McKeesport. It will be their third meeting. De Marco having won the first, at McKeesport, and Brignolia the second, at Erie. Both were hard fought and in the first Brignolia was in a bad way in the final round.

Larry Brignolia

Promoter McGirr reports that the bout has caught on with his patrons and he has another large list of reservations for the show.

Johnny Windsor, of Herron Hill, boxes Leo Kyburski, of Swissvale, in the semi-final, which should be a rough affair; Chuck Zelnack, of Glassport, meets Joe Poole, hard-hitting sparring partner of Jack Zivic, in the second bout and Jess Hoak, of McKeesport, and Bob Collura, of Beechview, will open the card.

TONY ROSS RETURNS

Tony Ross, of Carnegie and Sharon, is back home from Grand Forks, N. D., where he lost by a technical knockout to Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, last Friday night, the referee stopping the bout in the fourth round to save Ross from being disfigured after Petrolle had reopened a deep cut in his lip. The injury cost Ross a bout in Minneapolis Tuesday night and also knocks him out of working with Jackie Feilds, the Coast star, for the latter's bout with Young Jack Thompson, in Chicago. Ross has been training with Fields for some time.

It is announced that the winners of the A. M. A. senior bouts at Motor Square Garden, March 25 and 26, "in all probability" will be sent to the National championships at Boston. They either will be sent or they will not be, and a number of the boxers are holding back their entries until a definite announcement is made on this point. In the past, it has happened that winners have not been sent because of a reported lack of funds in the local A. A. U. treasury.

McLARNIN, MILLER AGAIN

Jimmy McLarnin and Ray Miller have been rematched for Madison Square Garden, New York, March 22. Miller knocked out McLarnin in Detroit and Jack Dempsey was reported in the field to promote the return battle in that city. The pair will meet at 140 pounds.

There is no boxing show in Madison Square Garden, New York, this week on account of the six-day bicycle race, but a show will be held there next Monday night, featuring Jimmy Slattery and Jimmy Braddock, light-heavyweight stars. Tommy Freman and Alf Roos, the Morrocan, are in the semi-final.

Rene De Vos, the Belgian middleweight, who has knocked out Lowell Bobby Brown in one round and broken Walcott Langford's jaw and knocked him out in five rounds in his last two fights, answers the gong against cagy old Jock Malone at San Francisco tomorrow night.

WORK ON MAT BOUTS

Plans are moving ahead for the wrestling show to be held in the Moose Temple one week from next Monday night, under the auspices of Ray Fabiani, of Philadelphia, who expects to announce his card within a day or two through Leon Balkin, his local representative, who is on the scene preparing the groundwork for the comeback of the grappling sport in Pittsburgh.

Two brothers will compete in amateur bouts at the P. A. A. Saturday night. They are Thad Yarosz and Eddie Yarosz, both lightweights, and they hail from Monaca. The former will box Joe Orsini, of Clairton, and the latter will meet Charley Fulks, of the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C.

PIRATES' ICE SEASON HERE CLOSED

Ottawa at Canadiens.
New York Americans at Chicago.

By CARL W. SHATTO.

The Pittsburgh National Hockey League season closed with the Pirates' 3-2 vicory over the Chicago Hawks at Duquesne Garden last Saturday night. Although two more games remain on the Bucs' home slate, Secretary Charley Leonard brought the local season to a close with the announcement, last night, that the New York Rangers and Boston games had been transferred to the East.

The attendance at the Pittsburgh-Chicago game Saturday, when only a few hundred fans paid to see the fray, prompted Secretary Leonard's decision. "Local fans obviously do not care for any more National League hockey here this season," said the Pirate official, "and New York and Boston, deadlocked in the fight for the American Group lead, are eager to be hosts to the local skaters in their remaining contests. In view of the very apparent lack of interest in the ice sport here since the Pirates were eliminated from the race, the management does not feel that it is doing an injustice to Pittsburgh fans in transfering the games to eastern rinks."

CHICAGO GAME NEXT

Manager Odie Cleghorn put the Bucs through a light drill at the Garden today in preparation for their clash with the Chicago Hawks at Fort Erie Saturday night. The Bruins will be met in Boston on March 16 and the locals will help the Rangers ring down the curtain in New York on March 17.

The dates given up by the Pirates have been given over by the Garden to the West Penn Amateur League for its titular series, which opens tomorrow night with the Hornets meeting Blawnox in the first of a three-game elimination series. The winner in this set of frays, to be decided by total goals, will meet Philadelphia Company in three games for the championship. The first game of the championship series will be played next Tuesday evening, the date on which the Rangers were to have appeared here.

AMATEURS PLAY TOMORROW

Interest in the amateur skaters has grown even as interest in the pro icemen has decreased, and big crowds are expected to witness the title tilts. The Hornets, greatly strengthened by the acquisition of Paddy Sulivan and two other former Yellow Jacket stars, are favored to down Blawnox, and should be able to give the Philadelphia Company puckmen a real battle. Brown, Schenley High grid star, is to be at wing for Blawnox and is regarded as one of their best scoring threats.

from the side. He could have been hurried a bit on the latter.

HARDING TAKES LEAD

Haarding moved out in front during the first half by 9 to 5, looking every inch a good team. They passed well, worked the ball under the hoop and missed several shots that should have been made.

Harden, Miller and Lippe made three of the teams' four goals in the first half. The team didn't sparkle, but it looked capable of making the 8 to 5 odds that the boys from dowon the river were offering stand good for all evening.

But after the half, it was all Bellevue. The score moved from 9 to 4 to 11-10, Harding, and then to 13-10. All Bellevue did after that was to tally 10 points, hold Harding scoreless and put the ball game safely away.

UPDEGRAFF STARS

Updegraff was the leading spirit in this rally. He dribbled and cut through the Harding defense, broke up Harding plays when the Aliquippians had the ball and then resorted to his basket getting. Ten of the 15 points registered by Bellevue in the second half were his.

Bellevue, wild and ineffective in the first half, settled down to a cool and calculataing game in the second. They had the ball most of the time, which counts quite a bit. The Harding defense was kept in close, for both Updegraff and Brown proved themselves fine dribblers, and carried the ball under the basket time after time after length-of-the-floor sorties.

Defensively, Joe Birch exhibited the most class that any guard has shown in the tournament so far. He broke up Harding's long passes and took the ball away from the Ohio Valley forwards time after time when they tried to take it in close. Lippe, the star of the Harding club, found Seigel a hard man to handle, and on four separate occasions, was feinted out of position and permitted Seigel to get under the net. The lineup:

Bellevue—20.		Harding—13.
Smith	F	Jones
Seigel	F	Harden
Brown	C	Miller
Updegraff	G	Lippe
Birch	G	Rebich

Score by periods—

Bellevue	2	3	7	8—20
Harding	5	4	4	0—13

Substitutions—Harding: Murphy, Cooley. Bellevue: Stankey, Caughey.

Field goals—Bellevue: Smith, Seigel, Brown 2, Updegraff 4. Harding: Harden, Miller 2, Lippe.

Fouls—Harding: Harden, 2 out of 3; Miller, 1 out of 3; Lippe, 2 out of 3. Bellevue: Smith, 1 out of 2; Brown, 1 out of 1, Birch, 0 out of 1; Updegraff, 2 out of 3.

Leading scorer—Updegraff, Bellevue, 10 points.

Billy Wallace May Have Name Copyrighted

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—Billy Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, who is training at Stillman's gymnasium here for a fight Monday night in Philadelphia, is thinking about getting a copyright on his name. A boxer styling himself "Young Billy Wallace" and billed as from Cleveland, was outpointed in Indianapolis the other day and the better known Billy found himself besieged with inquiries as to how it happened.

In the Associated Press "Fights Last Night" the "Young" was omitted from the beaten boxer's name. Plain Billy Wallace says his self-styled namesake comes from Youngstown, not Cleveland.

HORTON SMITH COPS TITLE

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 7.—(AP.)—Horton Smith, of Joplin, Mo., a contribution to golfdom's greatness from the Ozark Mountains, won the first annual $2,000 Fort Myers open championship.

The 21-year-old Missourian, victor this winter in the Catalina, Cal., Pensacola, Fla., and Oklahoma open tournaments, defeated Densmore Shute, Columbus professional, 1 up, after a nine-hole playoff had been carried to the eleventh green.

Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., 71-76-67-67—281; Densmore Shute, Columbus, 70-73-68-70—281; Gene Sarazen, Newport Richey, 71-70-68-74—283; Ed Dudley, Los Angeles, 73-74-69-70—286; Clarence Hackney, Atlantic City, 72-74-75-68—289; Willie Macfarlane, Oakridge, N. ALTOONA AFTER MID-ATLANTIC FRANCHISE

CUMBERLAND, March 7.—(AP.)—Elmer Dailey, president of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League, said last night that the local citizenry had until Monday morning to raise $4,500 or else forfeit their franchise in the league. He added that, in the latter event, the franchise would be taken over "by Altoona, Pa., or some other town."

Cumberland citizens will meet tonight to form an organization in an effort to raise the amount. James F. McGuire, president of the Cumberland club, expressed the desire to sell the franchise, five players and the park to the city for $6,000

In case citizens raise the $4,500, arrangements will be made for payment of the $1,500 to the club owners, it was said.

FREUND LOSES CHARM

He may be reached by calling Hemlock 4297.

COLLEGE STARS DEMAND PAY, CHARGE

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 7.—College men, competing in the intercollegiate championship meet here on Saturday last, were charged today with demanding "appearance money" when their entries were solicited for another set of games to be held later in the month.

The allegation, but not its supporting evidence, was in the hands of the Amateur Athletic Union today, some hours before its registration committee was scheduled to sit in judgment on the Barbuti case. This latter involves charges by the Olympic 400-meter champion that A. A. U. officials are cognizant of flagrant violations of the amateur code in connection with the paying of so-called appearance money to so-called amateur athletes.

BARBUTI TO ATTEND

Barbuti is coming to the meeting tonight, supported by attorneys, and will be required to furnish either proof or retraction of his statements, the A. A. U. being in a position to demand this because he is directly under its supervision. So far, it has been unable to secure an affidavit against the collegians involved in the charges because the man who aired them is independent of A. A. U. control and doesn't care to be placed in the position of turning "copper." His declaration is that the college men gave him the alternative of paying them or looking elsewhere for his entries.

In the same connection, a prominent Eastern coach reported that one of his varsity runners had come to him to learn what might be done, if anything, about getting appearance money at the various meets in which he was appearing. The name of this athlete also was withheld.

As a matter of fact, the A. A. U. was too busy today defending itself against the Barbuti attack to look elsewhere for trouble. The organization is taking Barbuti's remarks at face value, until such time as they are disproved, if at all, and according to Daniel J. Ferris, its secretary, it stands ready to investigate itself if the evidence presented so warrants.

Ruth Picks Cubs And Yanks to Win Flags

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 7.—(INS.)—Babe Ruth picks the Chicago Cubs and his own Yankees as the rival teams in the 1929 world series. The home run king figures that the Philadelphia Athletics, generally rated second in the American League, will finish no higher than fourth. Here are his selections:

American League—New York, St. Louis, Detroit, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago, Cleveland, Boston.

has demonstrated that he can hit any kind of ball against any kind of pitching.

Besides he has shown the Cub management this spring that he has plenty of speed. "I received a lot of conflicting reports about Taylor," said Manager McCarthy. "Some said he was slow, and others declared he was fast. Well, I have found that he goes down to first base about as fast as any of our other players."

Odie Cleghorn.

PITTSBURGH'S hockey season has ended even sooner than was indicated by the recent transfer of the final game on the home schedule to Boston. The one event that remained on the local slate, that with the Rangers for next Tuesday, was also transferred last night, and will be played off in New York on Sunday, March 17. This means that Pittsburgh fans have had their last view of Manager Odie Cleghorn and his crew as it was constructed for the 1928-29 campaign. The club's remaining three games will be played with Chicago in Fort Erie next Saturday, with Boston in the Hub on March 16, and with the Rangers in Gotham one day later. The transfer of the closing home games because of the probability that they will draw more money abroad does not mean any great disappointment to devotees of the ice sport in this district, as they had naturally lost all interest in a team that was able to win only nine games out of 41 played. They will get a great deal more sport out of the play-offs in the West Penn Amateur League. And there is some consolation in the official assurance that the professional franchise will stay here next season and that Pittsburgh will be represented in the National League by a team differing vastly from the disappointing one now passing out.

ENTRIES MAILED FOR DUX MEET

Entry blanks are in the mail for the Tri-State Duckpin Classic which will be rolled on the Strand alleys, in Forbes street, Pittsburgh, from March 27 to April 6, inclusive. Announcement of this tournament, which will be held under the Lewis Class system of distributing prizes, has been hailed with delight by the bowlers who took part in the tournament last year that was held under this system, and it is likely that when entries close March 23 the Tri-State Classic will have the largest entry list in duckpin history.

McKees Rocks Plays Waynesburg Tuesday

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 7.—Announcement was made today that McKees Rocks High will play Waynesburg High next Tuesday evening. McKees Rocks won the section nine W. P. I. A. L. crown, but lost to Bellevue High in the first round of the elimination tourney.

McKees Rocks is coached by Harry McHenry, former Waynesburg College star athlete, and a big reception is being planned for the former Yellow Jacket performer when he brings his team here next week.

HEIDELBERG SET FOR TILT WITH AKRON CLUB

By TOM BIRKS.

With Buff Donnelli reported to be in wonderful shape, Heidelberg's chances of defeating the Akron Goodyears at the Bridgeville Speedway Sunday, in the fourth round of the National amateur cup, has increased. Manager Balsarini has been worried about Donnelli, but the Duquesne captain reports he is in fine condition. He will be playing inside right in this particular game.

NO LINEUP CHANGES

With the Corinthians set to meet the winner, it is supposed the Green and Gold tornado will show its stuff, especially to avenge the defeat of Dunlevy at the hands of the Rubber town boys earlier in the season.

Manager Balsarini announced last evening he is going to stand pat on the team that has represented Heidelberg in most of its important games. Of course, if the weather dries up and the field becomes fast, there is a chance Andy Savage will replace Fred Donnelli at center forward.

Donnelli shows to wonderful advantage when the going is heavy, and few center halfbacks have any sort of success against the Morgan boy in the mud. Savage is very fast and can control the ball better on a fast field.

ROBERTSON DANGEROUS

Berky Jones will have to keep a weather eye on Robertson, Akron's center forward. Little Willie, as Robertson used to be called around Jeannette when he was playing in Pennsylvania, is becoming dangerous. It was his shooting ability that defeated Dunlevy in the national challenge cup. After reading the story of the Detroit game last Sunday, the fact remained that Robertson was still getting goals, for he found the net three times in that game.

The Holley Carburetors had a wonderful defense and when Robertson showed enough stuff to score three times, he can be classed as dangerous.

MORRYS OPPOSE ROSENBLUMS TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN.

One of the best professional basketball attractions in years is scheduled at the South Side Market House tonight when the original members of the old Morry Big Five take the floor against the Cleveland Rosenblums, winners of the first-half championship in the American League.

Pete Barry.

Morry Goldman, sponsor of the game, has completed arrangements to have the majority of the veterans who helped him bring the old Central League championship to Pittsburgh three years ago, in the Morry lineup tonight, and they should make a favorable showing against the famed American Leaguers.

VETERANS TO PLAY

The Morrys will include Bill Campbell, Homestead High School coach, whose team is one of the favorites to win the W. P. I. A. L. championship; Chick Davies, Duquesne University coach; Kez Loeffler, Geneva College coach; Yans Wallace, coach of the Knickerbockers, champions of the West Penn League; George Ramsay, Whitey Littel; and Moon Klinzing.

The Rosenblums will present a team that will be a replica of the former New York Celtics, one-time world professional champions, no less than four old Celts being regulars on the Cleveland team. Joe Lapchick, Pete Barry, Dutch Dehnert and Johnny Beckman, all veterans of the pro sport, are members of the Forest City aggregation.

This contest annually attracts coaches of collegiate, scholastic and independent teams from all sections of the Tristate district. Many teams in this vicinity are using styles of play first introduced by the famous Celtics.

TWO PRELIM GAMES

Two attractive preliminary games will precede the main attraction. The Conleys meet Greenfield in the first, scheduled to start at 7:30, while the Goldenson Vanities, undefeated so far this season, meet the Turtle Creek All-Stars, in the second, at 8:30.

While the advance sale has been unusually heavy, Goldman has made arrangements to place a block of choice seats on sale at the Market House tonight. In anticipation of a capacity crowd, doors at the Market House will be thrown open at 7 o'clock.

GRANDPA RIDES WINNER

MIAMI, Fla., March 7.—(INS.)—Jockey Arthur (Red Coat) Murray, 54 and a grandfather, can still boot those winners home. The veteran of the saddle showed the youngsters how to bring a horse home on the chin strap when he rode Mijigado to victory in the first race here yesterday. The regulars had confidence in "Gramp's" ability, for Mijigado was fairly well supported, paying 5 to 1.

COLUMBIA CREWS DRILL

NEW YORK, March 7.—(INS.)—Columbia's crews are scheduled to take to the Harlem River today, weather permitting, for their first outdoor drill of the season.

STOCKS JUMPY OVER CREDIT SITUATION

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP)—Alternate periods of weakness and strength characterized today's stock market, which reflected extreme nervousness over the credit situation. Call money opened at 10 per cent, the highest renewal rate since January 3, and advanced to 11 in the early afternoon. Such liquidation as appeared was only moderate in volume, indicating that accounts were well margined.

While the 4¾ per cent rate on the new United States Treasury financing was about in line with expectations, it served to accentuate the present credit stringency, and revived fears of an early increase in Federal Reserve rediscount rates. While preparing for the heavy mid-month tax, dividend and interest payments, the banks are showing a reluctance to increase their borrowings at the Federal Reserve Bank.

Trade and business news continues favorable. Directors of the National Dairy Products Corporation declared a stock dividend of 100 per cent, and valuable stock subscription rights were voted to the stockholders of American Steel Foundries. Several excellent earnings reports made their appearance during the day, Union Carbide showing a gain of more than $5,000,000 in net last year over the year before.

Adams Express, which broke 45 points yesterday, rallied 25 in today's trading. Radio (old) rallied 20 points to 390, slipped back to 380¼, rebounded to 400 and then turned heavy again. Radio (new) rallied more than 5 points and Colorado Fuel, Western Union, United Fruit, Vanadium, American Bosch Magneto, Crosley Radio and National Dairy Products sold 3 to 5½ points higher at one time.

The death of Theodore F. Merseles, president of the Johns Manville Company, caused heavy selling of that stock, which broke 11½ points in the early trading.

A further advance in call money to 12 per cent failed to intimidate the pools who ran many shares vigorously unward in the late dealings. Radio hit 406, while the new stock brought 81¾. Western Union climbed more than 10 points to 213¾, a record price. Advances of 4 to 6 points were made by Wright, Curtiss, Victor Talking Machine, Goodyear and National Dairy Products. The closing was strong, sales approximated 3,500,000.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 7.—Unfavorable weather conditions over the greater part of the United States winter wheat belt led to a material upturn in wheat values today. Some crop damage reports were received from sections of the West and Southwest. On the other hand, expert call today for wheat from North America was slack, whereas Argentine wheat exports for the week were by far the largest yet this season, 9,455,000 bushels, compared with 7,203,000 bushels the previous week and 7,407,000 bushels a year ago.

Besides apprehension due to a quick drop of nearly 50 degrees in temperature in various domestic winter wheat sections, wheat traders found reasons for crop anxiety today owing to complaints of high winds in many states, 70-mile gales being reported as prevailing for hours. Dispatches, too, from Liverpool gave incentive to buyers, light deliveries of wheat there being reported and offerings smaller than has been the case of late. Notice also was taken of announcement that since August 1, world shipments of wheat have been absorbed aggregating more than 572,000,000 bushels, compared with 471,000,000 bushels the corresponding time a year ago.

Much interest was shown today regarding returns to an inquiry sent to 700 correspondents in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois relative to winter wheat. The replies indicated the acreage being sown in the four states was but 77 per cent of normal, the reduction being caused by a break in the crop rotation system as a consequence of unusual winter killing last year. The condition of the crop prior to last night's freeze, however, was reported good, and with normal weather until harvest was said to indicate a 1929 yield of 100,000,000 bushels, against 50,000,000 last year.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Raw sugar was firm early today. While refiners continued to show interest at last paid prices of 3.74c for spots duty paid, there were no offerings below 3.77c. The only sale reported was 28,000 bags of Cuban to an operator for April shipment at 3.77c duty paid.

Raw sugar futures opened unchanged to 2 points higher on covering and commission house buying in response to the steadier tone of spot. Demand was soon supplied, however, and reactions followed under liquidation and selling by houses with Cuban connections. The list at midday was unchanged to 2 points net lower.

No fresh business was reported in refined. Prices were unchanged at 4.90c for fine granulated, although withdrawals against recent purchases were liberal.

George R. Cummings, of 309 North [illegible]valine street, driver for the Reick-Junkin Dairy company, was awarded $1,500 by a jury in Common Pleas Court today against J. B. Walkou. Cummings alleges his wagon was struck by Walkou's automobile, driven by Joseph Engelsberg, Hill politician at Center Avenue and Soho street, January 1927 and that he suffered severe injuries. Englesberg testified that he and his wife were injured in the crash.

Bellas Hess Expands.

The National Bellas Hess Company has announced that it has contracted to acquire the business of Leonard, Fitzpatrick & Mueller Stores Company, operating 11 stores in the South.

The merger will be accomplished through exchange of stock. The plan calls for the retirement or conversion of the L. F. M. stores preferred stock, and exchange of Bellas Hess common, share for share, for the L. F. M. common.

The L. F. M. stores are in Atlanta, Augusta and Macon, Ga.; Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla.; Birmingham, Montgomery and Mobile, Ala.; Knoxville, Tenn.; Richmond, Va., and Winston-Salem, N. C. There are outstanding 6,370 shares of 8 per cent cumulative convertible preferred ($100 par), and 74,455 shares of no par common.

National Bellas Hess is one of the leading mail order companies and operates retail stores, specializing in wearing apparel. Acquisition of the L. F. M. stores brings its retail chain to more than 40 stores.

Murphy Adds 20 Stores.

The 1929 expansion program of the G. C. Murphy Company, which operates a large chain of five-cent to one dollar stores, provides for the opening of 20 additional units, which will increase the size of the chain to 160 units and increase annual sales by approximately $5,000,000, J. S. Mack, president of the company, announced today. "As a result of the opening of these new stores," Mr. Mack stated, "we expect to increase our sales this year to approximately $17,000,000, compared with the 1928 total of $12,118,188. Net profits after taxes for 1928 totaled $670,680, or $4.29 a share on the 125,000 shares of common stock and this total also is expected to record a substantial increase during the current year. The expected $5,000,000 increase in sales for the current year is not to accrue entirely from the new stores, but will also include the increased sales from the Tottle chain of stores, acquisition of which was announced recently and also the normal growth of business in the older established stores."

Steel Near 96 Per Cent Rate.

Ingot production of the United States Steel Corporation during the past week was at nearly 96 per cent of theoretical capacity. This can be considered practically capacity when allowance is made for repairs and other work necessary to keep plants in first class condition. In the preceding week the rate was slightly in excess of 91 per cent and two weeks ago it was at better than 90 per cent. The increase of nearly 5 per cent in the week was the largest recorded in some time.

Independent steel companies also have expanded their activities materially, and are now running at approvimately 91 per cent, compared with 87 per cent in the preceding week and about 86 per cent two weeks ago. The leading independents are doing much better than many of the smaller units and have contributed most to the latest gain.

Aircraft Prospects Good.

Rapid growth of the aircraft industry is demonstrated by the fact that the outstanding securities of 44 American aviation concerns now have a market value of $563,000,000, according to Gage P. Wright, New York economist and president of the Business Economic Digest, who has made a review of aircraft industry prospects.

"Bright prospects for the aircraft industry have resulted in rapid organization of new aircraft companies," Mr. Wright states. "However, producing capacity may be increased too rapidly, and some authorities predict a period of readjustment similar to that which has taken place in the radio industry."

Hawaiian Commercial Sugar.

The Hawaiian Commercial Sugar Company reports for the year ended December 31, 1928, net income of $1,989,045 after charges equivalent to $4.97 per share on the 400,000 shares of common stock outstanding. This compares with $1,669,730 or $4.17 per share in 1927. Crop harvested totaled 71,720 tons of raws, a new company record. Surplus account increased to $6,292,163 during the year.

White Eagle Ethyl Gas.

The White Eagle Oil and Refining Company has secured a contract to market ethyl high compression gasoline in conjunction with the White Eagle balanced brand throughout 12 states in which it has distribution. The company also has developed a special gas to blend with the Ethyl fluid and the White Eagle balanced Ethyl gas will be available to the trade at all company's stations in the next 30 days.

Shell Forms Chemical Company.

By organizing the $10,000,000 Shell Chemical Company to commercialize and manufacture chemical products developed by the Shell Development Company, the Shell Union and Royal Dutch Petroleum Combine has taken a new step in the oil industry. Products will be distributed through the Shell and Royal Dutch retail organizations. The Shell Company recently entered Eastern retail territory.

Fewer Men, Product Larger; Is Five-Day Week Likely?

By B. C. FORBES

THE number of industrial wage earners in the United States is decreasing, but the total wages paid is increasing. So is the value created by their work.

Instead of the number of industrial plants increasing, they are decreasing, reflecting the elimination of small concerns and the drift towards bigness.

The spending power of workers, after allowing for the shrinkage in what the dollar will buy, has increased.

In agriculture, too, there has been a notable decrease in the number of people gainfully employed. Here, also, the more general employment of machinery and labor-saving implements has increased production per worker.

These facts embody part of the explanation of the greater prosperity enjoyed in America than elsewhere. Ability to produce more at less cost has made it possible for Americans to buy and consume more during this period of rising wages.

THESE figures, prepared by the Department of Commerce and covering our major industries for 1927 and 1925, are interesting:

	1927.	1925.
No. of plants	191,863	187,224
Wage earners (avg.)	8,351,257	8,381,511
Wages	$10,848,782,433	$10,727,337,625
Cost of materials: Fuel power	$35,128,154,648	$35,896,886,428
Value of products	62,713,947,403	62,668,259,591
Value added by manufacture	$27,585,792,755	$26,771,373,163

WHICH are America's leading industries? Here they are, as measured by the total value of the products of each for 1927; the second column gives the amount added to the cost of materials, fuel and power by manufacturing processes:

	Value of products (add 000)	Value added by manufacture (add 000)
Food	$10,999,789	$2,886,356
Textiles	8,964,143	4,037,984
Iron, steel	6,199,252	2,658,543
Chemicals	6,404,914	2,343,904
Machinery (not transportation) Equipment	5,367,014	3,304,344
Transportation equipment	4,702,378	1,794,428
Lumber	3,457,427	1,823,489
Metals (other than iron, steel)	2,668,696	88,338
Leather	1,868,320	780,[illegible]
Stone, clay, glass	1,612,548	1,017,774
Rubber	1,225,077	564,706
Tobacco	1,163,768	743,101
Musical instruments	227,362	136,203
Miscellaneous	1,925,987	1,060,840

A COMPARISON of 1927 with 1921 figures is illuminating. The total number of industrial establishments decreased from 196,098 to 191,863, a shrinkage of 2.2 per cent. During the same period there was an increase in wage earners from 6,944,315 to 8,351,257, or 20.3 per cent. The gain in wages was much more pronounced: from $8,200,359,880 to $10,848,782,433, an increase of no less than 32.3 per cent. Meanwhile, the value of products rose 43.4 per cent, from $43,618,565,920 in 1921 to $62,713,947,403 in 1927.

Salaried employes are not included.

HOW wages have risen is brought out in a compilation just made by the National Bureau of Economic Research. Investigation shows that "in the entire period between 1909 and 1928, the total percentages of increase, when measured in dollars having purchasing power equivalent to that in 1913, are approximately" as follows:

Railway trainmen, 28 per cent.

Other railway workers, 35 per cent.

Factory operatives, 35 per cent.

Agricultural laborers, 47 per cent.

THIS comment is made: "Each of the four classes has, in varying degree, participated in the national prosperity, but the progress has been gradual rather than spectacular."

ONE cannot help wondering what is going to be the upshot of this constant trend towards reduction of the number of industrial wage earners and agricultureal workers required to produce a given amount. Is a five-day work week foreshadowed?

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—Trading in the curb market today blew hot and then cold. At midday a definite downward trend developed, but as prices hit their lowest levels of the day, some buying support came into the market.

More than 140,000 Anaconda Copper rights, admitted to trading for the first time at 11 a. m., changed hands in the first half hour. Opening at 30⅛ and advancing to 31¼. Another new issue—Interstate Hosiery—was traded in at 30 to 30⅝.

Aviation shares turned reactionary after an early period of strength. Aviation Corporation of the Americas ran up 4 points to 76⅜ and then dropped back to below 70. Alexander Industries held steady around 20.

Wide fluctuations occurred in the utilities, American Gas and Electric losing its early 4-point gain. American Superpower "A" did the reverse, slumped 3 points to 100 and then rose to 105⅝. Electric Bond and Share (old) dropped 7 points after a first-hour advance of 4 points to 267.

Mining shares were mixed. Newmont rose 3 points to 218, dropped to 210 and then rallied to 215.

Standard, of Indiana, whose stockholders are voting today on the ousting of Col. Robert W. Stewart as chairman, was steady at 86, yesterday's closing level.

Aircraft Oil Engine Ready for Sale Soon

DOVER, Del., March 7.—(AP.)—Announcement was made last night by the General Super Diesel Motors Corporation that it would produce in the near future an eight-cylinder, air-cooled, hot-air injection airplane engine, using oil for fuel instead of gasoline. The announcement stated that the newly-patented radial machine would eliminate valves, spark plugs and carburetors, simplify production and insure greater reliability and safety in the air.

Among those questioned by Hunt was Guy Loomis, wealthy New York broker, for whom Mrs. Wilson had worked seven years as housekeeper, social hostess and chaperon.

All Salt Lake City In Scramble for Fish in Gutters

SALT LAKE CITY, March 7.—(AP.)—This city went fishing in the gutters yesterday and took around 1,200 carp.

The fish, seined from Utah Lake, near here, by the state Game and Fish Department, were loosed in the gutters, where water runs the year round, as a publicity stunt for a sportsmen's meeting.

Whether the "bait" will swell the attendance remains to be seen, but small boys and their elders engaged in a mad scramble up and down the main street until all the finny visitors had been captured.

Budget Head Stays Pending New Choice

LEADING STOCKS WEAK ON PITTSBURGH MARKET

The Pittsburgh stock market took on an irregular tone in the latter part of the morning, reflecting conditions on the exchanges in other cities. Although some issues made fractional gains, the general list was weak around noon. Liberty Dairy common showed a pronounced decline, dropping to 33½ from yesterday's high of 36. Arkansas Gas common advanced ⅛ of a point to a new high of 5¼.

Arkansas Natural Gas common renewed its high of 5¼, which it attained yesterday. This company is still carrying on the work of balancing its producing and distributing facilities and the expenditures made in this work will be manifested in future profits.

The strength of Arkansas Gas in the past few days is attributable to the fact that it has just purchased the Little Rock Gas and Fuel Company, which serves a population of 85,000 people in Little Rock and North Little Rock, Ark. The company operates 242 miles of pipe line. Although it is small as utilities go, it has shown an exceptional stability in its earnings. It was bought from Chicago interests, of whom Rufus C. Dawes, brother of former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, is a prominent member.

Several sales of Koppers Gas and Coke preferred were made this morning at 103¼ to 103½. A small lot of Pittsburgh Plate Glass sold at 71, off ¼ from the previous close.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt was one of the most active stocks. Sales ranged between 24⅛ and 24⅞. The lower levels became more predominant as the morning advanced. Yesterday this stock closed at 24⅝.

BANK EMPLOYES PARDONED

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 7.—(AP.)—Two bank employes who were sentenced to long terms for embezzlement were pardoned today by Gov. Fisher upon recommendation of the State Board of Pardons. They were Frank L. Clinefelter, of New Castle, and A. C. Osborn, of Woodlawn, Beaver County.

Gov. Fisher issued 10 pardons altogether. The board refused pardons to 12 and held three cases under advisement.

Other pardons granted were: Herman Jacobs, Fayette, felonious arson; George Milhouse, Somerset, conspiracy; Elmer Swain, Westmoreland, larceny, and Raymond Kallenbaugh, Crawford, forgery.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—The bond market today displayed an improved tone in the early dealings as buying by bargain hunters in some of the recent leaders of the decline imparted strength to several leaders of the recent decline. Mexican issues were inactive.

Convertibles were mixed, improvement being shown by issues influenced by special news developments. Allegheny Corporation 5s were firm at around 102¾ on reports the Van Sweringen holding corporation was acquiring control of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad. Anaconda Copper 7s were steady at 241, and St. Paul Convertible Adjustment 5s improved on declaration of 3 per cent interest, clearing up interest for 1928. International Telephone convertible 4½s sagged fractionally.

Trading in the rest of the list was dull and featureless.

Interest centered in the marketing of the $50,000,000 issue of 5 per cent secured sinking fund debentures of Kreuger & Toll Company, heavy stockholder in the Swedish Match Company. The debentures carry warrants for purchase of American certificates of the company.

Newark, N. J., was one of few cities successfully to place a bond award this year. An issue of $9,250,000 4¾ per cent improvement bonds was sold at 100.15.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars.)

TRUST ISSUES LEAD IN NEW FINANCING

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

INVESTMENT trust issues are continuing to hold the center of the stage in the new financing plans now under contemplation. New offerings of this class have been particularly impressive because of the size of the individual issues.

The total of investment trust issues placed on the market in February was $348,453,834. This was 34 per cent of all the new financing of the month. It is particularly impressive, however, in comparison with February, 1928, when only $56,053,702 of securities of this type were offered. At that time investment trusts constituted only 7 per cent of the new issues.

In some of the recent financing, investment trusts have been put to new uses. In the past, diversification both as to industries and localities was the underlying principal in choosing the stocks for investment company holdings. There have been many cases of specialization in particular industries, but some of the more recently formed companies are concentrating in a single district.

THUS we have an investment Trust formed in Chicago with the announced purpose of keeping the control of local industries in that city. It raises the possibilities of using this new form of financing to reduce the chance of too much absentee ownership of a community's most important companies. It suggests a tremendous field for keeping the control of business in the hands of men who are on the ground to watch the properties.

Investment trusts of this type sacrifice the advantage of wide territorial diversification, but if they spread their holdings over a large enough list of industries there is little danger of a depression in all of the underlying organizations at the same time.

PENNSYLVANIA INDUSTRIES, Inc., is doing a similar service for Pittsburgh. It is also performing the important task of making most of the industrial organizations, whose stocks are held, mutually helpful to each other. The valuable inter-relationships of the companies in the Hillman group have been mentioned frequently.

Although Pennsylvania Industries, Inc., is small as investment trusts go, the interests controlling it are by no means through with its development. Their plans have not been made public but they are known to be extensive.

Although the company's investments, carried at cost, were valued at $3,660,489 on January 31, 1929, the market value at that time was $8,300,000. After giving effect to the recent financing the company had $6,796,579 in cash available for new investments. The total net assets, based on the market value of holdings, were $14,800,000, or more than twice the par value of the $6,925,000 of 6 per cent preferred stock.

INCIDENTALLY, Pennsylvania Industries, Inc., has been responsible for advertising the Pittsburgh district and its industries in a valuable way. Dillon, Read & Co., who recently offered the company's stock, have been selling Pittsburgh, its progress, its natural wealth and its prospects throughout the country.

Their booklet, "Industrial Pittsburgh," gives a remarkably concise but clear picture of this district's business growth and the possibilities for the future.

Contest B. & O. Proposal.

Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern Railway, has issued a statement opposing the recent proposal by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad that the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville Railroad, otherwise known as the Monon, be assigned to the B. and O. in a general consolidation. "The proposal of the B. and O. to 'take over' the Monon is as fantastic as it is cool," the statement said. "That interesting property was acquired 27 years ago by the Southern and the Louisville and Nashville for joint account in order to assure the South competitive access for its raw materials into the markets of the Middle West, and it has since been nursed and developed to that end, until today it is a first-class railroad, serving an important function as part of a North and South system of transportation in competition with the East and West trunk lines. When the time comes the large public necessity and convenience of this function will be demonstrated. Meanwhile it may be remarked that if any changes in the railroad map of Indiana are now desirable, the public interest would be best served by transferring to the Monon the B. and O. lines between Indianapolis and Cincinnati."

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

MUSICAL AND COMEDY FEATURES ON PROGRAMS

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

"PITTSBURGH fans have been so nice to me I would like to sing an hour for them, but my contract with the Majestic Theater of the Air won't allow me," Belle Baker, comedienne, told the Sun-Telegraph today. "I don't know yet whether I can appear at KDKA tonight at 11:05, but you can tell everyone that I will do my best."

It certainly will be a tough break for Pittsburgh fans if anything sets in to cancel the second scheduled appearance of the famous star at a local station. Belle was to have appeared at WCAE Monday night, but was unable to keep the appointment.

The matter of Belle's singing over KDKA is entirely up to her, we understand. One thing Belle made sure to impress upon us was the fact that if her appearance at the pioneer station was a violation of her contract, it would be expensive.

In case you don't know it, Belle Baker is temperamental like many other stars. She may sing and she may not, all depending on whether the wind blows up the Allegheny River or down.

When we left Belle Baker she gave us some assurance that she would go through with the KDKA stunt. Her brown eyes danced merrily as she inquired:

"What would your readers like me to sing? Do you think they would like 'Sonny Boy,' 'My Mother's Eyes,' or one of my character sketches?"

We replied:

"Anything, Belle, but don't forget the story of the Indian and his long memory. Pittsburghers are like that; they hate to be disappointed."

MADE WONDERFUL CHANGE IN SON

Pittsburgh Mother Says Ten Herbs Ended His Stomach, Liver and Bowel Disorders.

For more than a year, Ten Herbs, the celebrated natural medicine, has been a tremendous success throughout this section, because of the amazing relief it has given sufferers from disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. The remarkable power of Ten Herbs is due to its ten wonderful herbal ingredients, which have a cleansing, soothing correcting action on the whole system. Persons having health troubles owe it to themselves to learn more about this popular preparation by calling at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, where it is being introduced.

MRS. BENJAMIN SCHELL

"Ten Herbs certainly made a wonderful change in the health of my son, Louis, who is 23 years old," said Mrs. Benjamin Schell, 1459 Isolene Street, Corliss Station, Pittsburgh. "It ended his health troubles and made him feel better in every way. For the past year his health had been failing. Food did not digest properly, but would sour and ferment in his stomach. He belched a sour acid and particles of food. So much gas would form that he could hardly get his breath, and on several occasions this condition alarmed me. He was troubled with constipation, and this caused him to become billious and have terrible headaches—sometimes he would have to go to bed. He did not sleep well, and I feared he was on the verge of having a nervous breakdown. Although he underwent several different treatments, he kept getting worse.

"Since taking Ten Herbs his appetite is better, and he is free of stomach trouble—no more gas or shortness of breath. Constipation and billiousness have been ended and he is rid of those terrible headaches. His nerves are quiet, and he sleeps like a child. His eyes are brighter, and he has more energy and ambition. We gladly recommend Ten Herbs to the public."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, and is sold at all May's Drug Stores.

Pittsburghers Hear 5SW for Half Hour

Pittsburgh fans listened to a full half hour of jazz music from the Piccadilly Hotel in London last night during the rebroadcast of a 5SW program by KDKA.

While portions of musical programs in London have been picked up and rebroadcast by KDKA on several occasions recently, this was the first time that a full half hour's concert was relayed.

Fans were quite surprised when they tuned in to hear the regular William Penn hotel dinner music at 6:30 and instead heard the English accent of an announcer in London between selections. The program was brought to a close with the Big Ben chimes sounding midnight in London while it was 7 o'clock in Pittsburgh.

You Have Always Wanted a Home Like This

It is an English type house with all the charm of its old-world predecessors. The soft colored sandstone walls, the decorative, plastered gables, the steep slate roof with its interesting intersections, lovely little balcony and tower, the large side porch with its hammered iron railing; all, make it simply irresistible.

The interior is even more charming. The builders, Caste Brothers, had several things in mind when they designed the house. They wanted it to be roomy, convenient, attractive, light, airy. They succeeded in every respect. There are eight rooms and three baths in all. The living room is quite large with lots of windows and a big open fireplace. The dining room is just the shape and size that lends itself well to convenience and decoration. The kitchen is a dream with its big windows, black and white tile built-in sink, cupboards and closets. Through the swinging door, just off the kitchen, is a cunning little breakfast nook and more cupboards. There are three bedrooms and two baths and maid's quarters and bath on the second floor. The main bathroom is beautiful with its soft colorings and fine fixtures. The Master's room has a shower bath attached which adds greatly to the comfort of the head of the house. The bedrooms are large and tastefully arranged. One opens on the little balcony referred to above. A playroom and a large storage room occupy the third floor. The cellar is large and roomy and well lighted. It adds another story to your house. The two-car steam-heated garage in connection with the house is accessible and equipped with Overhead doors, completes the convenience of the whole scheme of things.

There are many little details you will like about the house; the many closets, the clothes chute, the plate glass mirrors, the stucco walls of the halls and first-floor rooms, the hammered iron hardware, the beautiful floors, the steel casement windows; every detail about the whole house is correct and of the finest possible quality. In short it is as fine a house as you could ever want.

Come out and see it. Go through it carefully. Inspect every nook and cranny of it. Then, and only then will you appreciate the thoroughness of its plan and the fineness of workmanship and materials that Caste Brothers have used to make this a house you will be proud to call home.

BUGS BAER Says

"Bugs" Baer

NOW that Mr. Hoover is thoroughly inaugurated, it gives us a chance to look back at that Sharkey-Stribling testimonial.

It wasn't a fight. The only right lead in the entire contest was made by the referee when he pointed at Sharkey and said, "Get em higher."

We sat in the nineteenth row at Miami next to a little Georgian who was the rootingest man we ever heard.

He pleaded with Stribling to knock Mr. Sharkey for a Texas cyclone. He urged Strib to smack Sharkey so hard that the referee would have to count out the Bostonian in the air.

His mildest request was, "Pull off his head and mail it back to him."

For three rounds he kept yelling, "Georgia's with you, Georgia's with you."

Along about the fifth he decided that Stribling wasn't going to give his $25 worth.

But that didn't stop him from one final, "Georgia's with you."

When the sixth came along and he realized that Stribling didn't intend to mix it up, he got up and yelled, "You big bum. You is by yourself, now."

Even then he was still loyal. A voice from the rear seats proclaimed, "He's yellow."

The little Georgian climbed up on his plank and hollered, "I got $25 in my shoe what says he ain't."

And that's exactly where he had it. No pickpocket could nail him unless he had a shoe-horn.

The other Georgians started kidding the little man after that. He didn't answer them back for his heart was broken.

They got a rise out of him when one of his neighbors remarked, "Your brother was a prize-fighter, wasn't he?"

"He sure was," said the small fellow, "but he got a bad break."

"What happened to him?" we asked him.

"Oh, he laid down to take a rest and the referee counted him out."

Which is certainly a tough break, and liable to happen to any fighter. When we left the arena, the little man from Georgia was putting his shoe on again, and the $25 was inside it.

"The Rev. Dr. Byles," says W. W. Hall in his Guide-Board to Health, Peace and Competence, published in 1869, "was the most original compound of religion and mirth in the latter part of the last century. With a mind of stable principles, he nevertheless possessed a buoyant flow of spirits, constantly running over wth puns or witty conceits.

"Going along the street one day, he found a great crowd gathered near the old North Church in Boston.

" 'Pray, what can the matter be?' he inquired of a small boy.

" 'Why, sir!' gasped the stripling, 'there is a man going to fly from the steeple.'

" 'Poh! Poh! Poh!' said the jovial old gentleman. 'Did they all come here to see a man fly? Why, I have seen a horsefly.'

"Reader, study how to have a healthful old age, and then, if good, you can afford to be mirthful, like the brave old dominio."

Charter Consideration Must Be Wise, Unselfish

The proposed charter for the "City of Pittsburgh," embracing all of Allegheny County and doing away with that territorial designation and entity, as such, and making the present City of Pittsburgh merely "Pittsburgh," one of the municipal divisions of the proposed enlarged city, has reached Harrisburg. It was submitted to Gov. Fisher by Joseph T. Miller, chairman of the Metropolitan Plan Commission.

The object sought by the charter should weigh most heavily with the people. That is to give Pittsburgh its rightful place in the rank of cities. Physically the county is one big city. To make it so in fact appears impossible at the present time under any other method than a consolidation charter such, in general, as the one proposed. For this reason the Sun-Telegraph approves in a general way the measure submitted, doing so with the knowledge that if any mistake be made it can be rectified before any great harm has been done. We are for a better and greater city, and the charter proposed will make Pittsburgh that.

It conforms to the constitutional amendment adopted at the last general election in preserving the entities and powers of various cities and boroughs, but it virtually proposes a substitute government, with enlarged powers, for what we now regard as the county and which will be the city if the charter, as submitted, weathers legislative strife and storm, and meets the approval of citizens at a special election later.

Its fate in the Legislature is problematical, inasmuch as some members of the Allegheny delegation in Harrisburg are looking at it with "scornful eye askance." Senator Max Leslie, who has been given the honor of presenting the measure for action by the General Assembly, merely will act as agent, it is indicated, instead of "father" or "sponsor" of the charter bill.

Leslie's position as a political boss cannot be said justly to be the progenitor of his motive in this matter, since he hardly could be expected to be overly enthusiastic about a bill which he had no hand in preparing and which conceivably could contain factors opposed to his views as a citizen, regardless of its effect on his power as a politician. He has been paid a signal honor in being chosen to initiate a measure that will be known as the "Leslie bill" regardless of the form in which it emerges from legislative council. Whether the Metropolitan Plan Commission showed wisdom in selecting Leslie is another matter.

The proposed charter is a voluminous document of so extensive character that even a summary of it occupied three and a half columns of space in the Sun-Telegraph yesterday. Naturally, our legislators will require time to study and digest it. A like attitude should be taken by the people.

The point to be held uppermost is that none of us be swayed by the views of any selfish interest. Jobs are created and some are abolished, although none is to be ripped out of office. Those that go are permitted to serve out their terms, so there is no injustice in that. Such jobs belong to them only for the time they are elected or appointed. Yet there will be opposition from this source, and it is this opposition that should receive no attention whatever.

There can be sympathy, perhaps, as there would be for an elevator operator who lost his job because the building in which he was employed was razed to make room for a more modern structure using elevators entirely automatic. But the man would be the last to suggest that his job should be a bar to progress. Hence, persons with selfish views should have no place in our consideration of this matter.

As a whole the proposed charter appears to be worthy of being classed as a remarkably impressive document. In its details it may not meet approval based on casual perusal, but it should be remembered that the men who framed it gave it careful study for many months. It should be remembered that they too, probably took into consideration many of the objections we have as individuals, weighed them against the possibilities of benefits under the rule decided upon, and based their action finally on what would be for the better interest of all citizens of a new city.

That also is a point to remember—it is to be a new city. It is to be the realization of a vision; and a vision, if it be worth anything at all as a guide, should be ideal in its ultimate conception. To be that it would have to be revolutionary.

All Should Sign Appeal In Aid of Earned Income

The Sun-Telegraph, having initiated the movement for readjustment of the income tax law as it affects earned incomes, has gone further by making it easy for individuals to join in the appeal to Congress to remove the unfair tax on incomes earned as compared to income from property. It has arranged a petition blank, which appears elsewhere in this issue. Sign it and circulate it among your friends for their signatures.

Organizations are taking up the fight, but it is possible such movements may be limited to channels that would not include your view. So the petition is published for your personal convenience. If you favor fairness to the income earner you will have no hesitancy in signing it.

Charming San Antonio Sets Good Civic Example

A trip to San Antonio impresses a Pittsburgh resident with the live-wire spirit and civic accomplishments of that progressive Texas city. In a brief stay he imbibed enough civic energy to galvanize the whole of Pittsburgh if it could be transmitted to all of our neighbors.

San Antonio can be described accurately as an "up-and-doing" community. Not that it merely is just now "doing" for the first time. It has done many things in which it takes pride, but it does not rest upon its record. It continues to do.

Among things it has done is to control the San Antonio River. Reservoirs. No more losses from floods. It has shown there is a way to improve spots that appear hopeless. For instance, it took an old stone quarry in the midst of what was to have become park land and transformed it into a novel grotto and casino that has an unusual and rugged charm.

If we could all see San Antonio we would at once become sensible to the fact that it not only is a thriving city but one in which there is great local civic pride. We here, of course, are not slow in that respect, but we all could find something to admire in beautiful San Antonio.

Tales That Are Told

Not Allowed

AMONG the residents of Rootham lived Robinson, a man with 13 children, who decided to take his wife and family to London.

They arrived at the terminal and started to make a tour of the West End.

Robinson led them hither and thither, pointing out all the landmarks as he went. Suddenly, however, their progress was arrested. A policeman laid a detaining hand on Robinson's arm.

"I want your name and address, my good man," he said.

"What for?" asked Robinson. "What have I done?"

"I dunno," replied the man in blue, "but we can't have this crowd following you about."

Room for a Small One

BILLY had been unusually good, and as a great treat his father had taken him to a museum.

"There, Billy," said the parent, pointing to a lion displayed amid realistic surroundings in a glass case, "look at that big fellow! What do you think of him?"

The little boy gave the animal one glance, and then burst into tears.

"Take me home, daddie!" he sobbed, trembling. "I want to go home."

Too True

IT WAS obvious to the man who kept the bird shop that his customer was not in the best of temper.

The disgruntled man entered and slammed the door behind him, at the same time rapping a large cage down on the counter. Muffled squawks came from under the cover.

"You said this parrot was worth its weight in gold," he began, pointing to the cage.

"Well?"

A Local Directory

AFTER several months of ardent courtship the young man found his advances coldly rejected, and he took it very badly.

"If you were to look on my heart," he pleaded, "you'd find your name engraved on it in imperishable characters."

But the girl was not a bit impressed. She knew that he had proposed to every girl in the district at least once during the 10 years he had lived there.

"Really," she drawled; "then you must have a heart like a local directory by now."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a terrible tragedy at a church fair in Halifax. It seems that there was an automobile being raffled off, and the most prominent undertaker won it. There was a lot of cheering, and his friend, Donald McMurtry, who was the leader of the Scotch Bagpipe Band, got him to make a little speech.

"Well," says the undertaker, "I'm so happy about this that I don't know what to do, although of course I'm sorry my Scotch friend here didn't win it. He sure likes to get something for nothing, you know. Well, I'll show you I'm a sport. To show my appreciation, I'll bury free of charge the next member of the congregation that dies."

"Hoot mon!" says Donald, and shoots himself dead.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

WHY do girls leave home?

What's your guess?

Because they're wayward?

In love with some man? Crazy about the bright lights?

No. Wrong on all counts. THEY LEAVE BECAUSE THEY CAN'T GET ALONG WITH THEIR PARENTS.

Colonel Frank H. Wise of the Volunteers of America has established this reason after questioning hundreds of girls who left home in 1928. Of all the girls who were given aid by the Volunteers' Home 85 per cent left home for that reason.

Does that mean that twentieth century parents are more cruel or unreasonable than their predecessors?

No. It simply means that a daughter's chances of getting away and taking care of herself are about 500 per cent better than they were in grandma's day. Grandma had no job to go to. Daughter has. So when things get too hot at home she flits.

But why should things get too hot at home? Why shouldn't daughter realize that "mother knows best" and be accordingly grateful to accept advice?

BECAUSE MOTHER DOESN'T ALWAYS KNOW BEST, AND DAUGHTER IS KEENLY AWARE OF THIS FACT.

Women can and should continue to expand mentally after they become mothers, but an appalling number of them park their brains as soon as they acquire a bassinette. They are mamas. With the act of giving birth they have acquired the wisdom of Minerva and the big stick of Mussolini, or so they believe, and most of the world agrees with them. As a consequence, by the time their children have reached adolescence, mama's mental equipment is apt to be as obsolete as the dodo. And it doesn't take an observing child long to realize it.

Recently a distressed mother wrote: "I have always admired your writings until last night, and now I must protest strongly against the harm you are causing in homes. You said that parents are not always able to decide what is right or wrong for young people, and my rebellious daughter of 16 immediately quoted you against me in an argument. How dare you say such a wicked thing, Miss Robinson? If you have ever had a child yourself, you must know that parents are the best guides for children."

I have had a child myself, my dear, and never for one minute of his beautiful 21 years of life was I sure that I knew what was best for him. I never pretended to be his moral arbiter. I realized from the first that he was born into a freer, wiser, healthier world than the world of my youth and that in many respects he knew far more than I did. So I did not pretend to lay down a moral code for him. I simply give him all I could of love and service and expected him to do the rest. He did. We were friends.

That, I think, is the only relationship between a parent and child which will make home a happy and desirable place for a boy and girl. That is the only relationship which will enable homes or parents to face the tremendous competition of outside attractions.

NO ONE ON EARTH SHOULD BE MORE MODEST THAN A PARENT—FEW ARE LESS SO.

Parents may, and often do, know far less about the world in which they live than their working sons and daughters, but they nevertheless feel competent to run a League of Nations, and heaven help the unfortunate offspring who questions their ultimatums. It must be their way or none at all.

IT'S ALL VERY WELL TO TRY AND GUIDE YOUR CHILD, BUT DON'T SHOVE. Most parents insist on shoving.

TELESCOPE POWER

By Garrett P. Serviss

THE friends of popular education in the ideals of life are striving to have a telescope mounted in a dome to crown the great tower of the new State Capitol at Lincoln, Neb., which rises 400 feet above the pavement. There is something inspiring in this idea. Objection is made that the summit of a lofty tower would furnish too unstable a base for an astronomical telescope. But the heavy tower looks sufficiently strong and steady, while extreme absence of all motion would not be necessary for a telescope intended to serve such purposes as are set forth for this one. It is not intended for fine measurements or for delicate researches, but for popular intellectual stimulus and instruction. Everywhere exists the oft-expressed desire of thousands to look at the heavens through a telescope. It is a desire that ought to be gratified whenever possible. It would be easy to combine a modest program of simple observations that would have real scientific and educational value with the use of the telescope and its accessories, under proper guidance, by hundreds who would obtain valuable mental incentives from it.

There are abundant occasions when such an observatory could be employed to supplement the work of the regular institutions, especially in the direction of publicity for astronomical events and unexpected phenomena, such as the appearance of new comets or the occurrence of remarkable eclipses, or meteoric phenomena, or uncommon and significant appearances of any kind in the heavens.

A telescope is an instrument of power over the imagination. If a man but looks once in his life through a large telescope at objects sunken in the depths of space he is likely to receive an impression that will endure as long as he lives and become stronger with the lapse of time. He will never forget that once he saw, with all the strength of vision that human science could lend him, things hidden from humanity by the awful veil of distance.

There are times when a wonderful new star appears. The spectra of such stars as seen in the observatories are often of strange beauty and their significance is not hard to be explained to the layman. But he has no chance to see such things in the endowed observatories of the professional researchers in astronomy. The marvellous red "flames" of the solar protuberances can be easily viewed with a simple spectroscope attached to a good telescope. But good telescopes are not common possessions, nor is the slight skill required to manipulate them with their accessories widespread. But a public telescope, managed by a capable director, would supply this sort of object lessons in astronomy.

It would be capable of arousing enthusiastic public interest when a great new comet was displaying the marvels of its fiery head, glittering with jets of light, or expanding in concentric shells of glowing gases and sending out behind it streaming tails millions of miles in length as it faced the torrent of the sun's repulsion. The layman reads of these things, doubting and wondering, but he has no means of beholding them. He sees only the ominous curving tail of the tormented comet—the least substantial thing about it—swaying dimly across the stars, but its fight for life with the solar giant whose court it has invaded he sees not, for that is only visible from the observatories.

In a hundred ways such a telescope, so placed as that which they wish to have in the city of Lincoln, would deeply serve the intellectual interests of the citizens. It would be an honor to the city and to the state. It would help to convince some of our critical friends in Europe that there are no higher aims than those of young America.

Bible Passages

David's Vow

(Psalm 101)

I WILL sing of mercy and judgment: unto thee, O Lord, will I sing.

I will behave wisely in a perfect way. O when wilt thou come unto me? I will walk within my house with a perfect heart.

I will set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the work of them that turn aside; it shall not cleave to me.

A froward heart shall depart from me: I will not know a wicked person.

Whoso privily slandereth his neighbor, him will I cut off: him that hath an high look and a proud heart will not I suffer.

Mine eyes shall be upon the faithful of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfect way, he shall serve me.

He that worketh deceit shall not dwell within my house: he that telleth lies shall not tarry in my sight.

I will early destroy all the wicked of the land; that I may cut off all wicked doers from the city of the Lord.

Violets

I DO not know what flowers will cluster there
On heaven's eternal fields,
Or what faint scents the rare, celestial air
In matchless fragrance yields.

Nor can I picture the ethereal spring
That greets those timeless skies
Through bluer vistas rise.

But this I knew, though there the soul forgets
All cares of former days,
If in those meadows bloom no violets
One heart will mourn earth's ways.

One heart will dream of mad March winds again
That rove in fierce unrest,
Of violets veiled in sudden showers or rain
To gladden earth's bare breast.

Hell's Paving Blocks

By Herbert Kaufman

THE hen that abandons her nest can't lay claim to the chicks another hatches.

Starters aren't nearly so important as finishers. Targets don't record the shots that went wide of the mark. Nor does history carry them on her score-cards.

Steam navigation was discussed by the ancients, but Fulton's Clermont was the first boat to ride without sail or oars.

Bell never posed as an explorer into unknown realms when he produced the telephone. He merely asserted priority in constructing a voice-bridge across distance.

Almost every link in the chain of power-weaving was a deserted orphan which the ultimate patentees adopted and perfected.

Trails to yesterday are cluttered with projects that didn't fit given possibilities and periods.

Some of 'em weren't properly designed. Many couldn't be executed because there weren't available tools or rules to serve parent imaginations.

Mention of horseless carriages occurs through Eighteenth Century literature. There's no evidence, though, that anybody ever put the notion into motion.

Sir John Franklin, Gen. Greely, and a score of brave hearts led expeditions toward the North Pole. The glory of reaching it belongs, however, to Admiral Peary.

Gestures aren't achievements. The partly-baked loaf is just spoiled dough. Rewards are paid at the goal, with no credit for bungles or intermediate surrenders.

That's why the Wright brothers are eternal wards of Fame—and Santos Dumont's name is forgotten.

Edison won't be remembered for experiments he didn't complete. His distinction is vested solely in the jobs he carried through.

The wizard of Menlo Park held the secret of artificial silk in his test-tubes, and let it slip through his fingers. Nobody, though, sees him snatching at a share of the profits from rayon or gloss.

Only delivery men are listed on the payrolls of success.

It isn't what you mean to do, but what you accomplish that decides your wage and place.

The folks who hire and fire you may not have intrinsically superior minds or capacities. Brains, organically, are pretty much alike.

But thoroughness and invincible determination are such unique qualities, that all the great things of earth are reserved for those who can elect a task and stay with it, until the last "i" and final "t" of achievement are doggedly dotted and crossed.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 7.—Wall street is the most highly sensitized area in the world. The slightest quiver is felt in San Francisco a second later, but despite the tension it has the precision of a splendidly geared watch. Even the skilled operators do not grasp its organized coherency.

The shrewdest of traders cannot explain the mysterious movements which result in such sudden turmoil as was revealed lately. Nor can they check them, as was evidenced by the experience of the deft manipulator, W. C. Durant, who once lost $92,000,000 in a day. Wisdom and blind stupidity often play equally important roles.

A silly rumor whispered in an uptown club has been known to prostrate the street 10 minutes later. The public which looks on from the side lines regards it all as a daily madness of human gazelles leaping about in meaningless confusion and apparently getting nowhere.

From time the exchange opens at 10 o'clock until the gong rings for closing, the trading floor shimmers in a wave of hysteria. Men run around in circles, often pulling their hair, screaming and laughing hysterically. And now and then one sneaks off to end it all.

Wall street is a daily example of how much strain the nervous system can stand. In time the great excitement seems a tonic instead of a toxic. Men will leave the floor in the afternoon with the cataphysical pallor of some malignancy, and return after a night's sleep as fresh as the proverbial daisy.

This may go on for years, and the only permanent physical effect seems to be what is known as "the trader's look." The lowliest clerk can spot the professional instantly. His features have been whetted to a cunning sharpness and his eyes have a feverish brightness. The street "got him."

A new pulpiteer has come to Wall Street since the passing of "The Bishop of Wall Street," a kindly man in clerical robes who mounted his portable rostrum daily to deliver a sermon to the luncheon crowds. His successor is a Negro who takes his stand across the from the Morgan Building and passes out the daily spiritual dole.

The Lambs—no one calls it the Lambs Club—is in its fifty-fourth year, and despite its pretentious quarters in Forty-fourth street may have a new clubhouse soon. The club was the outgrowth of a little supper party at downtown Delmonico's in 1874. It was so pleasant an organization was effected to perpetuate the idea. London had the original Lambs Club. The name, the legend goes, was bestowed by a congenial crowd of actors who after a pleasant dinner would say: "Let's go over to the Lambs!"—meaning the hospitable home of Charles and Mary Lamb.

New York's newest medical center, jutting skyward from the upper reaches of Riverside Drive, is the largest experiment of its kind the world has ever known. The massed group of towering skyscrapers stretches for many blocks and contains beds for 1,177 and was built at an expense of $25,000,000. It is the co-ordination of more than a dozen hospitals, thus permitting each to retain its individual identity. Over the entrance reads: "For the poor of New York, without regard to race, creed or color, and supported by voluntary contributions."

A feature of the Medical Center is the operating amphitheater, seating 149 spectators, each seat equipped with a telephone enabling the occupant—pardon the shudder—to listen to the heartbeat of the patient.

The latest in sophisticated magazines is The American Sketch, with Beverley Nichols, the young English stylist, as editor. Mr. Nichols has become one of the seasonable idols of the drawing room, suave, debonair and chock full of epigrams. In the brochure one notices New York has patented its own ennui. That many useless and adorable persons are suffering from acute crises de nerfs and that restaurant debutantes are yawning with a moue of discontent at larks' tongues in aspic. That gives you a rough idea of its heigh-ho-ing.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

HOW long is it since you have done anything in an original way?

Easier, less effort to follow the beaten path and do as others do.

You might be surprised by the satisfaction you would gain if you tried to think up some innovation upon your regular methods.

You would get more than a gleam of brightness that would well repay you for time and trouble digging up new ideas.

New problems to claim your attention, the solution of which would be gratifying to you.

But you feel your ideas are unimportant things.

You will have to do elementary things before you can hope to accomplish the more important ones.

So get in line for big things by using the little new ideas as fast as they come—while they are new.

It won't be long before they will be old.
